Bob's Friends for Governor.

BY PARKE BROWN.

Senator Robert M. La Follette and Gov. Len Small will be running mates in Illinois, although on nominally opposing tickets.

This became apparent yesterday as the result of moves made in Chicago and in the state capital.

In Chicago the La Follette campaign managers cleared the track for an indorsement of Small by practically deciding to nominate no one against him.

In Springfield John M. Walker, president of the Illinois State Federation of Labor, announced that the executive committee of his organization would indorse La Follette and Small both when it meets on Aug. 12.

Small and La Follette.

"There is not any doubt the committee will indorse La Follette and not much doubt that it will indorse Gov. Small for reëlection," said Walker, who as one of the leaders of the mine workers was one of the most zealous battlers for Small in the Republican primary.

At the close of an all day session of the state central committee of the "Illinois conference for progressive political action in Chicago," State Chairman Charles J. MacGowan announced that the only state office discussed at length was the United States senatorship. A [illegible] to go into the [illegible] at the next meeting.

In "Hands of His Friends."

But Mr. MacGowan said the question of candidates for "strictly state offices" such as governor had been left open and was in the hands of such "groups" as the joint labor legislative board, consisting of representatives of the state federation of labor, the miners and other organizations. It was this board which indorsed Gov. Small in the primary.

The state chairman said that the principal business of the session had been the financing of the campaign. The decision was for the concentration of all funds in the hands of the national finance committee headed by Attorney General Herman L. Ekern of Wisconsin. All of the funds raised in the state will be turned over to that committee, which from time to time will appropriate for the needs of the campaign in Illinois.

No Maximum Is Set.

The meeting authorized a letter to the heads of all the sixteen "groups" such as the railroad brotherhoods, the Socialists, the Farmer-Labor party, and the German-American unit, each of whom will have charge of the collections within their own organizations. The chairman was asked whether there had been any maximum set as the goal or any quotas established.

"None," he answered. "It will be a continuous drive for funds for the entire campaign. The basis will be contributions of one-half day's income.

"The slogan will be 'A half-day's income for Battling Bob,' and the plea will be to 'buy an interest in a crusade of righteousness.'"

Committee on Senator.

The subcommittee to which was referred the question whether the ticket shall include a candidate for United States senator and, if so, who that candidate shall be, consists of Dennis McCarthy, of the joint labor legislative board, Dan Levin, needle trades, Bjorn Johansen, agricultural group, James M. Cahill, Farmer-Labor, W. R. Snow, Socialist, Louis J. Link, German-American, and Mrs. Glenn Plumb, women's unit.

No Decision on Congress.

Chairman MacGowan also said there had been only "general discussion" of the question of candidates for congress. He said there had been favor expressed toward a policy of supporting "outstanding progressives" but that the matter had been left to him to work out with the national committee.

It was announced some time ago that national headquarters is working out a list of "approved" and "disapproved" members of congress and the chairman's statement was construed as meaning that the national committee's findings concerning Illinoisans in the lower house at Washington will be taken as final.

Formal announcement was issued yesterday that a vigorous campaign to get out the vote in the fall election is being planned by all the Kiwanis clubs in the country. The work will be upon a basis of nonpartisanship.

POLICE FORCE REORGANIZED TO FIGHT CRIME

Orders Out to Clean Up City.

Reorganization of the police department was affected last night "in the interests of crime suppression and better service to the public." Sixty-six lieutenants were transferred, most of them newly promoted.

The detective bureau loses some of its most efficient men, transferred upon their promotion so that their experience may be helpful to the outlying districts, the explanation was given. The city was divided into five districts, each district to be commanded at all hours of the day and night by a detective bureau lieutenant, who will report only to Capt. of Detectives William Schoemaker, now an acting deputy superintendent of police.

A new uniform is ordered for all lieutenants, one with more military appearance, lighter in weight than the present blouses, with three holders on the breast for pencils or pens. The order reads that even lieutenants at the detective bureau must wear uniforms.

Cleanup Orders Out.

The word went out that the new district commanders are to see to it that they "hit the joints and bring in all thieves, bootleggers, criminals of all kinds and undesirables."

A shakeup of the sergeants now at the detective bureau is in immediate prospect, it was stated, the purpose being to get the best available men for the zone squads which will hereafter be commanded by sergeants.

Besides greater efforts at ridding Chicago of crime, the new lieutenants were informed that courtesy to the public must be ever foremost in their minds. They, as well as the older lieutenants, are to be called into the chief's office Wednesday and at frequent intervals thereafter, to be given instructions in dealing with the public and in dealing with lawbreakers.

Service Men Complain.

Meanwhile there were murmurs in many police stations from sergeants not promoted, who claim that despite the fact they are ex-service men they did not receive credit for their military experience, which, under the law, they say they should have been given in the civil service markings. They charge they were given instructions about notification of their war service and that following the given instructions they now are made to appear to be the victims of their own negligence.

They will ask the American Legion to take the matter up with Mayor Dever, they said.

Lieutenants on List.

The lieutenants who will have authority superseding even that of the district captains and the districts where they will hold sway, as well as their shifts, follow:

Division 1, comprising the following police territories: Central, South Clark street, Cottage Grove, Stanton avenue, Wabash avenue, Hyde Park, Woodlawn, and Grand Crossing—Lieut. John Egan, days; John J. Farrell, middle watch; William O'Connor (now acting chief of detectives), last watch.

Division 2, comprising Burnside, Kensington, Gresham, Englewood, Stock Yards, Deering street, New City, and Brighton Park—Lieut. Joseph Berounsky, days; William Collins, middle; Thomas Mangan, last.

Division 3, comprising Maxwell, Marquette, Lawndale, Des Plaines, Warren avenue, and Fillmore—Lieut. Philip Carroll, days; John Norton, middle; John Ryan, last.

Division 4, comprising West Chicago, West North avenue, Austin, Shakespeare Cragin and Irving Park—Lieut. George De Mar, days; Christ Hughes, middle; Hugh McCarthy, last.

Division 5, comprising East Chicago avenue, Hudson avenue, Sheffield avenue, Town Hall, North Robey street, Summerdale, and Rogers Park—Lieut. Joseph McGuire, days; Charles Egan, middle; John McGinnis, last.

Bureau Commanders Named.

The station commanders at the detective bureau will be Lieuts. Charles Gratton, Charles Mueller and Dennis Carroll. Lieuts. Edward Coggin (formerly head of the pawnshop division), James Flynn and Maurice Wall will do desk duty at the bureau.

Four of the state's attorney's best men are taken from him by their promotion. They are Lieuts. Edward J. Kelly, assigned to the East Chicago avenue station; Philip Parodi, assigned to North Robey street, William L. Bush, assigned to South Clark street, and Julian Bernacchi, assigned to Lawndale.

Oust Agent in Dry Raid on Taft's Kin

New York, Aug. 4.—Robert J. Owens, federal prohibition agent, who led a raid last Friday on the home of Hugo Gilbert de Fritsch, whose wife is a relative by marriage of Chief Justice Taft, was dismissed from service by an order issued from Washington tonight.

Owens' dismissal followed soon after the stock of pre-prohibition liquor seized in the raid was returned to the house.

Owens Misrepresented Facts.

The action against Owens was taken on the ground that Owens misrepresented the facts when he had obtained a warrant to search the De Fritsch residence.

It was also reported from Washington that the dismissed agent might be charged with perjury because of failure to inform the United States commissioner, who issued the warrant, that the raided premises were a private residence and because of his assertion that liquor was sold there.

Liquor Was Pre-prohibition.

The decision to return the seized liquor came after a conference between Divisional Prohibition Chief Merrick and Mr. Hayward. Merrick said he had found that, just as Mr. de Fritsch had represented, the liquors were "pre-prohibition in the strictest sense of the word."

The confiscated beverages were carted to the De Fritsch home, in an exclusive section of the city, by the agents in a big transfer van. While superintending the men carrying the liquor into the house, one of them remarked that they had mistaken the residence for "a swell speak-easy."

Gropes for Matches in Dark; Falls to Death

Leo J. Clifford, 43 years old, fell from a second story window at the home of his sister, Mrs. Joseph Callinan, 428 E. 55th street, early this morning and was killed. She said the lights were out of order and he was hunting matches in the dark when he plunged through an open window.

Scores of Persons Hurt as Klan and Foes Fight

Niles, O., Aug. 4.—Scores of persons are believed to have been bruised and beaten in a pitched battle in the street late tonight between about 750 men, said to be members of the Knights of the Flaming Circle, an anti-klan order, and some 500 klansmen.

GIRL, ATTACKED BY MAD DOG, IS SAVED BY PET

An Airedale saved the life of 15 year old Mildred Malcolm, a high school girl, in Joliet yesterday when a pet collie went mad, attacked her and tore her clothing from her.

The collie jumped for the girl's throat, but she threw up her arm in time and the animal sank its fangs into her wrist. He leaped a second time and was ripping her clothing when "Laddie," the Airedale, grabbed the other dog by the throat and bore him to the ground.

KILLS SELF BY LETTING 'L' CAR CUT OFF HEAD

Eric Wallime, 34 years old, 4539 North Albany avenue, committed suicide last night by laying his neck on the elevated railroad track at the North Albany avenue crossing just as a Ravenswood train was about to speed past. He was identified by Policeman George Violet of the Irving Park station, who found him acting peculiarly a week ago and took him home.

The tracks run along the ground at this point. Three pedestrians who were waiting for the guard gates to be raised informed the police that Wallime brushed past them and threw himself on the rail.

Rob "Bookie" in Car Used By Slayers

Harry Meehan, a handbook operator, was trailed from the Hawthorne race track to his soft drink parlor at 3511 Ogden avenue yesterday afternoon by five gunmen, who robbed him of $5,000 in cash and $5,000 in checks—all money placed with him by bettors at the track.

The car used by the bandits—a maroon colored Marmon with yellow wire wheels—was the same one used by the slayer of Frank H. Zahour, a cripple, in "Mike" Crowe's gambling house at 4866 Broadway on July 19. And descriptions of two of the quintet, as given by Meehan, tally in detail with those of the men who killed Zahour.

Demand "Dough from the Track."

The car drove up a few minutes after Meehan and his companions got back from the track. One man remained at the wheel, with engine running, while the others entered.

"Business has been pretty slow here," Meehan replied. "I don't think you'll find much in the register."

"Aw, can that stuff," the bandit shot back. "We're not after the register. We want the dough you brought back from the track."

He searched Meehan and took the money and checks from his pockets. His companions searched three other men who are said to work for Meehan at the track.

From Arthur Boyd, 3509 Ogden avenue, they took $150; from Hert Shane, 6054 South Marshfield avenue, $50, and from George Cramer 1009 South Keeler avenue, $28.

Can Identify Them.

"I'm sure I'd be able to identify the four who came into the place," Meehan told Lieut. Joseph Goldberg of the Lawndale station, "because I looked them over closely."

Meehan denied he conducted a handbook business in his soft drink parlor. He said he made all his bets at the track and usually paid off during the day following. He said he made one bet of $3,000 with a group of gamblers yesterday. Most of the checks had been given him by men he knew, he said, but he could recall the name of only one who had given him a check for $1,000, and payment on this will be stopped at the bank this morning.

Meehan told the police there were about ten other men in the place, but the bandits made no attempt to rob them.

Arrest Fifty Mexicans in Evans Murder

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—President Obregon of Mexico has personally ordered the civil and military authorities of the state of Puebla to investigate the slaying of Mrs. Rosalie Evans, British subject, who was shot to death from ambush near Texmelucan on Saturday night.

Instructions for a minute inquiry have also gone forward from the departments of foreign relations and of the interior, while British Vice Consul W. S. Hardaker of Puebla is reporting directly to Consul General Morgan King in Mexico City and United States Consular Agent William O. Jenkins at Puebla is collecting information for the American embassy.

Obregon Expresses Chagrin.

"The Mexican government has well founded hopes that the assassins of Mrs. Evans will be captured and receive merited punishment," President Obregon asserted this evening. "It has been a cause of deep grief for me, especially since the victim was a woman.

"The energy with which the federal and Puebla state authorities are pushing the inquiry for the purpose of arriving at the truth furnishes proof of our regret over the tragedy. I have received no new facts concerning Mrs. Evans' death and the robbery beyond those already known to the public."

Advices from Puebla say that more than fifty arrests have been made. Among those taken are said to be several who are charged with having made threats against Mrs. Evans' life.

Troops Push Search.

A detachment of federal troops and mounted police from Pueblo were sent out to scour the territory in the vicinity of the Evans hacienda, San Pedro Coxtocan, for the band which slew Mrs. Evans and seriously wounded her farm manager, John Strauss.

The body of Mrs. Evans was on its way today to Mexico City for burial beside that of Mr. Evans in the British cemetery there.

Pending the complete reports from the military commander of the State of Puebla, Gen. Roberto Cruz, and the attorney general of the state, the department of foreign relations today delayed making an official statement.

Insist Robbery Was Motive.

Official comments, however, indicate that the government inclines to the belief that the attack was simply for the purpose of robbing the pay roll which Mrs. Evans and Mr. Strauss carried. It is not believed that the crime was the result of agrarian agitation to force Mrs. Evans to consent to the division of her hacienda. The rumor that agrarian followers of former Deputy Manuel Montes are responsible for the crime is considered a pure supposition.

Luciano Rodriguez, a Spanish merchant of Texmelucan, who brought Mrs. Evans' body to Texmelucan from the hamlet of Polaxtla, near the hacienda where she was ambushed, drove his automobile across the country to Mexico City to inform the British and United States diplomatic officials of the crime.

American Charge Schoenfeld, unable to act until he had received instructions from Washington, declined to send a representative to Texmelucan to bring Mrs. Evans' body to Mexico City, but he immediately ordered an inquiry by Consular Agent Jenkins and personally inquired of Gen. Aaron Saenz, minister of foreign relations, concerning the facts.

Cables Direct to London.

In addition to arranging for the burial of Mrs. Evans, British Consul King ordered an inquiry made by British Vice Consul Hardaker and cabled direct all the available facts to the London foreign office.

With the death of Mrs. Evans her estate passes to her brothers and sisters, all of whom are American citizens, while the dispute over the land division under the agrarian legisla-

BOTH YOUTHS MENTALLY 'OFF,' ALIENIST SAYS

Dr. Healy Tells of His Tests.

BY GENEVIEVE FORBES.

When Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb, some four years ago, formed their close association for the purpose of cheating at bridge and of entering into a "childishly absurd" compact of biological significance, they took their first step, inevitably, toward murder, Dr. William Healy, Boston psychiatrist, yesterday explained as he was called to the stand before Chief Justice R. Caverly, by Clarence Darrow, chief defense counsel for Leopold and Loeb.

And the end-result, written in the scientific laboratory as well as on the police blotter, was the kidnaping and murder of 14 year old Robert Franks, on the 21st of last May.

Their Strange Association.

But the psychological emphasis, according to Dr. Healy, is that the crime is a remarkable example of a "most strange and pathological relationship."

In other words, the two university graduates who sit and hear the alienists dissect them, share the murder indictment probably because for four years they shared their innermost thoughts in an abnormal, supplementary way.

"Their association," Dr. Healy [illegible] of age. They just barely knew each other earlier; but that is the time they first came together. It is very clear from the study of the boys separately that each came with peculiarities in their mental life.

"Each arrived at these peculiarities by different routes. Each supplemented the other's already constituted abnormal needs in a most unique way."

The Alienist's Conclusion.

Then, more definitely, the doctor enunciated what may be the principal line of his fight to prove the boys mentally diseased. It is this:

"Judged by their conversation and by their correspondence, by their compact, their quarrels, their deeds, all tend to show a most strange and pathological relationship."

Dr. Healy called it by no more explicit a term. But Dr. Bernard Glueck, New York psychiatrist, who is slated to follow the Boston alienist, late this afternoon, will probably definitely classify the "pathological relationship" into some modulation of "folie a deux," which is a mental irresponsibility of two, and it makes the two mutually responsible for that irresponsibility.

Hearing in Chambers.

The pivotal point of the boys' association, Dr. Healy explained in testimony heard only in chambers, was the formation of "an incredibly childish compact" which had a two fold result.

By the terms of this agreement Richard Loeb was enabled, the alienist maintains, to have power over an associate who would carry out his [Loeb's] criminalistic imaginings and conscious ideas. And, by the same arrangement, Leopold won a personal premium on every criminal act he did for and with Richard Loeb.

After reading the terms of that compact into the record, for the judge's ear alone, Dr. Healy, on the stand, linked it up, rather definitely, with the curious dovetailing of the two personalities.

Takes Up Leopold.

Then he took up a separate consideration of the boys. He finished his analysis of Leopold; and had almost finished with his picture of Loeb when court adjourned for the day. This morning the alienist will etch in the final lines in Richard's picture; will discuss them as a unit, probably. And then State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe will start to cross-examine.

After the manner of a pedagogue who verifies every statement with page and verse, the tall, thin, sandy haired expert with the quiet voice of authority fished through a clutter of important papers yesterday to read off tests that, if given in your drawing room, may make you a superman and your guests virtual imbeciles, or, perhaps the other way around.

In Simplified Terms.

Everybody listened.

One moment it was like an old fashioned charade: the kind they play at church sociables. The next it was as academic as a graduate course in psychology.

But everybody listened.

And more than a few of us were thankful when State's Attorney Crowe said "That's all like Greek to me." And the obliging professor of psychiatry began at the beginning, stripped away the bewildering terms, and pulled mental processes out of the realm of the psychic and held them up before the courtroom, so that everybody could understand.

Dr. Healy, accustomed, perhaps, to packing a classroom lecture in an hour and finishing before the bell for the next class rang, explained, almost apologetically, that it might take a long time to tell about the tests and the answers.

Judge Caverly cleared that up when he remarked, significantly: "The court doesn't care how long it takes, so long as the adequate material is presented."

And the witness, digging deep in his folio, began to present the adequate material.

Some of the Tests.

For instance, there was the Monroe silent reading test. The stunt is to read, quickly and silently, a passage, digest it en route, and jump immediately to a question, based on that passage, and answer it correctly. The first passage was all about China and traditions and the like. The question was, "Is China's civilization ancient or modern?"

And Nathan Leopold, in writing down "ancient," had done only what was expected of him.

A few more examples from this sheet, then the summary. Leopold had made a perfect score in three minutes and fifteen seconds, as against the five minutes allowed.

Then the Kelly-Trabue word completion test.

"DID VERY WELL"

On this entire test he did "extremely well," his examiner reported.

In baffling sequence came the "equivalent Proverbs test," where Nathan had a perfect score; the "syllogism test," which he had done "correctly but slowly"; and the "motor control test," in which he had tapped 106 squares, under complicated directions, without making an error.

The Rosback mentality test for superior adults was a challenge, of course, to the courtroom. But the doctor did not go into detail. Leopold, he said, had done it correctly and speedily. And the men and women, sitting there near the two boys, had no chance to compete with them; for instance, in this:

Cracks on Judgment Test.

The next, the judgment test, was more or less of a Waterloo to Leopold, Dr. Healy's findings indicated. It beat the fifteen minute average time down to seven minutes, but he made three or four mistakes in the thirty problems.

The mental hazard, briefly, was to read one of the thirty sentences and check it with S, if striking; a C, if commonplace; a J, if a joke; an A, if absurd, and a T, if tautological, which, as the courtroom fans whispered, is just a "stylish name for repetition."

Here's one of the thirty:

"Make the necessities of life too expensive for the poor to reach them, and they will save money, so that in time, provided this practice is rigorously carried out, there will be no paupers."

The doctor was noncommittal. He merely said Nathan had checked it correctly. And he had done a cryptogram test in five minutes, whereas the men who made up the tests allowed the average individual fifteen minutes.

The Problem Test.

Then there was the problem test: Consider the problems in thinking outlined and write the answers. Twenty-five minutes was allowed; but Nathan Leopold, the data show, had so much to say that it took him thirty-three minutes to write it out.

Here's one of the problems:

"If two negatives make an affirmative, why not say two wrongs make a right?"

After explaining the truth of the first part of the statement, Leopold wrote, according to Dr. Healy, the following explanation:

"But this cannot be carried to the sense of right and wrong. A wrong may be called a negative right. The addition of another wrong does not act to negate or deny the first, but creates a new negative right and cannot be applied to the first situation."

Interprets the Results.

Then lest the unofficial listeners in the courtroom forget, in their interest in mental stunts, that this was a trial for a man's life, Dr. Healy concluded his test results and began to interpret those results.

A super-intellect, obviously, with abundant energy, and a "pressure to mental activity," but self-centered and egoistic beyond any normal. Those were some of the characteristics the doctor outlined.

"He's right, the world's wrong," Dr. Healy thus analyzed Leopold's attitude.

"And his father tells me that for years he has argued with his father about the nonsense of conscience and of ethical ideas."

From a discussion of the plus intellect, already referred to by Dr. William A. White, first defense witness, Dr. Healy went on with a consideration of what he describes as a minus emotional activity.

"I marvel," the witness said with some feeling, "at his lack of disgust with jail conditions."

HAD NO QUALMS

Then, a few direct quotes which the university student who pleaded guilty to murder is said to have said to the psychiatrist who yesterday impaled his mind before a courtroom, even as he has impaled a bug on a pin.

"I have reveled in the fact that I have no qualms of conscience.

"I was trying to break down any feelings that I had for my family."

And then, the supreme quote:

"Making up my mind to commit murder was practically like making up my mind whether or not I'd eat pie for supper. The question was, 'Will it give me pleasure?'"

As a commentary on those sentences Dr. Healy said: "He considered himself a completely intelligent individual who might experiment with ideas of right and wrong and conscience and God."

Then, the alienist's judgment on the youth to whom he ascribes lack of judgment:

"There seems to be a profound disorder of judgment as shown in the contradiction of ideas and impulses. With all his self love there was no normal self regard. A real superiority of normal judgment would not have taken such extraordinary chances of ending his career.

Dr. Healy's Summary.

Then, in precise phrases that weren't so precise they bewildered the layman, Dr. Healy summed up his estimate of the young murderer who sat, still consistent, showing no sign that he was disturbed by the oral analysis.

The burden of Dr. Healy's summary was this:

On account of chronic delusions about himself as a superman;

On account of his subordinated emotional life so that it is pathologically out of tune with his intellectual life;

On account of his deteriorated judgment, which prevents him from seeing the absurdity of mixing the phantasy and the real life;

On account of his abnormal urge toward mental activity and his diminished sense of fatigue;

On account of his disintegrated personality, which permits him to enter into the "thoroughly childish and absurd" compact which endangers him;

On account of all this, he is thoroughly unbalanced, or to use another term, mentally diseased.

"IS HE INSANE?"

"He is insane?"

"I don't think anything about it," the witness was very definite.

MR. CROWE—"He is not insane. He is sane?"

DR. HEALY—"I didn't use the word sane or insane. I have not thought about the matter."

And the witness is equally definite that a psychiatrist, given to the study of mental diseases, is not familiar with nor interested in, the legal mould known as "insanity."

"Paranoid Personality."

After this point is cleared up, the doctor adds that Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., has a paranoid personality. Then he explains, in these words:

"The crime is possible only because Leopold had these abnormal mental trends with the typical feelings and ideas of a paranoid personality. He needed these feelings and ideas supplemented by what Loeb could give him. There is no reason why he should not commit the crime, with his diseased notions. Anything he wanted to do was right, even kidnaping and murder."

Then, more significantly, with regard to the association of the two boys:

"There is nothing in the feelings of sympathy which should restrain him. Because of his disintegrated personality there was no place for sympathy and feeling to play any normal part.

"In other words, he had an established personality before he met Loeb, but probably his activities would have taken other directions except for this chance association."

Could Murder Lawyer.

Then, as in the case of Leopold, the doctor points out the deficient emotional reactions, saying of Loeb:

"He seems incapable of viewing his criminal acts with anything like a natural feeling." He backs up this contention with Loeb's refrain of life:

"I never had remorse enough to make me want not to do it."

And the other one:

"There is nothing inside of me to make me stop."

With chilly directness, Dr. Healy told how he had asked Richard Loeb if he would murder his lawyer, Walter Bachrach.

And the answer, according to Dr. Healy, had been:

"If there was any enjoyment in planning it, and any enjoyment in the publicity of it, I believe I could do it."

Half the people, just then, looked over at Richard Loeb. The other half looked at Walter Bachrach. Mr. Loeb and Mr. Bachrach did not look at each other.

Just before the court adjourned the alienist described Richard's "dual personality" this wise:

"He is charming, very friendly, well mannered, but because of his dual personality he is an extensive liar; he is unscrupulous, unfair, ungrateful and disloyal in many social relationships."

And the trial was over for the day.

ALIENIST HEALY GIVES ANALYSIS OF TWO SLAYERS

Boston Man's Testimony Shown in Q. and A.

A second page on the defense side of the ledger was filled in in scientific characters yesterday as Nathan F. Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb sat through their eleventh day in the courtroom of Judge John R. Caverly.

A pleasantly academic physician from Boston was the clerk. The pleasantly popular entry which he wrote into the account book, which some day soon Judge Caverly must balance, was one which explained and excused and which answered—as modern psychiatrists answer such questions these days—the daily enigma presented by two sleek haired young men who seem to be bothered not at all by the murder of Robert Franks.

On the state's side of the ledger some eighty-one witnesses spread the details of the crime in red letters. On the opposite side Dr. William A. White of Washington, D. C., wrote a description of "Babe" and "Dickie," emotional infants.

Dr. Healy's Version.

Dr. William Healy, head of the Judge Baker foundation of Boston, followed Dr. White yesterday. It was he who wrote out the second of those pages on whose total weight Attorneys Clarence Darrow and Benjamin and Walter Bachrach depend to more than balance the eighty-one pages of State's Attorney Crowe.

As he wrote he touched in still another pair of pictures of the two slayers.

He took first the portrait of Nathan Leopold Jr.

Attorney Darrow was acting the part of the skillful questioner by leaning against the bar or sitting in his chair saying, for the most part, nothing at all. In fact, it was State's Attorney Crowe, interrupting the witness, who brought out the finishing touches to the picture.

Basis of His Findings.

MR. CROWE—What are the various things that caused you to think he was eccentric and egotistic?

"I am going to give those now," Dr. Healy replied. "On account of his abnormal fantasy life developed as abnormal material in childhood and continued in abnormal ways during an abnormal extension of years.

"On account of his chronically developed delusional notions about himself, particularly as being a superman.

"On account of his subordinated emotional life to the extent that it is now pathologically out of accord with his intellectual life.

"On account of his defective or deteriorated judgment, which has not permitted him to see the pathological absurdity of mixing fantasy and real life and the effect of displacing emotional life.

"On account of his abnormal urge toward mental activity and his diminished sense of fatigue.

"On account of his disintegrated personality, so that he fails to really care for his much beloved ego and enters into a thoroughly childish and absurd compact which endangers him.

"On account of all this, in my opinion, he is thoroughly unbalanced in his mental life, or, to use another term, mentally diseased."

DOESN'T USE "INSANE"

The picture—but Mr. Crowe was not done. He seized the words.

MR. CROWE—You think he is insane, then?

THE WITNESS—I don't think anything about it.

MR. CROWE—He is sane?

THE WITNESS—I didn't use the word "sane" or "insane." I have not thought about that matter.

MR. CROWE—Go ahead.

THE WITNESS—He has a paranoid personality. His conversational powers and his scholastic ability led him to be unrecognized. His maniacal tendency, his overexcitedness and overenergy have been interpreted as evidence of cleverness, and it is typical of such cases that they remain frequently in the world unrecognised.

Explains the Crime.

MR. DARROW—To what extent were those responsible for this crime? A.—To my mind this crime is the result of diseased motivation—that is, its planning and commission. It was possible only because Leopold had these abnormal mental trends with the typical feelings and ideas of a paranoic personality. He needed these feelings and ideas supplemented by what Loeb could give him. There is no reason why he should not commit the crime with his diseased notion. Anything he wanted to do was right, even kidnaping and murder. There is nothing in the feelings of sympathy which would prevent him, because of his disintegrated personality. There was no place for sympathy and feeling to play any normal part. In other words, he had an established pathological personality before he met Loeb, but probably his activities would have taken other directions except for this chance association.

"He also appears to have been strong in an emergency, as on one occasion where he went out into rough water at Charlevoix and brought back some members of his family.

"He is very friendly, pleasant, well mannered; a very charming boy, having many nice qualities on one side, and yet on the other hand, having carried out for many years a dual personality, having been an extensive liar and a most unscrupulous individual, in a manner and to an extent that is quite beyond any in my experience. A curious desire of sympathy in pathological ways. A desire to get along socially, contrasted with the fact that he is most remarkably unscrupulous, untruthful, unfair, ungrateful, and disloyal in many social relationships, disloyal even to his comrade when he cheated him, in buying liquor, and to his fraternity when he robbed them.

"He expresses, on the other hand, some loyalties to family life in certain ways, and he has some well expressed and very decent ideas about girls.

"All of that, of course, shows a disparity and a contradiction that to my thinking is certainly abnormal. The ability to carry on for many years, as a child, this tremendously contradictory dual life is certainly pathological."

DR. HEALY'S RECORD

Dr. Healy began the practice of his profession in Chicago after graduation from Harvard university and Rush Medical college. From 1909 to 1917 he was head of the psychiatric laboratory of the juvenile court in Chicago. He then became director of the Judge Baker foundation in Boston, dealing particularly with the juvenile court.

His work has been largely with adolescents. Attorney Darrow asked specifically about that period of life in boys:

Q.—How is that age as being a critical time with boys. A.—It is an exceedingly critical time on account of the many new impulses that come to the individual through his physical life and mental life.

Many Days With Boys.

Q.—How much time did you spend with the boys? A.—I began on July 4th and I have seen them a considerable number of times since. The last time I saw them was on July 27, that is, in the jail. I have seen them the equivalent, certainly, of a number of whole days.

Q.—What study did you make of them? A.—The giving of special mental tests; observation of their personality; observation of their emotional life; studies of their correspondence and the correspondence of others to them; interviews with a number of other people concerning their experience, their home life, and concerning the peculiarities of their associations.

THE COURT—Doctor, start in at the beginning of the examination of these boys and tell us what you did, what conclusions you arrived at, and how you came to arrive at those conclusions.

THE WITNESS—Their association began at 15 years of age. It is very clear that each came with peculiarities in their mental life; each arrived at these peculiarities by different routes; each supplemented the other's already constituted abnormal needs in a most unique way. In regard to the association, I think that I ought to say that the crime in its commission and in its background has features that are quite beyond anything in my experience or knowledge of the literature. There seems to have been so little normal motivation, the matter was so long planned, so unfeelingly carried out, that it represents nothing that I have ever seen or heard of before. As judged by their conversation and by their correspondence, their compacts, their quarrels, their deeds, all tend to show a most strange and pathological relationship.

Too Much Like Speech.

THE COURT—Go right on and tell us.

MR. CROWE—I am objecting to this in that this is apparently a speech. I think he ought to testify like the ordinary witness does, your honor.

THE COURT—Instead of saying "The boys said," state what each one said, doctor. Tell us as near as you can what Loeb said and what Leopold said about the crime, and then you can give your conclusion later.

THE WITNESS—Both Leopold and Loeb told me that drinking was considerable of a bond between them. The criminalistic activities of Loeb previously, according to his own account, began with his stealing in the neighborhood. In the matter of the association I have the boys' story, told separately, about an incredibly absurd childish compact that bound them, which bears out in Leopold's case particularly the thread and idea of his phantasy life. Loeb says the association gave him the opportunity of getting some one to carry out his criminalistic imaginings and conscious ideas. In the case of Leopold, the direct cause of his entering into criminalistic acts was this particularly childish compact.

Compact Told in Secret.

MR. CROWE—Kindly tell us what that compact was. A.—I am perfectly willing to tell it in chambers, but it is not a matter that I think should be told here.

The compact, which dealt with abnormal sex matters, was read to the court reporters in a low voice by Dr. Healy, with attorneys, prosecutors, and the judge gathered round.

DR. HEALY—One sees Leopold exhibiting pretty definite signs of nervous instability, frequently shows a greatly exaggerated use of the muscles of the face, exhibiting many nervous gestures, ready flushings, and pallor. I also see signs in him of great nervous energy, and evidences of some pathology of the glands of internal secretion, probably of the sympathetic nervous system. Concerning Leopold's mentality I find conclusive evidences, by a giving of a considerable number of mental tests, that he possesses very high intelligence.

THE MENTAL TESTS

Then Dr. Healy told of the mental tests he had given Leopold in which Leopold showed every indication of a remarkable intellect. One incident Dr. Healy mentioned in connection with the association word test, in which words are read, the subject answering as quickly as possible with the first word coming to his mind in association with the word read by the examiner.

DR. HEALY—During the course of this test I was very much struck by the fact that while he was so exceedingly rapid in his general reactions, when I said the word "trouble" he did not answer for six seconds, and then said the word "plus." The next word that came along was "soldier," which he responded to by the word "general" in 2 4-5 seconds, and I asked him then what the trouble was and he said, "I am all upset now," which I think is the first evidence I have seen of his having any emotion under the surface at all or anywhere.

Has Great Memory.

"Leopold has developed logical methods of so-called pneumonic devices, memory devices by which he can remember things in most remarkable fashion," Dr. Healy went on. "You can make out a list of twenty words and he will read them over and then he can tell the order of those words, or if you tell him any one of the words he can tell which word came after it and which word came before it, and so on.

"Now, concerning his personality, one finds him extremely energetic, both physically and mentally. He does not want to stop after a half day of those arduous tests. It seems there is a great deal of what psychiatrists call pressure to mental activity, very little fatigue, and great desire to go on elaborating his thoughts.

"He showed himself to be self-centered and egotistic beyond any normal limit.

Critical of Others.

"He is extremely critical of other people and decidedly supercilious about his own mental attainments. Very stubborn in his opinions. He is right; the world is wrong.

"Leopold has extremely little sympathy or feelings, or conceptions of gratitude except in some very narrow fields.

"There has been a tremendous subordination of many normal feelings and emotions to this excessively developed conception of himself as a superior individual; and he has reacted in a most abnormal way in regard to the whole crime.

"Leopold shows little disgust at jail surroundings. His main concern seems to be whether or not the reporters say the right thing about him.

"There seems to be some steady impairment of his own judgment considering himself and his relationship to the realities of life, inasmuch as he has been so willing to throw away his remarkably fine chances in his environment for such petty awards in relation to a most heinous crime.

"An individual with normal judgment would have naturally developed his real superiority and not taken such extraordinary chances of ending his career.

"He says that there is one thing that he is afraid that he has not 'gotten across to us scientists,' and that is that the most important thing, much more important even than preserving his life, is the preservation of his dignity."

King Phantasy Again.

A description of Leopold's phantasy of the king and the slave followed. Dr. Healy told how Leopold had identified himself with his "king," Loeb, and the physician produced a note Leopold had given him in court while Dr. White was telling of this identification. "See poem I quoted you," the note read, and contained a line of poetry.

DR. HEALY—This is what he wrote and passed to me:

"Let me dream once that dear delusion that I am you,
O heart's desire!"

That line comes in this stanza. This is what he quoted with a good deal of apparent feeling to me:

"Long past the pulse and pain of passion;
Long left the limit of all love;
I crave some nearer, fuller fashion,
Some unknown way, beyond, above;
Some infinitely inner fashion,
As wave with water, flame with fire.
Let me dream once that dear delusion
That I am you, O heart's desire."

MR. CROWE—Q. Who is the poet that wrote that? A.—Lawrence Hope, he tells me. In his fantasy there was a ready change about of himself with Loeb.

After the noon recess, Dr. Healy again took up his analysis of Leopold:

"It appears to me to reflect a profound disorder of judgment, this contradictory existence of impulses and ideas which were living side by side. It indicates a spontaneously abnormal rift of tremendous contradiction between his intellectual precocity and his judgment and his emotional condition. There was no normal and consistent personality developed.

"Leopold very early thought of himself as possibly a completely intelligent individual who might experiment with ideas of right and wrong and conscience and God."

ANALYSIS OF LOEB

MR. DARROW—Turn to Richard Loeb and state what you found with reference to him.

"Richard Loeb," Dr. Healy said, "is a well built, active fellow, apparently calm and pleasant in his demeanor. He does show signs of some nervous disturbance in the muscular twitchings of his face and in the asymmetrical use of his mouth, which is very pronounced, one side frequently being drawn up in peculiar fashion.

"I found him to be a fellow of certainly not more than average intelligence, which, of course, one is tremendously surprised at, on account of his remarkably precocious record, having entered college at 14 years and 3 months, and graduated when he was 18. His language ability is not good; he does not express himself well. He has been regarded as very much of a kid in practical judgment.

Could Fool Police.

"There grew up in him the idea of being such a clever criminal that he could plan a crime and escape detection from the cleverest of detectives, and he tells us that he was long working at the idea of a great crime, which would stir all the country and never be solved."

Dr. Healy related the story of Loeb's teddy bear, which Dr. White mentioned. It gave State's Attorney Crowe opportunity for a sarcastic dig or two. Dr. Healy said:

"I would also speak of this formula of the teddy bear affair—it is ridiculous to bring in such a matter except the fact that this boy in jail says, "I caught myself last night saying 'You know Teddy'." That is the formula by which he would introduce to himself this fantasy life. He could go ahead and make it any old thing provided he began with that formula, which he had from early boyhood days.

"This illustrates how much of a child he really is still, although he is capable of such tremendously hard and vicious behavior.

"Loeb has indulged in a great deal of stealing. I saw quite a batch of pocketbooks the other day among his letters. The gray trousers he has on in jail here he tells me were taken from the country club."

The courtroom laughed at this, but Loeb did not seem to enjoy the reference.

No Disgust or Remorse.

The witness, continuing, said:

"There is absence all along of normal remorse, revulsion, disgust, depression, fear, or even apprehension in planning, discussing or carrying out the [illegible] some details. I said to him, 'Would you murder Walter Bachrach here?' He replied: 'Well, if there was anything in it, such as enjoyment in the planning, enjoyment of the publicity,' he thought he might be able to do it, because there was nothing in him to prevent it. There is nothing that Loeb spoke of with any more confidence than the fact that he found nothing in his own nature that would prevent his doing such things again.

"He seems incapable of viewing his criminal acts with anything like a natural feeling.

"His notorious unfeeling behavior that we see here in the court room or in the jail seems to be ample illustration of the depth of his emotional displacement or defect."

Court then adjourned until this morning at 10:30 o'clock.

HOTEL TO LOOM ON CITY PLAN SITE FOR P. O.

To Connect Union and N. W. Stations.

BY AL CHASE.

Another possible obstruction to the erection of a new Chicago postoffice, proposed by the Chicago Plan commission for the two blocks between the Union and Northwestern stations, bobbed up yesterday in the shape of an $8,000,000 twenty-one story hotel, announced for the northwest corner of Canal and Monroe streets.

Eitel brothers, owners of the Bismarck hotel and Marigold garden, informed THE TRIBUNE that they have had plans drawn by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White and that the project is just about financed.

Would Connect Stations.

It is to be called "The Transcontinental" and gets its name from the proposed elaborate system of subways linking it with the Union and Northwestern stations. Transcontinental passengers from the east, for example, would be able to walk underground to the hotel from their train in the Union station. They could spend the night at the hotel and stroll underneath Chicago the next day to the Northwestern station and hop a coast flyer—all without having been outdoors.

Officials of the Northwestern and the four roads entering the Union station are said to favor the subway plan, as it would mean a physical connection between the two big terminals which might be enlarged for baggage transfer as well as foot use. The underground thoroughfare would be lined with elaborate shops most of the way, according to tentative plans.

Eitels Would Give Way.

"We went ahead with our plans," said Robert Eitel, "because we were told the government probably never would do anything about a postoffice in these blocks. We're perfectly willing to shelve the whole project if Uncle Sam tells us he's really going ahead—but we can't afford to wait several years. No doubt that's the best site in Chicago for a postoffice."

Mayor Dever announced last night that he probably would name a citizens' commission, made up of prominent Chicagoans, to make a trip to Washington and see if it is possible to start action toward acquiring the west side postoffice site before it's too late.

Officials Want Postoffice.

Washington, D.C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Recommendations for the acquisition of a site and the construction of a west side postoffice in Chicago at a cost of $10,000,000 were made in a report submitted to congress jointly by former Postmaster General Hubert Work, now secretary of the interior, and by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon in February, 1923. Amounts previously authorized for the acquisition of a site in 1908 and 1911 were to be made available under the proposal toward the total limit of cost.

Many Projects Sidetracked.

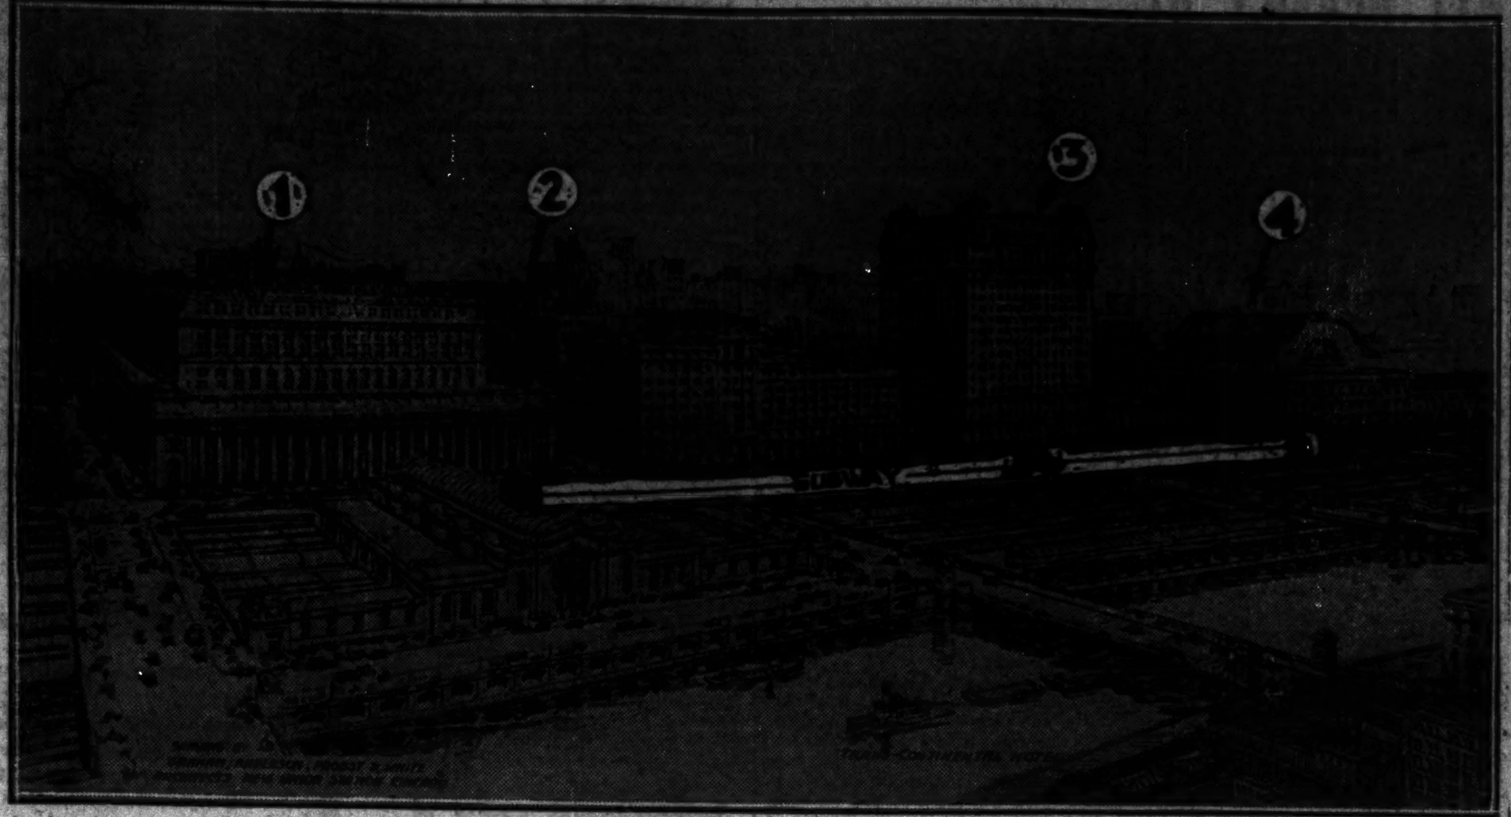
Congress failed to act either on the recommendations affecting Chicago or on other recommendations involving other cities. Opposition to any public buildings appropriations at the recent session caused the sidetracking of all the postoffice building projects, although there was favorable sentiment among many members of congress.

Postmaster General New and Secretary Mellon are expected to renew their recommendations at the first opportunity, and Chicago members of congress have indicated their intention to urge action at next winter's session.

Actual construction of new postoffices is under the direction of the secretary of the treasury. Acting Secretary of the Treasury Garrard Winston, who is a Chicagoan and familiar with that city's needs, said today that nothing in connection with the Chicago postoffice situation had come to his attention recently and that in the absence of a congressional authorization his department had no authority.

First Assistant Postmaster General John H. Bartlett, who has jurisdiction over quarters for postoffices, said that Chicago undoubtedly needs a new postoffice, but that he hoped congress would enact at an early date a bill making appropriations for new buildings in a number of cities.

PROPOSED $8,000,000 HOTEL AND SUBWAY BETWEEN STATIONS



This shows the projected $8,000,000 Hotel Transcontinental, which would be connected by a subway with the Union terminal and the Northwestern railroad station. The design for the hotel was drawn by Graham, Anderson, Probst & White, and the structure would be erected at the northwestern corner of Canal and Monroe streets. No. 1 is the Union terminal. No. 2 is the proposed $2,000,000 Lumber Exchange for the northeast corner of Adams and Clinton streets. No. 3 is the proposed $8,000,000 hotel. No. 4 is the Northwestern railroad station. The proposed lumber exchange and the hotel would block the erection of proposed new Chicago postoffice. The sketch was supplied by the hotel architects, the probable location of the subway being drawn in afterwards by a Tribune artist.

BAD MEN OUT ON BOAT RIDE GET TRIMMED UP

'Moochers' Try to Run Lake Steamer.

From cigaret-smoking childhood and through beer guzzling adolescence to moonshine maturity, the members of the Moochers' gang wanted the world to know they were tough. They boasted their claim to the successorship of the notorious Market street gang, the name of which struck terror to Chicagoans.

"JOHNNY" JOYCE.

For while the Moochers were mooching their first nickels at the saloon doors in Smoky Hollow, that sooty stretch west of Clark street on the near north side, or worrying the "wops" in Little Hell or sneaking up to Goose Island to smoke their first cigarets and sip a can o' suds, the Market Street gang was still in existence and the late John F. O'Malley was still the political power in the old 21st ward.

They fought and drank and slugged and rioted their way through the regime of "Teeny" Sullivan, O'Malley's successors, and took the name of the O'Malley Gang, because they thought it sounded tougher. Then with the more recent retirement of Sullivan and the entrance of State Senator "Johnny" Joyce as the political czar of the 29th district and the 42d ward they took the name of the Moochers.

Take Charge of Boat.

Yesterday the Moochers decided to go on a club picnic aboard the Graham & Morton steamer City of Saugatuck to Michigan City. The boat hardly had been warped from her berth when Don McLaughlin began opening the bottles and the Moochers started in to let the [illegible] passengers. They attempted to take charge of the boat. They picked fights with the crew, with other passengers. "We're from North Clark street and we're tough."

Before the gang plank was lowered at Michigan City the captain called a policeman, Officer Ryan, and he called three others.

Ten Battered Toughs Taken.

And they did. Ryan broke his club on the fourth head and then used his fist. His companions waded in.

Fifteen minutes later four perspiring policemen marched ten battered men before the judge. McLaughlin was fined $50 and costs for receiving liquor. The other drew fines of $5 and costs each—Broderick, Pendleton, John R. Erickson, Eugene Donohue, William Tivohill, Ed Murt, Danny Ward, William Connelly, and Tim Tivohill. Next they landed in the city jail.

Last night the Michigan City police received the following telegram from Senator Joyce:

"Please wire me as to charges and bond of Tim Tivohill and party."

"Tough?" mused Officer Ryan. "I'll say they were tough. I believe I must have dislocated my thumb when I put that last one down."

BUTCHERS PUT H. C. L. BLAME UP TO HOUSEKEEPERS

The passing of the market basket and the waning of that day when wives delighted in frugal marketing for their family table is to blame largely for the high prices of food. And the lazy housewife who will not study a cook book to learn how to prepare all kinds of meats in all kinds of ways alone is to blame for the high prices of meat.

So declared the butchers of America, 2,500 of them, attending the convention of the United Master Butchers' Association of America. Their blame of the American housewife was voiced by John T. Russell, a Chicago retailer and past president of the association, in an address yesterday at the La Salle hotel, where the butchers opened a four days' session.

Because housewives will order only fancy sounding cuts, the butchers are contemplating giving some fancy names to old, homely sounding portions of meat. That will save lots of good meat, will keep the prices down, and will teach women to cook the cheaper cuts as well as the sirloin steaks and rib roasts.

Goat's meat, too, would help lower the price of food, if only housewives would take the trouble to learn how tastily it can be prepared and what a dainty roast kid is, Mr. Russell said.

BLAMES PARENTS OF DICK AND BABE FOR CRIMINALITY

Visiting Judge Scorns "Juvenile" Defense.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Scoring Clarence Darrow's elaborate defense of Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb in the Franks trial, Judge Harry S. McDevitt of common pleas court of this city, who has presided at many death trials here, today also denounced the prevalence of crime in Chicago, which he said was undermining respect for law in that city. Judge McDevitt returned this morning from Chicago, where he attended several sessions of the Franks trial and sat on the bench with Judge Caverly.

Talks of Murderers' Wealth.

"The defendants' wealth, their alleged 'split mentality' and their much talked about superior intellect had little to do with their crime," Judge McDevitt said.

"They lacked such parental restraints as used to be the first requisite in raising boys and they were permitted to run unbridled and give vent to every whim and passion. They had a distorted idea of their duty to the community and if ever an exaggerated ego manifested itself it is in those defendants.

"They are the personification of conceit, vanity, and asininity. They manifested no respect for the law of God or man and have a contempt for the conventions of society.

All Kids Must Be Crazy.

"If such a mental condition as the alienists describe is a defense of murder, and if talking to playthings and wearing different costumes and displaying temper are symptoms of 'split mentality,' then most of the children I know are defectives.

"I am confident justice will be meted out in full measure, and I think Chicago, principally, and the country, generally, are to be congratulated in having the outcome rest on the courage, integrity and learning of Chief Justice Caverly. He is a kindly and even-tempered jurist of ripened experience and indomitable courage.

"Were the case being tried in Philadelphia, I am confident a jury would return a verdict of murder in the first degree. It wouldn't require long to reach a conclusion."

FARMER DIES OF AUTO INJURIES.

Kaukauna, Wis., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Anton Nyies, 83, retired farmer living at Sheboygan, visiting his son, August, here, was down Sunday and died of his injuries four hours later.

REDS AND BRITISH REPORTED NEAR TREATY ACCORD

[Chicago Tribune Foreign [illegible] Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 5.—[[illegible]]—The Anglo-Russian conference upon which depends the success of Prime Minister MacDonald's attempt to resume normal relations with Russia, was still in session at 3 o'clock this morning and it is believed that the prospects of drawing up a treaty are hopeful. The conference met early yesterday.

M. Rakovsky, the Russian delegate, who just returned from Moscow with fresh proposals, is said to have been making the most strenuous efforts to prevent a deadlock. The greater part of the draft of an Anglo-Russian treaty was drawn up early in the session but there was a hitch over the subject of guarantees for a Russian loan.

One of the most important points being considered is Russian recognition of its pre-war debts. M. Rakovsky is reported to have agreed to a definite proposal to recognize the debts provided Great Britain would consent to set a maximum sum beyond which no liabilities would be recognized by Russia. Great Britain does not wish to do this.

Louis Guyon and Yacht Party Missing on Superior

Fear was expressed by relatives yesterday for the safety of Louis Guyon, wealthy dance hall owner, and members of his family who are cruising Lake Superior in his power boat, Lady Guyon.

According to Louis E. Moulds, 4017 West End avenue, brother-in-law, Mr. Guyon was last heard from at Mackinac island ten days ago, when he started for Duluth, a trip that should take only a little over twenty-four hours of steady running.

With Guyon are his wife and daughter, a niece, Miss Grace Robinson, and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Kirby, who are believed to have boarded the craft at Pentwater.

ICELAND'S SKY CLEAR; FLYERS READY FOR HOP

Planes May Fuel at Sea to Avoid Greenland.

HOEFN HORNAFJORD, Iceland, Aug. 4.—[By Associated Press.]—Lieut. Lowell H. Smith and Lieut. Erik Nelson, the United States army's globe flyers, are ready, if present favorable weather conditions continue, to jump off within the next twenty-four hours for their 300 mile jaunt around the southern coast of Iceland and thence northward to the harbor of Reykjavik. The two planes which are riding at their buoys inside the natural breakwater here were given a thorough examination today and found to be in prime condition.

Lieuts. Smith and Nelson, who were successful in making their way through fog and rain from the Orkney islands to Iceland, expressed regret today over the mishap to Lieut. Leigh Wade, who was forced down Sunday by engine trouble as he was endeavoring to negotiate the route across the North Atlantic from Scotland and whose plane was wrecked in an attempt to hoist it on board the cruiser Richmond.

May Refuel at Sea.

Lieut. Smith does not care to predict the possible effect of the flyers being held up by the Greenland ice, but he is at least considering the alternatives of a direct flight from Reykjavik, on the west coast of Iceland, to Ivigtut, on the west coast of Greenland, with a possible halt at sea for refueling if conditions are favorable.

"We will find some way of making it, in any event," he said tonight.

WADE'S PLANE SINKS

BY DON SKENE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

ABOARD U. S. S. RICHMOND, THORSHAVN, Faroe Islands, Aug. [illegible]—The proud plane wherein Lieut. Leigh Wade and Sergt. Arthur Ogden flew 19,000 miles around the world ended its career as a shattered bit of wreckage washed up on the bleak shores of the Faroe islands early this morning. The crippled flying ship, reeling drunkenly on the rough seas on a towline behind the Richmond, went down when it capsized and turned turtle.

The left pontoon, crushed by a falling hoisting boom of the Richmond's derrick yesterday, filled with water. The left wing, dipping into the waves, became waterlogged. Then a giant swell overturned the plane and the heavy engine almost sank it.

The terrific strain snapped the taut towline like a thread. The plane started drifting toward the shore of Sydero, five miles away, the goal where the flyers still hoped against hope that they might be able to salvage something.

Bid Good-By to "Ship."

Lieut. Wade and Sergt. Ogden, hastily awakened from their sleep, stood on the Richmond with jaws clenched and misty eyes, watching the once mighty air king being buffeted to the shore by the pitiless northern sea.

"So long, old pal," murmured Lieut. Wade huskily.

Three boats filled with the hardy island fishermen speeded toward the strange wreckage. Then the Richmond put on full speed for Reykjavik, Iceland.

Destroyers at Indian Harbor.

ON BOARD U. S. DESTROYER BARRY, INDIAN HARBOR, Labrador, Aug. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—When the American round the world flyers take off from Greenland on the final North Atlantic lap of their globe encircling flight five United States naval vessels will be patrolling the flight lane underneath them. The special squadron dropped anchor here Saturday under perfect weather conditions.

Briton Abandons Flight.

Cordova, Alaska, Aug. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—Maj. A. Stuart MacLaren, leader of a flight around the world by British soldiers that started at Galshot, England, March 25, announced in a wireless message received here today that the adventure had been abandoned at Nikolski, Komandorski islands, Siberia.

A later message from Maj. MacLaren said:

"Owing to thick fog was forced to descend near the Komandorski islands. Machine so seriously damaged that we were forced to abandon the flight, and will return by way of Vancouver, B. C., aboard the Thiepval."

Plane Badly Smashed.

Maj. MacLaren said that abandonment was necessary because no spares were obtainable to repair damage to the plane used by the expedition. The machine fell near Nikolski Saturday as it was about to complete a flight from Petropavlovsk. The message said:

"Wings, floats, and tail smashed, and as no spares available, necessary abandon flight. Hull and engine salvaged and taken aboard by Thiepval."

The message said that the Thiepval, a trawler in the Canadian fisheries service, reached Nikolski Saturday evening, having hurried from Petropavlovsk after the plane departed from there Thursday. The plane went to West Kamchatka, whence a flight was made Saturday to Nikolski.

Italian Reaches England.

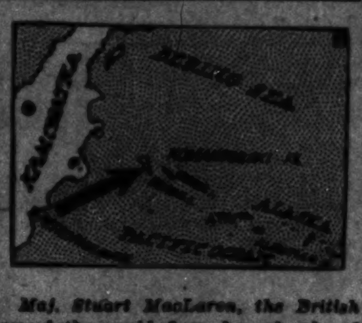
ABANDONS FLIGHT



Maj. Stuart MacLaren, the British round the world flyer, has abandoned his attempt to encircle the globe. He smashed his plane beyond repair at the Komandorski islands, in the North Pacific ocean. These islands lie to the west of the Aleutians and Alaska. MacLaren started from near London shortly after the American world girdlers took off. He went in the opposite direction, crossing Europe and Asia first.

BOB WILL WIN SINCE RIGHT IS MIGHT—GOMPERS

Aged Leader Tells Plans During Campaign.

BY DONALD EWING.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Labor is not chasing the will-o'-the-wisp in supporting La Follette and Wheeler, but is placing its might on the side of right in the battle against wrong.

And La Follette and labor will triumph in the end, just as right always triumphs over wrong.

This was the pronouncement tonight of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, as he told how labor already is firing its opening guns on the side of La Follette in the presidential campaign.

"5,000,000 Workers for Bob."

Every sinew in every one of the 5,000,000 organized workers is swinging into the campaign, Mr. Gompers said, adding that "it is no fantastic thing" to expect that when November rolls around the masses will have gathered into such a concerted group that La Follette will replace Coolidge in the White House.

Mr. Gombers, in reply to reports that labor's support of its chosen candidates was half hearted and not unanimous, told of another of those private conferences which in political campaigns frequently are called "back-room." It seems that the executive council of the A. F. of L. held one at Brighton Beach, Long Island, just after the Democratic convention.

There it informally agreed that labor could support neither Coolidge nor Davis and agreed to come here and formally indorse La Follette.

Plan Flood of Propaganda.

Thirty thousand campaign subcommittees will work under the federation's nonpartisan political committee in boosting La Follette and Wheeler, it was explained tonight, and the country will be flooded with posters, banners and pamphlets, telling workmen that its representatives have picked La Follette as their political idol, though not their ideal.

While Mr. Gompers was reaffirming his full support of "Insurgent Bob," a telegram came in from La Follette welcoming labor's support and indorsing its nonpartisanship.

"Victory Is Not a Dream."

"It is no fantastic thing to look for the success of Senator La Follette in the coming election," Mr. Gompers said. "America is seething with protest against the machinations of big business, the betrayal of public trust and the lack of constructive statesmanship in the two major parties.

"We are going to do our best to elect La Follette and Wheeler. We believe the conscience of America is aroused to the need of a new deal in our national government and a new morality in public life generally.

"I want to emphasize the fact that our support of La Follette and Wheeler does not identify us with, or commit us to, doctrines advocated by any other group that may be supporting the same candidates."

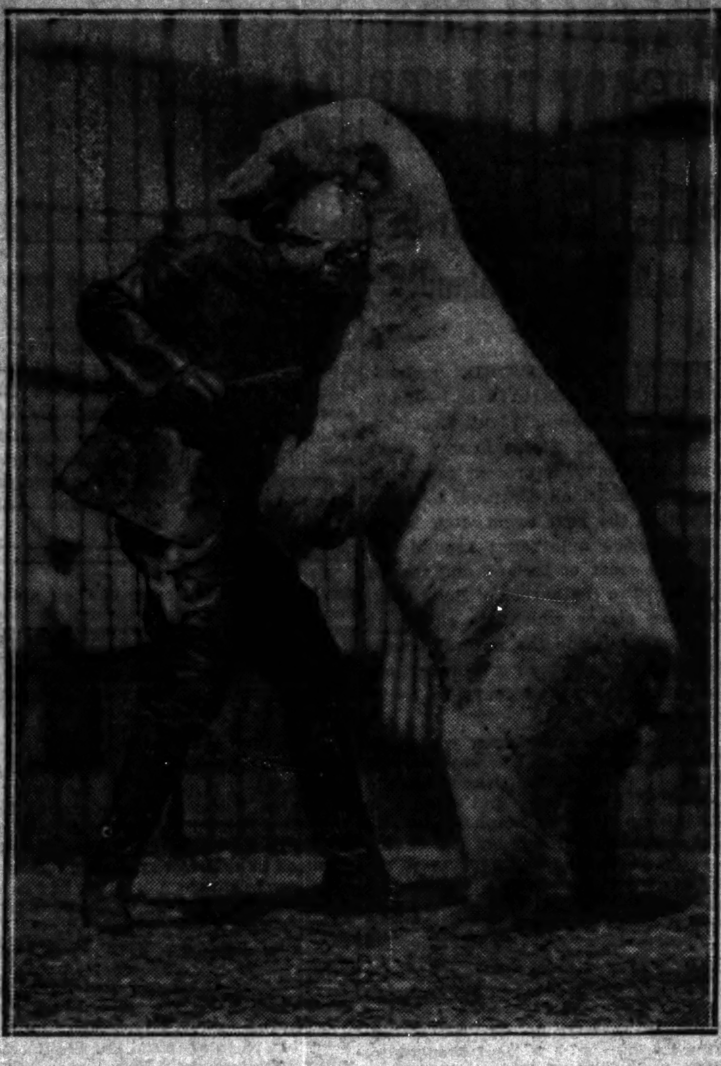
RICH BOYS TO GET THRILL OF DAD'S SLIPPER

Whippings were promised yesterday by Tom Carey, millionaire brickmaker, and P. J. McMahon for their sons, who figured in an exciting battle with policemen. Whether Robert F. Carey, 19 years old, and Bernard McMahon, 19 years old, actually were escorted to the modern woodshed and taken across the parental knee, however, did not become a matter of record.

When the youths were arraigned before Judge George Holmes—Carey charged with assault with a deadly weapon with intent to kill, driving while intoxicated, and speeding; McMahon charged with disorderly conduct—a continuance to Sept. 1 was asked and granted.

The boys had been drinking at a 22d street café and had sought to elude a detective bureau squad which gave chase. The boys denied the shooting but admitted everything else. In their capture young McMahon lost two teeth—which was after the policeman was wounded.

EASY WAY TO REDUCE WEIGHT

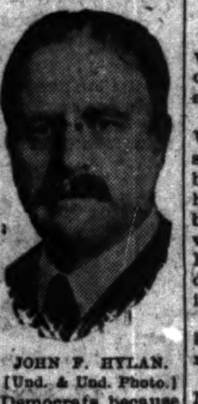


While that is not the purpose of this bout it well might be. But it is only Wallop, the battling bear, and his trainer, Christian Schroeder of Ringling Brothers and Barnum & Bailey's circus, to arrive here Aug. 15, and they are doing a little training.

HYLAN NOT SURE WHETHER HE'LL SUPPORT DAVIS

Recalls Band Wagon Boys Once Kicked.

New York, Aug. 4.—Asked whether he would support John W. Davis, Democratic presidential nominee, Mayor John F. Hylan today issued a statement saying, "Like a lot of other American citizens, I am listening and waiting." The mayor recently announced he would consider becoming a candidate for governor if there was a demand.



JOHN F. HYLAN.
[Und. & Und. Photo.]

"I realize," the statement said, "that I am being criticized by some Democrats because I have not rushed into print with pictures of my coat off for Mr. Davis, but my friends must remember that I am not a regular 100 per cent politician.

Recalls Adverse Criticisms.

"During the convention in New York I heard, publicly and privately, from the accredited representatives of nearly all the other candidates for the presidential nomination, all dyed in the wool Democrats, many extraordinary objections against Mr. Davis' nomination.

"One candidate's manager seriously urged in many places that Mr. Davis' election meant making the White House a subordinate department of J. P. Morgan & Co. Others would have the delegates believe that Mr. Davis' first job would be to have the English colors painted all over the capitol in Washington, and so on.

But They're on Band Wagon.

"All these and many other objections were urged against Mr. Davis with all the earnestness and fervor that the tongue of man can express. These gentlemen, agents, and principals are all on the band wagon now.

"I admit that I am bewildered. If they were right then they must be wrong now, and their prattle about 'regularity' sounds just as insincere as their prenomination denunciations of Mr. Davis.

"It might not be amiss for me to remind some of my Democratic critics that the late Charles F. Murphy, as leader of the Democratic party in this state, never questioned my loyalty to the Democratic party."

MOTHER OF 6 AT INQUEST; MURDER WIDOWED HER

There was an inquest yesterday at which the chief figure was the widowed mother of six children, whose ages are from 8 months to 11 years.

Their father, Alfred J. Hannus, 208 West 69th street, had been fatally stabbed by two 17 year old colored boys, it was charged. Witnesses told how Hannus entered a street car and became involved in an altercation with the youths. Willie Hawkins, Indiana Harbor, Ind., and Frank Henderson, 5752 Rhodes avenue, were identified as his assailants.

There were angry murmurs when Mrs. Hannus told about her fatherless children. The accused boys were held to the grand jury.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—"If there is a labor controlled vote the Atlantic City decision should injure the Democrats rather than the Republicans."—Senator James Wadsworth of New York.

"The fight is now between President Coolidge and Senator La Follette."—William H. Johnston, chairman of the conference for progressive political action.

"The importance of the support by the American Federation of Labor for the progressive ticket cannot be overestimated."—Robert M. La Follette.

Major Parties Are Mum.

The activity and shouting in the La Follette-Wheeler camp over their campaign plans and the joyful acceptance of the Gompers support in the Atlantic City conference is met with drowsy interest in the headquarters of the two major political parties. Not a chirp came from there today while the La Follette people were getting out peppy statements, sending out appeals for money, and preparing to invade such eastern states as Massachusetts and Maryland. They are even going into West Virginia next Monday with Farmer-Labor party plans, although warily steering clear of third party programs in most states. John W. Davis is wiped off the political map all in one day.

President Coolidge Cheerful.

At the White House, where Senator Wadsworth called to report on conditions in New York, all was serene. The President was cheerful, Mr. Wadsworth said, taking care of his job as if no campaign was on.

"I told the President that he would carry New York and that everything was in good shape in my state," said the senator. "It will not be necessary for him to make many speeches. We would like to have Mr. Dawes in New York for a few speeches. Business conditions are helping now. The people trust the President and have confidence in his judgment. They believe in his motives even though some of his vetoes were regretted."

Mr. Johnston said that he had just returned from Maryland, where he had started the La Follette-Wheeler organization and had a made a speech that brought in $10,000. He will go to Massachusetts next Sunday and West Virginia following that.

Bob's Message to Gompers.

Senator La Follette, in a telegram to Samuel Gompers, expressed appreciation of his indorsement, and said:

"I have in my public record attested my accord with the aspirations of American wage earners as represented by the American Federation of Labor. I welcome this indorsement. To break the combined power of selfish interests upon the government is the paramount issue of this campaign and with the support of organized labor, the farmers, business men, professional men, and all other men and women whose sole interest in government is that of good citizenship, I feel confident we shall win."

R. R. UNION WON'T TRAVEL ON BOB'S LABOR SPECIAL

Trainmen to Select Any Candidate.

Portsmouth, Va., Aug. 4.—The Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen, as a national organization did not join the American Federation of Labor in indorsing the presidential candidacy of Senator La Follette, and almost certainly will not do so, W. G. Lee, grand president of the organization, declared today.

W. G. LEE.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Mr. Lee, who is here to attend the "booster meeting" of Virginia trainmen, said "the brotherhood will adhere to its settled policy of leaving its members free and untrammeled to vote their individual preferences."

"I purpose," the trainmen's president added, "to place before the membership the records of the three candidates, the records of their parties, and the platforms on which they are running, in order that members of the brotherhood will have all the essential facts necessary to make a choice of the candidates.

"No word of mine will be in any way persuasive as to choice. The membership of the brotherhood—approximately 180,000 at this time—is sufficiently intelligent to determine how and when to vote, and I have never deceived myself into the belief that such membership, through my influence, could be delivered to any political party at will."

FOUR DROWN IN RIVER POOL AT HARRISBURG, ILL.

Harrisburg, Ill., Aug. 4.—Charles Patton, his wife, baby and brother, Earl Patton, all residents of Dupo, Ill., were drowned today in Big Saline creek, twelve miles southeast of Harrisburg.

The entire family had gone in bathing. When Mrs. Patton, who had the baby with her, was seen to go under water into a whirlpool with the child, the husband rushed to her rescue and dived but never came to the top.

His brother, Earl, then plunged into the whirlpool and he likewise was never seen again.

None of the bodies had been recovered this afternoon.

Th Pattons were guests of Mrs. Emma Patton of Junction, Gallatin county.

A Good Flat to Buy or Rent

Comfortable in Summer and Winter

Many builders today are erecting flats and apartments that are cool and quiet in summer and comfortable and quiet in winter.

These worth while flats can be located by asking one simple question; "Is it insulated with Flax-li-num?"

Flax-li-num is the material that stops heat, cold and noise. It is built into partitions, floors, outside walls and roof. It brings privacy. And, more important, it insures warm cozy rooms in winter and cool, comfortable rooms in summer.

Where one-inch Flax-li-num is applied to the top story ceiling joists, the upstairs, even in the warmest weather, is as cool as the floors below.

Flax-li-num in the walls and roof saves fuel. That is important if you are buying a flat. Hundreds of owners state their fuel bills are cut one third. This saving goes a long way to pay the cost of Flax-li-num the first year, and returns that cost many times over during the life of the building.

Flax-li-num is the greatest known heat insulation. Laboratory tests prove this. And its efficiency shown in these tests is practical and sure in actual use.

An all-flax product. Tough, durable, everlasting. Easy to apply. Cannot sag, tear or break. Not easy to puncture. Outlasts the building.

Whether you are going to buy, build or rent, ask about Flax-li-num. Write or phone for free booklet, "For Comfort and Economy," and sample.

GERMANS MEET ALLIES TODAY IN DAWES PARLEY

MacDonald Will Try to Speed Agreement.

BY JOHN STEELE.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 4.—A plenary session of the London reparations conference, at which the Germans, who are due in London at 8:30 tomorrow morning, will be present, has been called for noon tomorrow. The business will be purely formal, consisting of a welcoming speech by Prime Minister MacDonald, a reply by the German spokesman, and formal presentation of documents produced by the labors of the conference to date to the Germans. The conference will then be adjourned until Wednesday, when, it is hoped, the Germans will be ready to present their views.

The present intention is for a continuous sitting of the plenary session, with experts in attendance, instead of breaking up into committees, and it is said to be the intention of Prime Minister MacDonald to force discussion, so as to finish by Saturday.

Premier and Lloyd George Clash.

There was an interesting passage at arms between Mr. MacDonald and David Lloyd George when Mr. MacDonald reported to the house of commons this afternoon on the progress of the conference. He then gave a résumé of the work accomplished by the committees, with the following important addition: Three agreements are to be expected if the conference finally is successful—namely:

ONE—An agreement between the German government and the reparations commission regarding matters within the competence of the reparations commission.

TWO—An agreement between the allied governments and the German government regarding matters requiring to be settled by direct agreement.

GERMANS HOPEFUL

BY GEORGE SELDES.

BERLIN, Aug. 4.—Coincident with the German delegation's departure for London this morning, Secretary of State Hughes told the American press that his trip to Germany, as well as Paris and London, made him believe a new era was being ushered into European affairs and his optimism for a better day of European peace and prosperity had increased.

At the railroad station this morning Chancellor Marx, with his hand on the train door, told THE TRIBUNE representative:

"We go to London full of hope, but with no exaggerated optimism. We hope for success."

Dawes' Plan Vital to Europe.

Mr. Hughes said, "I believe the Dawes plan acceptance will lead to an era of peace and prosperity. The rapid execution of the Dawes plan is vital for Europe. From what I have seen here I believe Europe has turned the corner. The wish may be father to believe, but at any rate that is my opinion."

Berlin officialdom felt today that Mr. Hughes' visit here has been a vital force toward clearing the difficulties in the way of a German-allied understanding. The fact that Mr. Hughes was even more optimistic after hearing the views of President Ebert, Chancellor Marx, and Foreign Minister Stresemann on the London conference is taken to indicate that the many difficulties will be discussed satisfactorily.

Mr. Hughes left at 11 o'clock tonight for Bremen, whence he will sail for America on the President Harding tomorrow.

GUILTY OR NOT, BERLIN MUST PAY FOR WAR—PARIS

Bars Question from Reparations.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

PARIS, Aug. 4.—The tenth anniversary of the outbreak of the world war has produced such a flood of publications from the Russian, German, and Austrian archives tending to show that the late Czar Nicholas and French politicians were responsible for the war that French official circles have felt themselves compelled to take some action.

The semi-official Temps, in a two column study of the question, states that France cannot allow the question of guilt for the war to influence the reparations question.

Say Germans Must Pay.

"This prospective discussion which Germany is following passionately, but which is not the business of the present conference, cannot bear influence on the financial obligations of the reich," the Temps declares. "These obligations repose just as much on the German conception that a beaten country must pay as on the French conception that the invader must contribute with all his resources to the reconstruction of the invaded country."

The Temps suggests that the French pre-war archives be studied thoroughly, and if anything showing Russian or French guilt should be found it should be published to the whole world. Whether this guilt is established or not, however, Germany's debt remains the same, as it was incurred through the devastation of France's territories, which must be repaired, the paper adds.

Laud Herriot's Stand.

Premier Herriot's action today in London, in refusing to permit any discussion of the war guilt at the conference, receives the warm approbation of all parties here. It is felt that, even if M. Poincare took the part he is alleged to have taken in the preparation for the war, it is no reason why Germany should not pay for the destruction of east and north France.

OLD SETTLERS RECALL PIONEER DAYS AT PICNIC

Old settlers whose residence in Chicago in some instances dated back to 1843 attended the fiftieth annual picnic and reunion of the Chicago Old Settlers' association, held yesterday in Brand's park, Elston and Belmont avenues. Many of the old timers took their baskets of lunch as they had done for half a century and told stores of the early day life in Chicago.

Nine gold medals were awarded to various members. The presentation was made by Mayor Dever, who was the guest of honor.

BIG RAID ON INN SHOWS $1 DRINKS NOT WORTH IT

Prohibition agents raided the Kickapoo inn yesterday afternoon and found there a goodly gathering of the south side "cheaters' club."

When the agents read their warrants many shrieks were heard. Escorts warned their lady friends not to tell their right names.

The agents were interested only in booze, however, and told them their secrets were safe in so far as they had nothing on the hip.

The raid was under the direction of Chief Field Agent Charles W. Vursell, and yielded a large quantity of liquor, which, as shown by tests, wasn't worth the $1 a drink paid for it.

According to Vursell, there were more complaints against the Kickapoo last week than against all other places combined.

The resort, at 79th street and Stony Island avenue, has been getting a "big play," Vursell said, when he obtained the warrants from United States Commissioner Henry C. Beitler.

STREET CAR INJURY FATAL.

John Pilatrini, 63, of 7153 South Chicago avenue, died yesterday of injuries he received a week ago when he was struck by a street car.

"PRO-FLAT FLAG OF WILMETTE" IS ON WAY SOUTH

New Chapter in Feud of Suburban Doctor.

PROFLAT FLAG OF WILMETTE IS STILL IN BREEZE.

Well now, a checkup of this matter revealed last night that our paper was in error. That profiat flag, which is the copy reader's poetic way of describing an ordinary fifteen foot sign with a message in behalf of apartment buildings, was NOT still in the breeze. It was in the drainage canal, headed for Lockport and points south.

The sign, you will recall, was nailed to a flagpole of the Twin Oaks Croquet club near Sheridan road and Linden avenue in Wilmette. It was placed there at the behest of Dr. L. C. H. E. Zeigler, president of the club and plaintiff in the $100,000 medical fee suit, back in 1904, against Mrs. J. H. McVicker's estate. The section of alphabet prefixing Dr. Zeigler's name stands Lawrence, Clarence, Harry, and Edward.

Dog on Guard.

Home loving opponents of the movement to permit the erection of apartment buildings in Wilmette threatened to remove the sign Sunday. A huge Belgian police dog, chained to the flagpole, threatened to spoil their Sabbath trousers if they did. The angry Wilmetteans bowed to the superior logic of the Belgian.

Then the home loving elements took a hand. A terrific storm blew up and the police dog's armed boss unchained the animal and rushed it to shelter. That was early yesterday morning, when THE TRIBUNE presses were busy imprinting on white paper the news that Wilmette's profiat flag still waved.

Then the storm died down. The Belgian police dog rushed out and discovered, much to its dismay, that the sign had gone. Evanston police reported later that during the stormy watches of the night they had seen it floating down the north shore drainage canal. It seemed to be badly beaten up and was apparently unconscious, they declared.

Can't Find It.

Dr. Zeigler searched in vain for his sign yesterday. Last night he made two announcements: (1) that $500 reward would be paid for the arrest of the miscreants, so-called, who made it necessary for THE TRIBUNE to print this Beg Your Pardon; (2) that a new sign would be painted to wave in the breeze. Meanwhile the flagpole of the Twin Oaks Croquet club will be unadorned.

Dr. Zeigler has long been a firm believer in the printed word. In 1896 he advertised in a newspaper for a wife. In 1901 he advertised for human bodies, offering $50 to any one who would contract to let the doctor have his remains after death.

Three years later he startled Chicagoans by filing suit in the Probate court for $126,650, which he claimed was due him for ministering to Mrs. Harriet G. McVicker, elderly widow of the pioneer theatrical man. Dr. Zeigler had accompanied her to California, where she died, and in his bill he put down a cool $100,000 for "professional service" only. Mrs. McVicker's relatives contested the bill.

11 WOMEN JURORS IN HOLLYWOOD'S LATEST SCANDAL

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Hollywood has had few more embarrassed victims than Jack F. White, maker of millions in mining and oil lands in Mexico, who appeared today as the first witness in the suit for $100,000 filed against him by Ann Luther, 27 year old film actress.

The calling of White came immediately after selection of the jury of 11 middle aged women and a man and was a surprise move on the part of Miss Luther's counsel. Other surprises in the testimony are awaited with foreboding in Hollywood.

Depositions have brought in the name of Lord Fred Auckland, British peer, who was in the court room today; Peggy Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. Syd. Chaplin; Evelyn Nesbit, Norman Kerry, Mabel Normand, Jean Acker and others.

Wife Stands by Defendant.

White, whose wife and two small children are standing by him, took the stand alert and cool. His composure departed little by little, during the questioning.

White kept his eyes off the actress across from him, but Miss Luther included in her twinkling glances the man whose railroad compartment she swears she occupied in the New York to Hollywood trip, which is one of the main features of the suit.

Used His Drawing Room.

White agreed to permit the actress to use his drawing room on the trip to California, June 28, 1921. Further, "out of the kindness of his heart," he testified to providing $5,500 for Ann's wardrobe, on her promise to repay him if he did not finance her production. On the train White learned Miss Luther was not unmarried. Later he discovered that the man to whom he thought she was married was A. E. Lewis, young Los Angeles broker. She was, however, married to Ed Gallagher, the comedian.

A deposition by Mount discussed Ann's relations with Lewis. It said that Lewis' experiences with Miss Luther bankrupted the broker, who became a social wreck, drifted into drug habits, and was abandoned by his associates. Mount advised White to beware of the actress.

It was shortly after this and similar advice by Hollywood friends that White decided to terminate the understanding to star the actress, but not, according to a mass of depositions, until after numerous spats, first in White's hotel quarters, and then in hers, in Los Angeles.

Spicy Revelations to Come.

There are more than thirty witnesses to be called, and each side promises revelations which will include such interesting episodes as:

White's "sugar notes" to Ann.

The expensive auto whose loan Ann requested, "in order to make an impression," but which Jack was to tell the auto agency was hers.

Evelyn Nesbit's divorce suit against Jack Clifford, in which Miss Luther was named.

The attitude of Ann's Russian-Jewish father, John Jacob Luther, last heard of as a New York sewing machine agent.

An Echo of Taylor Case.

White's charge and Ann's denial that she told him "you'll get what William Desmond Taylor got."

The gold wrist watch, "to my devoted husband," which was Ann's birthday present to "Papa" White, but which "Papa" asserts he later found was charged to him by a Los Angeles jeweler.

White's gift of a ring, inscribed "Ann from Jack, 8-8-22," which Ann asserts jewelers will prove is a wedding ring.

The jury was agreed to by Miss Luther's three attorneys, and the five representing White. The women did not seem much intrigued by the roguish glances and tossing bobbed locks of Miss Luther, who appeared in court in a fetching white silk gown, but a bit short, and trimmed in black; simple white bonnet, white stockings, sport shoes, and checkered green coat.

JOHN W. DAVIS IS GIFTED WITH WIT AND HUMOR

His Favorite Tales Deal with Odd Character.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

Clarksburg, W. Va., Aug. 3.—[Special.]—John W. Davis has more fun in him than his countrymen as yet know.

In that he is like his great-grandfather, Caleb Davis, the eighteenth century Virginia silversmith and clockmaker, a round, jolly little man who liked to take the candidate's father on his knee and sing him old English ballads that invariably ended, "and then with tu-ra-lee and tu-ra-loo"; like, too, his maternal grandfather, William Wilson Kennedy, the Baltimore lumber merchant, whose cheery hail to his family in times of trial was "one must be a man or a mouse," and of whom it is said, "he never whined, never worried, never moaned"—and he lived to be 8[illegible].

Quizzes Himself and Others.

The outstanding characteristic of John W. Davis' humor is a judicial kind of waggishness. He can quiz himself without dropping below his own dignity and he can quiz others without offending them. He is much given to both pastimes.

It is natural therefore that some of the best Davis anecdotes concern the celebrated Squire Benedum, a West Virginia worthy, whose waggeries were treasured by the whole countryside on which John W. Davis grew to manhood. But Emanuel Benedum was more than wag; he was a wit and philosopher—and ever ready.

Once when the squire's tongue was unleashed, a reproving elder called out to him, "Benedum, you ought not to call a man fool!"

"I never called a man a fool," Benedum answered.

"Why, you just did!"

Benedum Reply to Preacher.

Back in the '40s of the last century, when the squire was young, he attended a Methodist "protracted meeting" at Mount Zion church, near Clarksburg—the spot still the site of a church. The preacher was the famous Adam Rider, who, they say, "could make sinners hear him half a furlong without straining his bellows." Young Benedum attended the meeting more as an interested bystander than as a penitent. The time came when Parson Rider released his usual, "all those who want to go to heaven stand up."

Everybody rose but Benedum.

"Now all those who want to go to hell stand up."

Everybody remained seated, including Benedum.

Him Parson Rider fixed with his terrible eye and said, "Young man, you don't seem to want to go to heaven and you don't seem to want to go to hell. Where do you want to go?"

Tells of Wild Early Days.

When the squire grew old he liked to tell the countryside what a hellion he had been in his early days, piling infamy upon infamy into the narrative and always winding up with this formula:

"Why, men, I sank so low that if I moved at all I was bound to rise!"

On April 30, 1863, the rebels got into the Clarksburg region, Gen. Jones' cavalry hovering around the town and occupying some of the nearby hamlets. There was some fighting, some slaughter, and, of course, requisitioning right and left by the invader. In neighboring Bridgeport, Squire Benedum was then keeping a kind of general store, prime object for a raid. Benedum saw the rebels coming up the road, scrawled the words "for rent" on a bit of board, slapped it on the front of his store, closed the shutters, and flew. The [illegible] streamed by, leaving the apparently empty concern unmolested.

The Smallpox Ruse.

At nightfall another detachment of enemy cavalry drew [illegible] before Benedum's home, obviously bent on food. Seizing his wife's red shawl, the squire wrapped it over his bearded chin, assumed the voice of sickness, and, opening the door at which a cavalryman stood, said to him:

"Has all of your company had the smallpox?"

It is to be remembered that this was long before "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," in which Husk employs precisely the same stratagem, was published.

Anyway, the rebels rode on—in haste.

Founding of Family Fortune.

The founding of the Benedum family fortunes is one of the strangest episodes in West Virginia's annals—or Virginia as it was then. I must tell it to you as illustrating the wildness of the region into which John W. Davis' grandfather, John Davis—the first Davis to settle in Clarksburg—pioneered into from old Virginia about 1820. I will compact the tale, the period of which is a couple of decades after pioneer John's coming across the Alleghenies:

Benedum's sister is riding horseback to market town, a $50 bill in her possession. Mounted robber halts her. Secures bill, which in scuffle flutters into brush at roadside. Robber dismounts to hunt bill, the squire's sister meanwhile lashing her horse toward home. Robber's horse follows her, while robber is intently searching. Men folk of Benedum cabin unsaddle robber's horse and in saddle bags find $5,000 in good bills and much more in counterfeit bills. Robber never seen by Miss Benedum from that day to this.

Starts to Bank the $5,000.

And—Squire starts out by stage coach to bank the five thousand at Winchester. During journey woman confides to him she has $200 in her pocketbook. What best to do with it, she fearing highwaymen. "Put it in your shoes," says Squire. Highwaymen soon do hold up stage coach, robbing two men passengers and then approaching Benedum who cries out in craven terror: "I got nothing, but that woman there has got $200 in her shoes."

Bandits rob the woman and in their delight forget about Benedum and ride on. Say the men in the stage coach to Benedum, "You're their confederate and we're going to lynch you."

"Wait till we get to Winchester and if I don't explain all and make you all happy, then lynch me," says Benedum. They sullenly wait. At Winchester Benedum takes out his $5,000, pays the men and the woman their losses by the robbery and thanks them for having been the means of saving to him all but about $100 of his $5,000.

From first to last, can you beat it?

John Brown in Davis' Annals.

The solemn figure of John Brown, at once sublime and sinister, stalks once across the Davis annals, for in the spring of 1859, when John W. Davis' father, John J., was 24 years old, there appeared in Clarksburg a stranger who said that his name was Smith and that he was a Mason. So was John W.'s father—the oldest Mason in Clarksburg, indeed, when he died in 1916. In the year the stranger appeared, certain slaves in Clarksburg were suspected of a plot to poison their masters and they were tried in the old Clarksburg courthouse that stood on the site of the present one, which is just across the street from the nominee's house. The stranger followed the trial with keen eyes but never uttered a word of comment. He did, however, ask financial aid of his fellow Masons and one of them who gave him money was John W.'s father.

The stranger vanished as mysteriously as he had come.

In the following October, immediately after the Harper's Ferry raid, John Brown's picture appeared in Harper's Weekly and Frank Leslie's Weekly. Everyone in Clarksburg recognized the picture. John Brown, the martyr, was Smith, the stranded Mason who had silently watched the trial.

He had been reconnoitering among the Clarksburg hills preliminary to perfecting his plans for the raid, and, perhaps, by the sad sight of the trial of those poor wretches, steeling his soul for the mad martyrdom that helped bring on the civil war.

COMMONS FAILS TO ACT ON IRISH BOUNDARY CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 4.—No progress has been made in the Irish boundary crisis, and J. H. Thomas, colonial secretary, announced in the house of commons this afternoon that he was going to Ireland tonight for a further conference with President Cosgrave following a communication he had received from the Irish executive. No further statement was made and no bill was introduced.

Mr. Thomas hopes to be back on Wednesday in time to make a statement to the house before it rises for the summer holiday. It will now be impossible to pass legislation setting up a boundary commission despite Ulster's refusal to appoint a commissioner before the house rises.

The Ulster members of parliament held a meeting today at Lord Londonderry's house in Park lane to consider the situation, and later the British Conservative members of parliament also met. It is reported that Ulster still hopes to secure some limitation to the powers of the commission, and if that is obtained it will be willing to join in the delimitation of the frontier.

American children and "grown-ups" are both "starving for sleep"

"American children are kept on a starvation ration of sleep," a noted specialist on the care of little folk declares. "This fact is a menace to the new generation."

He might have added that most American "grown-ups" are much nearer the starvation point on sleep than our children. We all work harder, play longer and rest less than any other race on earth.

Yet all authorities agree that it is only during sleep that our bodies and brains rebuild their tissues and restore the balance of energy used up in our waking hours, no matter how we spend them.

The longer and deeper our sleep, the more complete this renewal, and the more vigorous the hold we keep on youth, personal force, mental and physical efficiency.

Be sure that your bedding gives you an honest return for every sleep hour. Study it. Compare it, at a dealer's, with the Simmons mattresses and springs he offers at the lowest prices that bedding built of safe, new materials can be sold for. Don't starve for sleep.

A Tribune Want Ad Will Find Your Want

"One man's meat is another's poison," is an old adage to the effect that not every one is satisfied with the same thing. Each person knows what he wants. If you want something, and you do not see exactly what you want among the hundreds of Want Ads appearing daily in The Tribune, then advertise your want. You will then be able to choose the best of several offers.

Mrs. H. B. Hensler, 1531 W. Adams St., wanted to buy a lunchroom business, but could not locate one that suited her. This Tribune Want Ad found the ideal place she sought. It appeared June 8th.

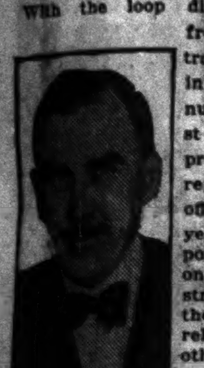
WILL SPEED UP WORK ON ADAMS STREET BRIDGE

Start Deferred Till Congestion Is Eased.



CLAYTON SMITH.

With the loop district suffering from the worst traffic congestion in history, due to numerous construction, improvement, and repair jobs, city officials concluded yesterday to postpone alterations on the Adams street bridge until the daily jam is relieved in some other quarters by completion of some of the projects now under way.

The Adams street bridge must be altered to fit into the new Union station scheme. It is necessary to raise the bridge to the new station level and 'bobtail' it at the west end. The job is said to be a matter of about three weeks with three shifts working daily.

Will Use Three Shifts.

And the public works department contemplates using three shifts. Mayor Dever took the matter up yesterday with Acting Commissioner of Public Works Clayton Smith and officials of the bridge bureau, instructing them to urge all possible haste consistent with the city administration's policy of dealing with labor unions. The mayor asked for speed not only on the Adams street job but wanted to know if repairs on the State street bridge, one of the present traffic obstructions, could be hastened.

Only one shift of workmen has been used on the State street bridge because the city refused to pay "double time" to second and third shift crews as demanded by the structural ironworkers' union. The mayor said he was leaving the matter in the hands of the public works department, headed by Col. A. A. Sprague, but felt that his department chiefs has pursued a proper course on the State street bridge.

Another Day of Congestion.

Yesterday was another day of terrific congestion in the loop with all street car and vehicular traffic moving at a snail's pace.

The city clerk's office shows a constant and tremendous increase in the number of private motor vehicles, taxicabs, busses, and street cars using the loop streets. For instance, the number of passenger cars increased nearly 80,000 in two years, light trucks more than 5,000, heavy trucks more than 3,000, and taxicabs about 1,500.

HANDS OF DEATH

TRAIN KILLS GIRL CLERK WHO WAS ALWAYS ON TIME

Miss Sylvia Metzel, 4814 Milwaukee avenue, was known as a model clerk at the Chicago and North Western general offices.

Few were the mornings when she was late, and her friends believe that characteristic was largely responsible for the accident that cost her life yesterday.

Miss Metzel hurried into a suburban station near her home just as her train was moving out. She made a desperate effort to get on the coach. Her foot slipped and she fell under the wheels.

At the Swedish Covenant hospital an operation was performed, but she died without regaining consciousness. Irving Park police are investigating the accident.

2 MORE ADDED TO AUTO DEATHS; SUSPENDS POLICE

Two men died yesterday as the result of automobile accidents and two policemen, whose machine struck and killed a pedestrian Sunday, were ordered suspended by Chief Collins.

Seventy year old Gustave Elmer, 214 East 60th street, a starter for the Chicago Surface lines, was instantly killed when he stepped from his booth at 63d street and Wentworth avenue in front of an onrushing car repair truck driven by Robert Brew of 260 West 43d street.

Dies of Injuries.

Raymond Cooper of Orland, Ill., whose machine overturned on him Sunday, was the other victim. He died of his injuries at Burnside hospital, bringing the Cook county motor death toll for the year up to 371.

Alexander Sabo, 12, 2011 Lunt avenue, received a fractured skull when he was thrown to the pavement by an automobile which William Smith, 2022 Lunt avenue, was driving. The latter was held by the police.

While attempting to cross Washington boulevard at Long avenue, Mrs. Mary Gustafson, 61, 1645 California avenue, was struck down by a motorcycle. The rider, Fred Nesser, of 5526 West Quincy street, declared that his machine skidded on the wet pavement. The woman's condition is critical.

Miss Lillian Buraneck, 20, 1522 Menard avenue, was rushed to the Sacred Heart hospital at Garrett, Ind., after she was thrown through the windshield when the car in which she was riding struck a bridge railing while attempting to pass another automobile.

Two Police Suspended.

The policemen suspended by Chief Collins were James C. Farley and Austin Qualey of the Summerdale station. The former, who was off duty, was taking the latter to work Sunday when his machine struck down Mr. and Mrs. Frank C. Taylor of 4155 North Paulina street. Taylor was killed and his wife was severely injured.

The case against F. C. Stresau of the Surf apartment hotel, treasurer of the Stresau-Becker Leather company, was continued until Oct. 15, according to Judge William E. Helander. Policeman Jefferson Kay, who arrested him at Randolph street and Michigan avenue Sunday on a charge of driving while intoxicated, reported at his station after the hearing that Stresau had been fined $25 and sentenced to the Bridewell for ten days. In denying this, Stresau said that he had been threatened with such punishment, and then had been placed on probation for forty-five days. Then the judge gave his version to the reporter, as noted above.

Deputy with Writ Finds Quarry Dead from 'Moon'

Death beat the law by a few hours yesterday when William Cabica, a deputy sheriff, went to serve a writ of dispossession on Edward Paul, 57 years old, at 5155 Wentworth avenue. He found Paul dead with a bottle of moonshine whisky beside him.

Selling Your Business? Read This Advice.

MR. L. L. RUSSELL, 1019 Irving Park Blvd., a successful business broker and an experienced advertiser, is offering advice to those who wish to find buyers for their businesses.

"I have been advertising the sale of businesses for a number of years, and I have found that the best method is to use a thoroughly descriptive Want Ad in a paper of known pulling power. The first point is important in order to give the readers a good idea of the offer; this will attract those who wish to buy something very nearly like it, and will eliminate those who would not be satisfied after inspection.

"In regard to the second requirement, I am a Tribune booster, because I have found that Tribune results are regularly good. It is seldom that more than one Tribune Want Ad is needed for each business sold. The response is always prompt, and the quality of the replies is such that a sale is quickly made. Here is one of my Want Ads:

DELICATESSEN—LONG EST.; BEAUTIFUL corner store, with living rms; cheap rent; long lease; a money making store for a couple who can fit into a white American neighborhood and have ref. for lease. Will sac. and give terms for quick sale. No dealers. Graceland 6652.

"I ordered this Want Ad to start Sunday, June 15th, to run 7 times. The delicatessen was sold Tuesday, three days after the ad started. Quick results like that make Tribune Want Ads the last word in economy."

OUR HARP OF ONE STRING.

Mayor Dever maintains that Commissioner Sprague is quite right in refusing to spend $6,000 to get the State street bridge repaired in half the time it is taking. He says it would establish a bad precedent and that the city should not save time by paying double time for overtime.

The municipal corporation, as a thing apart from the city itself, if you want to regard it as such, is saving a little money. The city with that thoroughfare closed is losing a lot of it. We do not know how many citizens can definitely figure out their losses, but in a town in which congestion is estimated at $60,000,000 a year damage such additional congestion as is caused by that closed bridge is obviously costly.

The mayor probably thinks THE TRIBUNE delights in nagging him. It isn't that. THE TRIBUNE has a great deal of admiration for him, but it cannot understand what seems to be his failure to comprehend what time and space mean to a great city. Time is money, and the city's great spaces mean the loss of it unless there is economy in time.

The State street bridge sticking in the air for days after it could have been restored to service means loss of time and money. The antiquated street car service means loss. The traffic jams mean loss. Mr. Dever's delays on constructive relief mean loss. That's what we're harping on, even if he thinks it's a harp of one string.

A POLITICAL CRIME.

The assassination of the plucky American woman, Mrs. Evans, is not an ordinary crime. It is a political act and it should have political consequences. Mrs. Evans has been fighting for rights fundamental in an ordered society. She and her husband had created values, under the laws of Mexico, which Mexican citizens under pretense of revolutionary economic reform tried to take from her. She had been besieged off and on for months in her home. Part of her property had been seized and her life had been constantly in danger. She had appealed to Señor Obregon's government for protection of life and property, and she had been given little or none. Being by marriage a British subject, the British chargé took up her case and vigorously, perhaps tactlessly, pressed for proper action on the part of the Mexican authorities. The first result was his expulsion from Mexico. The second result was the murder of Mrs. Evans.

There can be no doubt that the expulsion of the British chargé by the Mexican government was interpreted by the men who have been persecuting Mrs. Evans as an indorsement of their activities. It was natural, if not inevitable, that they should proceed to bring the affair to a satisfactory conclusion by the shortest possible route.

The blood of Mrs. Evans is on the doorstep of the present Mexican government. It is also on the doorstep of the Wilson-Bryan policy. It is one of the many tragedies in the wake of that sorry course of befuddled sentimentalism. For years the Mexicans were taught to believe that the United States was unwilling or afraid to protect its citizens' rights in Mexico or to fulfill its obligation for the protection of foreigners whose governments were withholding action on their own part out of deference to us. Meanwhile Mexican affairs have been permeated with communist notions and the authorities bullied by radical agitators bent upon confiscation of property. The attempts to take the Evans' ranch are symptomatic of a general disposition to take over the results of the superior energy, knowledge, and character of others under the guise of land reform.

Certainly there is wisdom and justice in a policy fostering distribution of productive lands and the establishment with state aid and guidance of a class of small land owners. But the confiscation of property created lawfully is not an expression of such a policy and does not lead to material progress nor to the development of a responsible nation.

The Evans case is a sign of what we may continue to expect in our Mexican relations so long as we have no policy based on realities or shaped by statesmanly foresight. It is a reminder that whatever theories we may juggle with, the region south of us cannot resist the expansive forces which work in a great nation whose genius is one of progress and development of all available resources and opportunities.

RUNNING OFF WITH THE SPOONS.

After President Doumergue of France had entertained 500 American advertising delegates and their families at the Elysée palace forty-seven gold spoons were missing. They were a part of the treasured gold plate. The palace has been searched and all the servants have been questioned. The spoons can't be found and certain inferences seem unavoidable.

Concerns which deal with the American traveling public here proceed on the rule that anything is safe if it is too big to be carried away. The French president's spoons offered a moral overstrain, the international consequences of which we'll have to accept with as much grace as people can whose compatriots seem to have swiped the tea things while being entertained by the president of a republic.

Whatever good it will do America to be regarded as a nation of porch climbers has been done by the petty larceny in the Elysée palace. We'd feel better about it if the tourists had cracked a safe or held up a mail train. Before we hear the last of this we'll have to cancel the debt. Mr. Hughes in his travels abroad need not be astonished if hereafter foreign officials in meeting him transfer their watches and wallets to places where they cannot be lifted. Nationally we'd be in better grace if we had run off with half a continent.

AROUND THE WORLD.

The misfortune of Lieut. Wade, one of the three American aviators struggling to accomplish the first flight around the world, must serve to center interest once more upon this great undertaking. For weeks of the long journey, man's dominion over the elements seemed so successful that interest waned. Now again, as at the start of the long flight, we are impressed with the fact that these young men are risking their lives in the cause of scientific and patriotic accomplishment.

Wade is believed to be out of the running. Forced down by engine trouble between the Orkneys and Iceland, and with his plane wrecked, it is probable that he must withdraw. That fact strengthens the spotlight upon the two remaining pilots, who have safely negotiated the dangerous passage into the North Atlantic. These two remain of the four who took flight in California last Spring. They have before them the supremely dangerous route from Iceland to Greenland and thence down the North Atlantic coast to the comparative safety of the overland flight across the United States. The fact that they must now look back to the downfall of two of their companions, and ahead to probably the most dangerous section of the whole journey, and are still ready and eager to continue, is something which must give a thrill of pride to the American people.

Perhaps in that alone there is justification for the whole undertaking. Information invaluable to the science of aviation unquestionably is developing from the flight. That is important to the world. But the demonstration of unfaltering human courage, daring, and vitality is of supreme importance to the people of this country who number these men among their countrymen. It is of such material that great nations are built. It is of such inspiration that strength is born.

The hopes and the prayers of all true Americans will accompany the two remaining pilots in their final dash for home, and safe accomplishment of an achievement which is well worth while in itself.

VOTING FOR LA FOLLETTE.

The American Federation of Labor's pronouncement in favor of Senator La Follette's candidacy for the Presidency is an important political event, the consequences of which must be matters of guesswork. We doubt if it will direct the course of political action as powerfully as its authors would have us believe, but if the election be close it may very well prove more influential than it could be in a two sided campaign.

Republicans will not forget that Mr. Gompers has been a sturdy Democrat and most of his followers have normally voted Democratic. Many are likely to refuse to use their ballots merely as protests. Many conservative wage earners, with a stake in business stability and continued prosperity, will refuse to assist Mr. La Follette to throw confusion into the political and economic situation.

In any case, what serious effect may be wrought by the Federation's endorsement of La Follette is more likely to be felt by Mr. Davis than by Mr. Coolidge. The endorsement is not likely to strengthen Mr. La Follette with conservative farmers. In fact it may very well weaken him among those who have been wavering in their traditional allegiance to Republicanism.

The declaration against both major parties is good campaign rhetoric of the time-tried school of political exaggeration. We doubt if the great mass of wage earners, employed at high wages and conscious of a steady advance in material conditions, are going to take it for more than the rank and file of the other parties take the thunders of denunciation in their respective party platforms. Americans, wage earners as well as others, are inclined to be practical in the voting booth, and what wage earner wants to produce the period of confusion which the giving to La Follette of a balance of power would certainly bring about? The adjustment of reparations and the consequent gradual restoration of competitive pressure upon us from Europe make imperative a consistent American policy. A paralysis or confusion of policy means injury to our industry and commerce which will strike at once at the present prosperity of wage earners throughout the country.

La Follette with his commitments to his radical following, whose ideas the American Federation sanely repudiates, can make mischief, if he gets enough votes to count, but neither American wage earners nor American farmers can afford to spend their votes to give him that opportunity.

The Other Side

[Illinois State Register.]

Republican newspapers are telling the farmers, with a great display of banner line type, that they are a billion dollars richer because of the recent rise in the price of corn and wheat, due principally to the crop shortage.

The farmer who has sold his last year's crops at a losing price and who doesn't know what he is going to get out of this year's crop because the crop itself is a dubious proposition is not going to count his money until he sells his grain.

Furthermore he is not going to ascribe any profit that he may make to the Republican party, which is what these editors and the party spellbinders would have him do.

"Since January 2 this year," says the St. Louis Post-Dispatch, "the gain in wheat up to July 17, the peak, has been about 24 cents, and since June 2, about 26 cents. These are the highest gains recorded, and not the average. The price of corn in the same periods has risen about 35 cents. If the farmers had the total corn crop of last year, taking the price of the July option during January, which is higher, of course, than the cash price, the farmers would have had to hold their entire crop of last year for sale on July 17, in order to make $1,000,000,000 additional profit on the crop. If the wheat farmers held the entire wheat crop of last year until July 17 and sold at the peak, in comparison with the January price, they would have made only about $200,000,000. With the entire crops of the coming year selling at the July peak, the farmers would gain over last year less than $1,000,000,000."

These are rough estimates, but they show the utter absurdity and falsity of the claim that the farmers are a billion dollars richer.

If there is anything more so it is the intimation that the Republican party and its tariff or other acts have anything to do with the rise in prices.

If Coolidge had any idea that his increase in the tariff on wheat would raise prices, why didn't he raise the tariff when the farmers had wheat on hand so they would get the benefit of the rise in prices?

It is also a queer coincidence that wheat last week sold 10 cents a bushel higher in Winnipeg than in Chicago, notwithstanding the tariff of 42 cents a bushel against Canadian wheat.

BABY HOSPITALS.

In some cities there are baby pavilions located directly on the shores of large bodies of water. In Chicago the Daily News operates such a pavilion on the water's edge in Lincoln park. Near Rochester, N. Y., a baby hospital has been located on the shore of Lake Ontario. In New York the babies are kept during the heat of the day on piers, on boats anchored at piers and on boats that travel out on to the bay or sound during the heat of the day. In El Paso a baby home high up in the nearby mountains is operated during the heated period.

The thought in all of these installations is that high atmospheric temperature is hard on young babies and in many homes the walls are too thin, the roof is too low, and the cooking stove is too near at hand for conditions favorable to the health of babies. In some places the wards and rooms of baby hospitals are cooled artificially.

A theater or restaurant that does not advertise cooled air in the dog days has trouble maintaining itself in the face of competition.

In his work on tropical hygiene Balfour goes a long step in advance of any of these procedures, at least in so far as advice is concerned. He says that man, in order to live in cold climates, first invented types of houses suitable for this purpose and then acquired the custom of heating them. The art of cooling is about as well developed as is the art of heating. He advises that white people who want to live in comfort and health in the tropics equip their houses with apparatus for cooling the air. He might have gone further and advised people who live in temperate climates to equip their homes with cooling appliances to be used in hot weather.

Dr. Bennett of Waterloo, Ia., tells me of a method used in India, I think, at times. The air is brought into the house through a "S" shaped duct. This duct dips into the ground many times before reaching the house. While passing through each of these under-the-ground stretches the air is cooled. He has a better plan, I think. His proposed house has a clean, closed, properly walled subbasement. The air for ventilation passes into this subbasement, where it is cooled to a comfortable temperature by the earth; from this subbasement the cool air is carried through ducts to the living room. Fans for moving this air into the subbasement and from there through the ducts and into the rooms will probably be required.

BOY IS POISONED.

Mrs. V. H. S. writes: We have a boy who has a breaking out on his hands. He is 13 years old. Had it about two months last summer and tried everything, and as soon as he started work it commenced to itch and break out in small water blisters.

REPLY.

The boy is being poisoned by something in some way connected with his job.
Is it poison ivy?

PREVENTING LEG CRAMPS.

Mrs. J. C. O. writes: There is no need to have cramps in the legs. I am 70 and I never have them unless I invite them and then I have them terribly. But as soon as I stop inviting them, I have them no more. The way to invite them is to allow the leg to hang over an edge.

Cramps do not come in normal walking or in dancing. But let the foot hang over an edge in bed at night and the cramp will surely come. The most common form of trouble is when the mattress slips down and hangs over the foot of the spring. This little slope is peculiarly deadly if the foot slips down over it. But equally deadly is the edge of a folded quilt or pad under the sheet one is sleeping on. It is amazing what the insignificant edge of a folded quilt will inflict in the way of a cramp, as the leg lies on it a long time in sleep.

A hollow in the bed will have the same effect. Something gets compressed or bent, and this shuts off the circulation, or relaxes some tendon, and the muscle begins to "holler." By seeing to it every night that the plane of the bed is absolutely even under the sheet, with no folds from one side to the other, the whole absolutely horizontal, there will be no cramps to wake one up. In getting out of bed keep the legs straight with no unusual twists. Instead of accepting night cramps as an unavoidable accompaniment of old age, keep your lower sheet absolutely horizontal and laugh at fate, free from any trace of cramps, as I do.

ADVICE FOR WOMEN.

R. J. G. writes:
1. What is the best laxative that can be taken?
2. Is constipation the cause of painful menstruation?
3. How can one overcome the above?
4. How often can one take a laxative without causing trouble?

REPLY.

1. Vegetables, bran, water.
2. No.
3. If you mean constipation, change your eating habits. If you mean painful menstruation send a stamped addressed envelope for a copy of "Personal Hygiene for Women."
4. If you mean laxative medicines don't take 'em.

HOW TO KILL MOTHS.

E. I. writes: I wonder what you would advise as a destroyer for the moth. Although this is a strong statement, one lady said she found even formaldehyde ineffective.

REPLY.

The lady is truthful. All ladies are, for that matter.

All bugs and insects resist formalin fumes. Much the best agent to kill moths is this new combination of chlorine and hydrocyanic acid. The United States Public Health Service uses it with success. The chlorine is irritating and warns of the presence of the deadly hydrocyanic gas. But unless you know how to use it, you will have to forego this method. Burning sulphur is satisfactory. Powdered naphthalene is the best repellent.

To protect clothing, brush and clean very thoroughly. After that, pack the clothing away in a tight container with moth balls or naphthalene.

THE FORTY DOLLAR FEE.

Chicago, July 28.—[To the Friend of the People.]—I purchased a house on monthly payment contract, with a $3,000 first mortgage. The following clause appears in the contract:

"Deed to be given when all incumbrances and interest have been reduced to $3,000. Also guaranty policy or abstract to be furnished at the same time, brought down to date."

My payments having been completed, I secured guaranty policy, but seller paid title and trust company's fees down to date of contract only, necessitating my paying about $40 in fees from date of contract to present date.

Can I not hold seller for this $40? F. B.

We would be of the opinion that you are entitled to collect unless you have waived such right.

TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

A, B, AND C.

Chicago, July 28.—[To the Legal Friend of the People.]—A lends B $500, taking his note. A sells the note to C. Before maturity B pays the debt to A by check, but fails to get his canceled note. At maturity C tries to collect from B. A in the meantime has become insolvent and left the country. Is B liable to C for the amount, presuming the above happened in Illinois? P. R. W.

Yes. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

NO HOT WATER OR HEAT.

Chicago, July 28. — [To the Legal Friend of the People.]—Is there any law compelling a man to pay rent for hot water and heat when he don't get it? D. C.

No, there is not, but the law does compel him to pay rent for premises that he is occupying. In other words minor defaults by the landlord do not justify the tenant in a total refusal to pay rent for the period during which the tenant is in possession. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

ESTABLISHMENT OF A NEW PARK.

Chicago, July 30.—[To the Friend of the People.]—Are we going to have a new park on West 16th street, between South Keeler avenue and South Kolin avenue? If so, how soon? H. S.

WASHINGTON.—President McKinley is determined on a more vigorous policy in the Philippines in order to bring the war there to an end before congress assembles. Gen. Miles probably will be sent to the Philippines personally to conduct the campaign.

NEW YORK.—Surrounded by a hooting, jeering crowd of several hundred William Waldorf Astor, New York's millionaire who expatriated himself to England, was burned in effigy in Longacre square. Across the chest of the figure was the sign, "Astor, the Traitor."

CHICAGO.—Schuyler W. Livingston of Beverly Hills was elected president and Miss Daisy Stinson, 113 California avenue, secretary of the Young People's Christian union at its convention in Pittsburgh.

CAPE TOWN.—Cecil Rhodes, in a speech to the house of assembly, said he believed the Transvaal difficulty with England "will be overcome in a few months without a shot being fired."

NEW YORK. — "Smiling John" Kelly, friend and ally of Croker, Tweed, and James Keene and a power in politics, but who held to the rule he made when 19 never to accept an appointment to or nomination for an office, is dead. He was a noted figure at racetracks and made large winnings in the betting rings.

CHICAGO.—Siren, the fastest yacht of its class on the lakes, left for Toronto and the international yacht races, a 1,500 mile trip. The yacht is manned by Commodore George R. Peare, Capt. E. J. Buscey, Elmer Hamlin, Edward Younglove, J. Pratt, E. J. Cotherell, J. Erick, and Edward Ebbers.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

AUG. 5, 1914.

LONDON.—Great Britain declared war on Germany at 7 o'clock last night. The official statement says, "a state of war exists from 11 p. m., Aug. 4." A proclamation by King George commanding the mobilization of the army was read from the steps of the Royal exchange. Within a few hours between 500,000 and 600,000 troops will be under arms and on their way to the coast.

BRUSSELS.—Belgium is prepared for war. It is reported that following a demand by the Germans for the surrender of Liege a battle followed, in which the Germans were repulsed.

LONDON.—A British mine laying ship has been sunk by a German fleet. The British torpedo boat destroyer Pathfinder was pursued by the fleet, but escaped.

PARIS.—Two German cruisers have been sunk and one captured by a French fleet returning from Trieste. Unofficial dispatches say that a naval battle is in progress off the French coast.

WASHINGTON. — President Wilson asked congress to place at his disposal $2,500,000 to aid stranded Americans in Europe in getting home.

WASHINGTON. — President Wilson issued a proclamation of neutrality toward the warring European nations.

CHICAGO.—Frederic A. Delano accepted President Wilson's offer of a place on the federal reserve board.

CHICAGO.—The Hyde Park bank, a private institution, closed its doors. It has no connection with the Hyde Park State bank.

CHICAGO.—Chicago folks are fearful for the safety of relatives in Germany since the German government has ruled that no Americans now there may leave the country, at least for the present.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

BUMMING WEST.

The prairies stretch from the sun to the moon
With long low hills between,
And a single tree points into blue
Like a finger, gaunt and lean.

The telephone poles stalk grandly
Down the hot white road,
And the red-winged blackbirds hover
Where a stream once flowed.

And here a herd of horses
Scatter at a sound,
Leaving faintest hoof-prints

Devie Nay.

THE CABLE YESTERDAY brought the news that the old war restrictions had been withdrawn and that Germany is going to have beer with six per cent of alcohol. Now, doggone it, who won the war?

Avaunt! You Average Man.

To Ludicrous Luke: If you will tell me some good reason why I should have any use for the average man, I will try to return the favor by telling you why you should like women. The only men I take an interest in are ex-service men like Our Bill and Merely Harold, who, after all these years, are still patiently suffering. No woman could spend eight months overseas working and suffering with them and ever be indifferent to them. But I find the average man about town just about as interesting as a last year's railroad time table. GRACE.

CHIEF COLLINS says he is going to have the policeladies censor the bathing suits on the Chicago beaches. Oh, those are bathing suits, aren't they? Well, well! We thought they were tattoo marks.

JUDAS.

Across the interstellar voids the last reveille was blown, and sheeted shapes in graveyard-mold resumed the forms they wore of old, and mustered round the Throne. And thousands in that last review stood mute, and sore afraid; but, suave of speech and smooth of tone, Iscariot came before the Throne, unmoved and undismayed.

And "May it please the Court," he said, "to scan the pleadings drawn, wherein each clause hath laid to me the vilest crime that has been known e'er since Creation's dawn. Now, doth not such atrocious guilt reveal a twisted brain? A crime of such a hideous kind implies a warped, distorted mind—not crazed, yet hardly sane.

"Yet, had my guilt been less profound, no court could hear my plea; for normal sins of average weight reveal no paranoiac state—to set the prisoner free. But, since no treason matcheth mine—from Father Adam down, then, may I not attain to grace, and with the angels find a place, in snow-white robe and crown?" B. W. W.

You Keep Away From Us.

R. H. L.: I am worried since the report of the allenists. Y'see I, too, look at the moon over my left shoulder, pick up pins, hate my algebra teacher and everything, and kill mosquitoes! And I read detective stories. All right, I surrender. Come and get me. SHAKEY.

SOME PEOPLE are all exercised because Digger Dever doesn't have work on the State street bridge rushed by keeping the boys on the job on Sunday. We hate to call attention to it, but the workmen are not digging the subway on Sunday, either. Nor on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday.

Sh! Careful! Dismal Dave Must Not Know This.

To Vangie's Papa: Dismal Dave otta keep Vangie long enough to learn her vengeful nature. Howinell CAN you print his future stuff with Vangie back home? Doesn't he know she'd chew 'em up before you got a chance to make good your promise? O. W. D.

VANGIE, COME BACK! One of our letters yesterday said: "Have pity on those poor, dear boys. Oh, if you were only a mother." If we were a mother, with a nice little boy running around that some intellectual, pampered thrill chaser was liable to bump on the head with a chisel, we're afraid we'd get rough, dearie; we're afraid we'd get rough.

A-GYPSYING.

Give me a long road that leads away
Through the fields of clover and ripening hay;
Out, where the green-splashed meadows lie,
Out in the open 'neath the blue sky;
I would follow for once where fancy holds sway,
Whether main road, or by-road, or any old way.
On a green tablecloth by the roadside I'd dine,
With a bird orchestra and sun-filtered wine,
And at night, when the lanterns of heaven hang high,
I would sleep 'neath the trees, while the moon sails by
O the world far away,—this, my abode!

GYPSY JANE.

A LIFE GUARD rescued a lady from drowning in the lake the other night and she punched him on the chin and the beak. If we'd been the life guard we'd have let her walk in and get sand on her shoes and everything.

DE MORTUIS NIL NISI BONUM.

Sir: One knows (or, at least, one prefers to think) that there is sense in everything; so there must be some sense in these letters inspired by my essay on the late Mr. J. B. Cabell. But to find it is less easy. Howbeit, they are simple enough to explain: Years ago some one (it must have been Henry James) said that we were a nation of sentimentalists; and the world, having looked us over, felt that it must be so. There were so many things about us that could not be explained otherwise. It is to this, indubitably, that we owe the pale, the wistful prestige that Mr. Cabell now enjoys in Suburbia. De mortuis nil nisi bonum! chant their subconscious selves as they rattle his bones through the Line! For Mr. Cabell is indeed dead, very dead; killed by kindness, at that. And the genealogy of the Puysanges, of which we heard so much in those hot summer days following that ludicrous blunder of the S. S. V., is depressing beyond words when recounted, as it is in "The High Place" from beyond the grave. But we are incurably, we are nationally sentimental, and there is something almost fetichistic about our regard for the Latinic syllables—de mortuis nil nisi bonum! HELEN HENNA.

AND THE LIFE GUARD who rescued the beautiful lady from drowning in the lake was Mr. F. Coldbath. Open the great polished doors of the Academy, Hank! This way, Mr. Coldbath.

Don't you cry;
You'll be an alibi

END CRIME BY ELIMINATING THE CRIMINAL LAWYER.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—THE TRIBUNE is doing the public good service in its campaign against crime, but think it is "barking up the wrong stump." Eliminate the criminal attorney, and punishment for crime becomes almost sure.

The average criminal attorney, however, does his level best to turn loose again on the public criminals that he knows are guilty and whom he must know will go right back to their old career of crime, simply because they pay him for so doing. He asks extensions to wear out witnesses for the state. He "squares" others with money from his client. He bullies others on the stand though he must know they are speaking the truth. He takes advantage of every legal technicality and too often he introduces testimony that he must know is perjured. And as long as we allow attorneys to defend criminals for what the criminal pays them, we must expect said attorneys to do their best for their clients, which means the worst for the public. Why not start a campaign to eliminate the criminal lawyer entirely by electing a public defender as well as a public prosecutor, and swear them both on taking office to strive only to arrive at the truth in the case? Thus the poor man and the wealthy would have the same legal talent on their side if accused of crime. GEORGE WILLIAMS.

CUT THE WEEDS AND SAVE THE HAY FEVER VICTIMS.

Chicago, July 30.—Now that the hay fever season is imminent, would ask that you kindly ascertain what steps our Chicago Health Department contemplates taking to have the ragweeds cut on vacant lots and abutting parkways, this summer. Thousands of victims of this malady suffer annually in Chicago through the neglect of our health department to carry out the provision of an ordinance enacted by the health department about eight years ago, compelling owners to have the weeds cut on their vacant lots and parkways. This ordinance was enforced at that period and not only gave much relief to hay fever victims but also eliminated lurking places for the criminally inclined.

Last summer the writer attempted to get some action through the health department towards the cutting of weeds in the section bounded by Kedzie avenue and the river and between Irving Park boulevard and Montrose, and was told the health department had overlooked having the weed cutting ordinance rewritten in the ordinances; also that if it was a law that they had not sufficient help to make it operative, and lastly that it should be a police function to report location of lots needing weed cutting.

This subject is of vital interest to a large and growing group of your readers and this appeal is made to you in their behalf in order that you may use your influence to get something started at the city hall, in time to give us some relief this summer.

HAY FEVER VICTIM.

NO DOG DAYS IF YOU'RE GOOD TO THE DOG.

Chicago, Aug. 1.—Just finished reading the item in today's issue by W. B. Freeman, and notice that he says in this item that "Every dog in Chicago and elsewhere should at all times—even before dog days—be either muzzled or killed."

I was brought up with a dog and I don't think I ever had a better friend.

If a dog was given the proper care there wouldn't be any dog days. There are only three years in all my life that I can remember not having a dog and those three years were pretty hard considering that I had been used to having a dog all the other times. I never had any trouble with any of my dogs and that was because I gave them the right kind of treatment.

So many of these people get bit by dogs because they tease them or hit them with a stick or strap.

I'm not the kind of person that believes in a woman kissing and hugging a poodle, but I'm a staunch upholder of doghood. MARGARET L. SCHWINGEL.

HOW TO KEEP THE MURDER SCORE DOWN.

Jackson, Mich., Aug. 1.—Does McCutcheon really want to know how to keep the score down? Well, here is my best recollection of the British rules:

First day murder, second day murderer caught, third day coroner's inquest before twelve jurymen with all evidence produced. Verdict, guilty; time, one day, maybe two. Fifth day, full trial again before police judge without jury; no known evidence held back; verdict guilty again, held to the High Court of Assize, which convenes every three months.

Assize court jury of twelve selected like our grand jury, and they try all cases, including this one. Time of trial not over five days, mostly less than one day. No adjournments or picking jurymen, or expert alienists, or scrapping attorneys, or points of law, or photographers' flashlights, or noisy spectators. All is quiet and solemn as in a cathedral at service time.

Verdict is guilty, only one penalty applies for willful murder, and his majesty's judge, attired in gown and wig, at once "assumes the black cap" and names the third Friday from today. Fourthly, the home secretary of state, representing the king, may commute the death penalty to life imprisonment under extenuating circumstances, but very seldom does so.

Friday the drop falls, an interval of not over four months between the murder and the penalty.

How to do it, John, is to exact prompt penalties to all criminals; accent on the prompt. Cut out the delays, sentiment, crookedness, technicalities, politics, perjury, bunk—O, John, what's the use!

Our people want it that way so what can you and I do about it?

T. S. PEMBERTON.

A CITIZENS' CAMP STUDENTS VIEW OF DEFENSE.

Fort Winfield Scott, Cal., July 26.—As I am finishing this year's camp of the C. M. T. C. training in coast artillery at Fort Winfield Scott, San Francisco, I wish to express my feelings toward the National Defense act. It certainly is giving every young man a chance to get out with his fellow beings and learn something about the defense of his country, which means that the country will be in better condition to defend itself.

LYTTLETON P. DRYDEN.

WHEN THE TALKERS CAN'T BE TUNED OUT.

Chicago, July 31.—I am entirely in accord with the writer in today's column who was "disgusted" with those whose talking disturbed him at the concert. The past decade has noticed a decline in the people's genuine enjoyment of the better music. The reason is two-fold—the radio and the theater organ. Many people "tune in" and let the loud speaker compete with them in an evening's visiting. The "king of instruments"—minus the majestic diapason tone, and in its stead everything from sleigh bells to the naughty sounding "sax"—has invaded every movie house. These two instruments have lowered our appreciation of music. There is nothing wicked about the theater organ, nor is the radio without its good points; but it is annoying to go to church expecting to enjoy the prelude and hear the stage whispers of two gossiping fishwives—". . . yes, we fry ours in butter!"

C. O. WHALEY.

THE JOKE OF JUSTICE.

Cicero, Ill., July 31.—Here you have it in a nutshell:

Some time ago I wrote Gov. Len Small regarding too promiscuous paroling of criminals and in reply he said he agreed with me fully, but he said: "It is not generally understood that many of the criminals who are paroled are not paroled by the governor, but by the judges of the courts in which they have been convicted." Why all the paroling? I sometimes think it would not be a bad idea to organize a vigilance committee in Chicago to see if some of the violent crimes could not be combatted. As things stand now, your criminal is law unto himself. Justice is certainly a joke.

OBREGON ORDERS STRICT INQUIRY IN EVANS MURDER

Letter from Slain Woman Tells of Threats.

tion comes under the direct jurisdiction of the American embassy, which previously was acting in the matter because it took over British affairs in Mexico following the departure last July of Charge Cummins. The Evans case had brought about the withdrawal of Cummins.

The United States embassy has already taken steps necessary to assure the possession of the hacienda for Mrs. Evans' heirs, while her Mexico City apartment has been sealed to safeguard important documents regarding her case which she kept there.

American Champion Missing.

The whereabouts of George Camp, an American engineer who abandoned his contracting business in Mexico City four months ago to go to the Evans' hacienda and assist the owner in her battle against agrarian aggressions, still is unknown. It has been learned, however, that he left the ranch several days ago when Strauss was employed as manager.

Camp's testimony is expected to figure prominently in the United States and British inquiries into the murder, since he is said to have information regarding evidence Mrs. Evans declared she had obtained on the agrarian plots against her. The plotters, it is said, planned to dispossess her from her hacienda and kill her if she persisted in resistance.

Camp is also said to have helped Mrs. Evans on various occasions when, at the points of pistols, she drove off armed agrarians who had invaded her property.

LONG EXPECTED MURDER

BY FREDERICK NEUMEIER.
[Chicago Tribune Foreign News Service.]
[Copyright: 1924: By The Chicago Tribune.]

Mexico City, Aug. 4.—Mrs. Rosalie Evans, who was murdered last Saturday night while taking a pay roll to her hacienda in Puebla, had long expected assassination and had left instructions with her attorney and relatives that she be buried at the side of her husband in the British cemetery here, it was made known today.

This morning Mrs. Evans' home here presented a gloomy picture. The shutters had been closed by two Indian female servants, who received THE TRIBUNE representative with tears. They had prepared the room where the body will rest. Already two small sprays of white flowers and two candlesticks await the arrival of the body of their mistress.

Embassy Is Silent.

With the arrival of the body tomorrow arrangements will be made for the burial. Masons will attend, and also prominent members of the Anglo-American colony, where Mrs. Evans was esteemed. It is expected a sister from San Francisco will arrive for the funeral.

Meanwhile the American embassy is mute touching the progress of the inquiry, while the government office replies with a laconic statement that the investigation is proceeding.

British here feel that, whatever the rights or the wrongs of the case, nothing can justify the cold-blooded murder, and that Great Britain and the United States should not be satisfied with less than complete reparation by the authors and a full inquiry leading to a definite settlement of the case.

Letter Tells of Fight.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 4.—[By the Associated Press.]—For several weeks before Mrs. Rosalie Evans was shot and killed near her hacienda in the state of Puebla, Mexico, she had been forced to live in an embattled state, despite assurances from the American ambassador, Charles B. Warren, that she would be protected and that she had nothing to fear, said a letter received from Mrs. Evans by her sister, Mrs. W. J. Pettus, here. Mrs. Pettus is the wife of the commanding officer at the Marine hospital here.

"A friend," Mrs. Evans wrote, "was in the pueblo (San Martin) yesterday and was in Gen. Almazan's anteroom. While there he heard attachés say that they had a special order pertaining to me, signed by President Obregon. They intended to march to San Pedro and hang the señora on one of her own trees."

CARDINAL AND PRIESTS VISIT MUNDELEIN HERE

His Eminence Cardinal Denis J. Dougherty of Philadelphia, accompanied by several monsignors and priests, passed through Chicago yesterday on his return to Philadelphia from Fresno, Cal., where he consecrated to the bishopric the Rt. Rev. Joseph MacGinley.

Cardinal Dougherty and party were driven to St. John's Catholic church, 18th and South Clark streets, where they were guests of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. William D. O'Brien, pastor of St. John's, who, in the absence of the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Francis C. Kelley, recently appointed Bishop of Oklahoma, is acting president and general secretary of the Church Extension society.

Cardinal Dougherty, one of the four princes of the Catholic church in America, was created a cardinal in 1921.

Mgr. Ledvina, one of the visitors, was for eleven years in Chicago, in the Church Extension society, until three years ago, when he was consecrated bishop of Corpus Christi, Tex.

PICKPOCKETS TAKE HIS $60.

Pickpockets robbed David Jones, an employé of the White Weld company, 134 South La Salle street, yesterday of $60. He was standing on an "L" platform at Roosevelt road when he discovered the theft.

Elmer Gets Assortment of Bad Blows

In Addition Makes a Startling Confession.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

Between 9 and 9:15, out of a thousand crashes and code signals, heard an orchestra from Dixon, Ill., at WOC, Davenport, play "National Emblem" march, and a cornet and saxophone duet.

At 9:15, WLW, Cincinnati, dance orchestra playing at the Zoological gardens. Fading was pronounced, but during the crest of the wave the tones were quite pleasing.

A soprano solo from somewhere; one of those slow ones that put you to sleep. But not this time, for I received a couple of awful bangs—not soft, curly ones, but sharp, stingy ones. It was WHO, Des Moines, "Somewhere a Voice Is Calling," a baritone solo followed. Then a soprano number, "The Lilac Tree."

At 9:35, WLW, Cincinnati, picked up tenor and soprano arias and duets, accompanied by orchestra, that sounded like operatic music, but couldn't recognize the tones and never settled this point throughout the entire evening. And with KSD, St. Louis, off the air—what's the world coming to?

9:47, picked up WTAM, Cleveland, coming in with a violin solo, "The Lost Chord." This station showed good tone, and probably will be a good one to tune in this fall and winter.

A few minutes later found a soprano solo coming in from what the dial marking would indicate WHAZ, Troy, but couldn't prove it by the announcer. His remarks were lost in the shuffle.

For a change, came nearer home—to WCBD, Zion, at 10:05, hearing "The Old Rugged Cross," a request number, played by L. H. Hire, violinist, and accompanied at the piano by Mr. Hire's mother. The next number was a piano duet, "King of the Forest," played by the Wiedman sisters. This was the best number heard during the evening.

At last, from WCAE, Pittsburgh, a joke; a whole monologue string of them. If you heard this you will remember the one about the lady buying a pair of silk stockings, trying them on behind the counter, the floor walker ordering any one fired who looked, and the salesman losing his job. Anyhow, the orchestra then played "When Lights Are Low."

Back to the opera puzzle at WLW. Found the announcer and old man static talking about the Western & Southern orchestra, but old man static concluded the argument for me.

At 10:40, a tenor solo at WCAE, Pittsburgh, "What Will I Do?"

Flood KYW with request for the opera.

FOOD ADVERTISERS ~ Here's the Way to Sell the Women in Cleveland's Great 3,000,000 Market

The Plain Dealer has the BUYERS

The Plain Dealer's Daily Magazine Pages are an institution among the women of Cleveland and Northern Ohio. They have grown in popularity to a point where often as many as four of these pages appear in a single issue. Their recipes, menus, fashion hints, food articles, news stories, all are written by women to women about women's activities.

For ten years the Plain Dealer Food Page has been putting back of food advertising a definite and a powerful selling force.

TELL them your story in the Cleveland Plain Dealer — the paper to which Northern Ohio women naturally turn for advice on what to buy.

No newspaper in America has a more loyal, more enthusiastic or more worth-while feminine following. And no food campaign—no campaign advertising any household product in this prosperous section of the country can be complete without the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Go through any issue of the Plain Dealer and note the items of interest to women. Note, too, the tremendous bulk of advertisements directed to women—advertisements placed by concerns who year after year have found their advertising in the Plain Dealer increasingly profitable to them.

For the Plain Dealer has the buyers—among the women as well as the men.

And it has the buyers in the food trade as well as among the consumers.

There are 10,114 retail grocers, meat shops and delicatessens in the Plain Dealer's territory. Also 47% of all the wholesalers of food products in Ohio.

The Plain Dealer is the only newspaper that will reach this trade—and sell it. For the food trade knows the Plain Dealer as a builder of sales—a newspaper that creates and holds for them a steady, persistent demand for advertised goods.

If you have a household commodity to sell, the Plain Dealer can help you. Whether you are seeking to put new vitality and a new interest behind a well-established brand or to win distribution and ready acceptance for an article that is entirely new—strong, consistent advertising in the Cleveland Plain Dealer will make the job easier for you.

The Plain Dealer Merchandising Department is at your service. Its personnel consists of men and women who know the Plain Dealer's market and how to sell it most economically. A letter, wire or phone call will bring a Plain Dealer representative to your office at a time convenient to you.

Links with the Dearborn Station Roads.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

PRESIDENT C. H. MARKHAM.

President C. H. Markham of the Illinois Central announced yesterday that a new connecting right of way, stretching westward between 18th and 20th streets, "has been purchased, practically speaking." The lane for the steel rails runs from the main tracks of the road east of Indiana avenue to a point west of State street, where it can be linked up with the Santa Fe and other railroads using the Dearborn street station.

This short but important right of way opens a path for railroads entering the city from the west to enter the new I. C. terminal as a permanent home. Consequently this path may reasonably be expected to hasten a decision of what shall be done in developing the south side railroad territory between State street and the river.

Surprise to Property Owners.

Many interested property owners thought that the new link right of way would be near 22d street, not only because of the wording in the franchise ordinance but also because of the gossip about it for the last four years. But it is near the line of what would be 19th street, if it were extended eastward to the I. C. tracks. The proposed ordinance of the Santa Fé which is pending in the city council provides for an I. C. right of way extending westward along Archer avenue from State street. This ordinance, coupled with the Markham statement, indicates clearly that the I. C. would be glad to have other road tenants.

Markham Is Cheerful.

With the acquisition of all of the real estate the I. C. desires, President Markham was taking a cheerful view on the world yesterday, so he was asked why the I. C. was not electrified long ago.

"We were set ready to go about thirteen years ago," he replied. "We reached our first agreement with the South Park commision March 30, 1912, and the revised agreement June 26, 1912. Then for nearly eight years we were hung up on a peg. We did not reach an agreement with the city until Feb. 5, 1920. Now answering your question direct, the I. C. would have been electrified in 1916 or 1917, if we had had the governmental authority to proceed when we were ready to go."

BOND SALESMAN DROPS DEAD ON OCEAN LINER

Alexander W. Seabrease, 55 years old, 7657 Greenview avenue, a stock and bond salesman, dropped dead yesterday in his stateroom on board the liner Pan American as the vessel was within three miles of New York. Overexertion, against the advice of the ship's physician, is given as the cause for the sudden stroke of heart disease.

Seabrease sailed early in July for Buenos Aires in hope of regaining his health. Before the ship reached Rio de Janeiro he was stricken with pneumonia. He was taken off at Rio and placed in a hospital to await the arrival of the Pan American for the return home.

JURISTS STRONG FOR A COUNCIL TO STOP CRIME

He added that if the council considered his membership advisable he will take an active part in its work.

In support of his belief that there would be no reason why he should not cooperate in work for the suppression of crime, he called attention to a provision in the state constitution of the state of Illinois, which provision, he said, is now being generally followed. It is this:

'All judges of courts of record, inferior to the Supreme court, shall, on or before the first day of June of each year, report in writing to the judges of the Supreme court such defects and omissions in the laws as their experience may suggest; and the judges of the Supreme court shall, on or before the first day of January of each year, report in writing to the governor such defects and omissions in the constitution and laws as they may find to exist, together with appropriate forms of bills to cure such defects and omissions in the laws."

Suggests Repeal of One Law.

One law, which, in his opinion, should be repealed, he said, is the one that makes juries the judges of the law, as well as of the facts.

There are so many other ways in which the laws might be strengthened, and more properly applied, he said, that the council should prove of great and immediate aid in reducing crime.

Others who approved the proposed council were Judge Oscar Hebel, of the Superior court, and Judge Hugo M. Friend, of the Circuit court. Judge Hebel said:

"Any effort by citizens and officials to suppress crime is highly commendable. It always is well to impress on the wrongdoer that the public is interested in seeing that the criminal is prosecuted, giving them, of course, their rights under the law.

"A safe community is always a prosperous one. Lawlessness detracts from the people's sense of security and creates a feeling of uneasiness.

"With our daily murders, scores of burglaries and holdups, the time has come to strike with every available force at the roots of the crime situation."

Judge Friend's Views.

Judge Friend said: "Many suggestions would grow out of meetings for an 'anti-crime council' that could be submitted to the legislature for improving the city's law enforcement facilities.

"As the laws now stand, too many safeguards are thrown around the criminal. There is too much delay in the administration of justice, and criminals are contemptuous of law."

OLD TIME COP LEAVES ESTATE OF $350,000

Patrick J. Ryan, one time policeman and later known as a capitalist and investor, who died last May, left an estate valued at $350,000, according to the will filed in the Probate court yesterday.

Six nephews, six nieces, three grand nephews, and two grand nieces share in the distribution. Joseph Connery, fire commissioner, is given a special bequest of $2,000. He is also named co-executive with William J. Burke, 4537 Drexel boulevard, a nephew.

Mother Discovers Them Drowned.

Edward and Ruth Seigel, aged 7 and 5 respectively, children of Mr. and Mrs. Orville Seigel, 359 East 55th street, loved to sail boats and swans, and their mother had drawn a bathtub full of water for them to play in yesterday while she was getting ready to take them downtown.

"Everything all right?" she called out once or twice, and Edward answered "Sure!"

Finds Them Drowned.

A neighbor from across the hall dropped in for a little chat, and a few minutes later the mother was conscious of a sudden quiet—usually you could hear them laughing and splashing the water! She rushed to the door: there they lay, locked in each other's arms—with the toys floating idly above them.

She fainted, and the neighbor, Mrs. Maas, lifted the limp little bodies from the tub and called the 50th street police station. Pulmotor squads, physicians, and police worked with them for over an hour, but there was no response either to artificial respiration or stimulating injections.

Father Grief-Stricken.

"If it had happened at the beach, I could understand it," said the father, Orville Seigel, "but here, right here, at home! I don't see how—I don't see how!"

They think perhaps the little girl dived in after a boat—she had watched diving over at the beach with her parents—and dragged the brother in after her when he tried to help her up. There were no bruises to show that they had fallen or been stunned.

Explorer Cook Loses Plea for Habeas Corpus Writ

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 4.—The plea of Dr. Frederick A. Cook, former explorer and convicted oil promoter, for release on a writ of habeas corpus was refused today by Federal Judge Wilson. Judge Wilson said he would have granted the writ if such action had come within his authority. Dr Cook is facing a prison term of fourteen years and a fine of $12,000 for his oil promotions.

Man Who Shot Tenant and Parents Surrenders

Howard Gribben, who, in a rent squabble with a tenant, Emory Barquetto, last Saturday, shot and wounded Barquetto and also slightly injured both his father and his mother with bullets, will appear in court today in answer to a charge of assault with intent to kill. Gribben, after eluding Marquette police since the shooting, calmly walked into the police station yesterday, gave himself up, admitted his part in the fight, and was later released on bail.

WHEN The Carnation Milk Products Company perfected its product, it sent milk to Japan and back on a sailing vessel—to prove that Carnation Milk would stand up.

Great products are hardly ever great by accident. Back of them stand huge expenditures of time and money. Hearst's International, like Carnation Milk, is spending millions to make itself the best that the money can buy. Read "THE PART-TIME WIFE" by Oscar Graeve, in August.

A New Home For Your Dog? Call an Adtaker.

A DOG is a wonderful pal, but conditions arise that force even the best friends to part. When this becomes necessary the true dog lover wants to find a good home for his pet. If there are no friends who can take it into their home, a Tribune Want Ad can always find someone who wants a dog and will pay a good price for one.

Mrs. David Klopfer, 7317 Euclid Ave., met not one but many such people when she offered Birney, her police dog, for sale through this Want Ad on June 22nd:

"I sold Birney for a good price to the first man that called Sunday morning," she said. "He is a very valuable dog, and I wanted to find a nice home for him because of this, and also because he was a family pet. That wouldn't have been hard, for we were kept busy all day Sunday answering the phone. There must have been more than twenty calls."

North Shore News —with a kick in it:

For several months you have been reading about the new proposed North Shore Electric extensions running west of the North Shore towns. Here is some real estate news with a kick in it.

North Shore Lots—$19 to $30 Ft.

The new extension runs through the corporate territory of only one North Shore town—and our lots are in this town, adjoining the new right of way. Two main highways bisect our property—the main east and west thoroughfare connecting all the North Shore towns with the Waukegan Road (with North Shore Bus Service now) and a new road, 24 feet wide, planned to run north from Lincoln Avenue to Waukegan midway between the Green Bay Road and the Waukegan Road.

35 Minutes to the Loop

Sunset Manor will be served by five distinct transportation lines—the present C. & N. W. steam shore line, the North Shore lake town line, the C. & N. W. Western Division line, and the new proposed North Shore fast express line; the North Shore connecting busses also pass the property every half hour.

No Other North Shore Investment Like This

Paving is already in; the location is ideal, an 18-hole municipal golf links adjoins our lots, and the zoning restrictions placed upon this property by city ordinance protect buyers forever from undesirable elements endangering the valuation of property. There is so much good and interesting information to give about this property that we could not begin to include it in a single advertisement, so mail the appended coupon for details (no obligation).

BY JOE DAVIS.

Playing exceptionally good golf under exceptionally bad conditions, Miss Edith Cummings, the national women's champion, won the low score prize in the qualifying round of the twenty-second annual championship of the women's western golf association at the Onwentsia club, her home club, yesterday.

Her card of 42-42-84 was three strokes under woman's par for the 6,440 yard course, which for most of the contestants was several hundred yards longer by reason of the aqueous conditions.

Miss Bernice Wall of Oshkosh, the Wisconsin champion, Mrs. Lee Mida of Butterfield, and Mrs. F. C. Letts, Jr., of Onwentsia, three times western champion, tied at 88, for second place and Mrs. David Gaut of Memphis, champion in 1922, was fifth with 89.

Weather Gods in Lead.

It appears as Jupiter Pluvius, old Boreas and others of the elemental gods, who prescribe the weather, are in league against the women's western golf association, for at Westmoreland in 1921, at Exmoor in 1923, and again yesterday, the medal play round was marred by rain, while at Glen Echo, St. Louis, in 1922, the conspirators flooded the course on the day preceding the medal round. However, it would have been tougher if the girls had to play in crinolines as did their grandmothers.

The downpour Sunday night made the Onwentsia course resemble a miniature of the Wisconsin lake region. The Skokie brooklet, which bisects the course and generally purls along, almost became a raging river. There was altogether too much water for this dry section and it was impossible to start at 9 o'clock.

Start Delayed 2 Hours.

It was two hours later before Miss Miriam Burns of Kansas City, the defending champion, and Mrs. E. E. Harwood of Olympia Fields, got away and it was raining hard when they spanked their drivers down the sodden fairway.

Through the day it cleared and stormed at intervals but under foot it was a soggy proposition throughout. Drives splashed into casual water and mashie shots were played with a splash, while on many of the greens the balls kicked up water.

Taken all in all, it was probably the worst day contestants in the western classic have experienced. It was not until 3:30 that the last players got away and just after that the weather cleared and the wind subsided, making the going better than at any time.

Miss Cummings Out in Par.

It was essentially a day for the player with a strong punch, and Miss Cummings ranks high in this class. She played par golf on the outgoing nine, getting a birdie at the fifth hole. Her playing on incoming nine, which is 240 yards longer, was even better, as after a 7 at the long twelfth hole, she shot the last five holes three under par, her 42 for the incoming nine being the best of the day.

Miss Wall, after going out in 43, shot par at every hole, coming home with the exception of the eighteenth, where she took 7.

Mrs. Mida reached the turn in 42, an eagle 4 at the third hole, 460 yards, being the feature. On the in journey she had par on 7 holes, one birdie and one over par.

Four Tie for Last Places.

There were four players tied for the last three places at 100 and they started to play off, but Mrs. Fred Jackson of Seattle, champion of the Pacific Northwest, and Seattle champion, a late starter, came home with 52-47-99, leaving only two vacancies which went to Mrs. H. D. Starrett of Hutchinson, Kas., and Mrs. Stewart Handley of Detroit. Mrs. W. T. Alden of Glenview, formerly Miss Marjorie Edwards, qualified with 99, but withdrew.

The losers were Mrs. J. W. Hearsher of Evanston and Mrs. Ed. Fleming of Beverly. Chicago landed 10 players in the championship flight, Milwaukee 2, St. Louis 2, Detroit 2, Aurora 2, while 14 other cities each has one representative. The top half of the lower bracket looks like a tough place, as it contains Miss Edith Cummings and Mrs. M. Jones and Mrs. David Gaut, both former western champions.

SOUTHPAWS IN GOLF TITLE PLAY AT MIDLOTHIAN

The Midlothian Country club Thursday will hold its fifteenth annual "southpaw" championship tournament, which is open to golfers throughout the nation. While the bulk of the entrants will be from Chicago, a number of visiting players will compete.

John P. Humphreys, University of Illinois, who is the present champion after a second successive win in the meet, will defend the title. Humphreys has improved since his victory last year.

Play will be at thirty-six holes from scratch, although there will be a prize awarded for the lowest net score among the contestants. Special prizes will include a trophy for the best net score on either eighteen hole round and also for the best choice eighteen of thirty-six.

The sixth round of the daily fee championship games resulted as follows: Budlong defeated Big Oaks, 6 to 1; Greenview defeated Mid-City, 6 to 5; Evergreen defeated Galewood, 9 to 1; Oak Hills defeated Harlem, 6 to 5. This leaves Evergreen with a clean slate, having won six straight and lost none. The tie between Galewood and Budlong Woods for second place was broken by Budlong's defeat of Big Oaks.

Marion Makes East Take Notice in N. Y. Net Meet

Rye, N. Y., Aug. 4.—Competing for the first time in the east, Miss Marion Leighton of Chicago, Illinois state champion, played impressive tennis at the Westchester-Biltmore Country club in the opening round of the New York state championship today. She defeated Miss Helen Kuhn of New York, 6—0, 6—2.

CORINTHIANS WIN SOCCER.

WHITE AND HART LOW IN CITY GOLF TOURNEY

Shooting the same scores, 35—34—69, Bob White of Olympia Fields and Roy Hart of Hawthorne club yesterday tied for low score in the first half of the qualifying round for the city golf championship at Jackson park. Their scores were par for the course.

Walter Crowe of Columbus park, recent winner of the Illinois public parks title, and Ted Lloyd of the home club tied at 70 temporarily for third place, while Joie Finn of Jackson park and the present champion was in a flock of twelve players that tied for twelfth place.

Play Perfect Golf.

White and Hart put up a perfect game over the water soaked course. The fairways and greens were wet from Sunday night's rain and received a further drenching late yesterday afternoon just as the last few foursomes of the field of 204 finished their round. Leaders' cards:

White—Out	353	453	534—35
White—In	444	345	433—34—69
Hart—Out	443	543	435—35
Hart—In	354	334	534—34—69

A feature of the day's play was an ace by G. Jones of Columbus park. Jones sank his tee shot at the seventeenth hole, 216 yards for the third hole in one since he has been playing golf.

Low 32 Qualify.

Including those that tied at 77 for last place, sixty-seven players were paired for the second half of the qualifying round, which will be played today. The lowest thirty-two at the end of thirty-six holes will form the championship flight, while the second thirty-two will make up the second flight.

There will be one eighteen hole match round Wednesday, two short frames Thursday, while the semi-finals Friday and the deciding contest Saturday will be at thirty-six holes.

GOWDY WILL BE HONORED TODAY

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Hank Gowdy, veteran catcher of the New York Giants, will be honored tomorrow before the Giants and Cubs resume their series. It will be "Gowdy day," and a host of Hank's friends and former army associates will attend, for Hank was the first major league ball player to enlist for service in the world war. The new athletic field at Fort Benning, Ga., has been named "Gowdy field," and the official ceremonies will also be held in the old Polo grounds tomorrow.

YANKS WIN, LOSE IN IRISH GAMES

DUBLIN, Aug. 4.—[By Associated Press.]—Handball was the only contest in the Tailteann games in which Americans competed today. J. J. Heany of New York won from Brennan of Kilkenny, 3 to 0, and Daly of Ireland defeated O'Donnell, United States, 3 to 1.

AMATEUR SETS RECORD.

Dubuque, Ia., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Alfred Peaslee, local amateur, today set a new course record at the Dubuque Golf club when he negotiated the eighteen holes for a 74 score. The course is considered one of the most difficult in the middle west.

MORRIS, GILBERT NET CHAMPS.

Logansport, Ind., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—Clay Morris and Gilbert took the doubles tennis tournament here, in which fifty teams took part. They won from the Graff brothers in the finals, 4—6, 6—0, and 6—4.

Motordom Today

by J. L. JENKINS

GREEN BAY, Wis., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—"O sure, that tire would be ready long before you are. Yes, and the boys will go over the body and U bolts, too. They start to work at 7. This is a regular place, and we get the work out early. All you have to do is to come over and step on the starter."

The night garage man—any night garage man—is speaking. What could be more confidently optimistic than a night garage man?

Now the time is 8 a. m. In the light of morning the friendly garage of the night before has taken on a grim and almost sinister aspect. Forbidding looking men are crawling about under cars or strolling back after tools. After a while, one of them bumps into the man who clings to his storage check as his only passport and right to be alive.

* * *

"What's that?" sezze, "the Paige? Yeah, there it is. Tire? Tire? O, yes, we'll get on that in a little while. Have to take it out for vulcanizing, maybe."

"You say you want the bolts gone over, too. Well, lot of work this morning. Maybe you can get it about 2 p. m. Yeah, I see the ticket on it. Can't wait? Well, we can't do everything at once, neither. Dollar for storage. That's right. Come back again."

* * *

And yet there are some compensations. For instance, there's Kaukauna, Wis., where a big sign reading "Welcome to Kaukauna, a friendly city. We rely on the motorist's judgment," greets the stranger. The unusual part about it is that there is little or no speeding or reckless driving through Kaukauna. Some tourists fail to observe the "stop" order on primary traffic streets posted here, as in practically all Wisconsin towns and cities.

The other day Chief of Police R. H. McCarthy watched a score of cars move past the sign into the "main stem" without stopping. Then he went out and held up the entire procession for exactly fifteen minutes and made a little speech about the importance of observing signs. Then he let the tourists who had begun reaching for wallets to produce the usual "ten and costs" go on their way with a friendly wave of the hand. One tourist procession, at least, is now on the alert for "stop" signs.

BRITISH COLLEGE NET TEAM BEATS HARVARD, YALE

EAST BOURNE, England, Aug. 4.—[By Associated Press.]—The Oxford-Cambridge lawn tennis team defeated the Harvard-Yale team, 15 matches to 6, in the annual meeting of the British and American universities, concluded here today.

BREACH WIDENS IN MAJOR SOCCER ROW

War clouds continue to gum up the horizon of the local soccer world. The so-called "get-together" meeting of the Major Soccer league, held in the Great Northern hotel last night, only served to further mess up the proceedings, and when the meeting broke up the league officials still were very much up in the air over the lineup for next year.

In the face of all of the rows and plans and counter plans, it now appears that the four big teams of the major league season of last year will withdraw and become "outlaws." These four clubs, the Bricklayers, Thistles, Olympias, and Sparta Unions, seem determined to go through with their original intention of forming a four club league.

Big Four Can't Resign.

At the meeting last night the major league refused to accept the resignation of the "Big Four." The vote was tied at 4 to 4 and it was up to President John Ferguson to cast the deciding ballot. He voted against the four clubs resigning, but the reluctant quartet announced that they were done with the major league, vote or no vote.

The four clubs also refused to pay their affiliation fees for the coming season, despite the pleas of President Ferguson and Peter J. Peel, ex-president of the U. S. F. A., who was at the meeting in an effort to hold the four teams in the major league. The nonpayment of the fees seemed to make the officials more certain that the holdout quartet were not coming into the fold for next year's play.

New Officers Elected.

Later in the evening it was declared that the new organization would be made up of five teams and that in addition to the Bricklayers, Thistles, Olympias, and Sparta Unions one more team would be selected before the season opened.

THE QUESTION BOX.

CHICAGO.—[To the Editor.]—Some time ago you published a formula for an anti-mosquito lotion. As I have mislaid this, will you please give me the ingredients needed and their proportion in the formula. JOSEPH NOVY.

ANSWER.—The formula to which you refer is made as follows: Oil of pennyroyal, 1 dram; oil of citronella, 1 dram; oil of cedar, 1 dram; spirits of camphor, 1 dram; pine tar, 1 ounce. To these ingredients add castor oil of an amount equal to the above mentioned items. In other words, the pennyroyal, citronella, camphor, cedar, and pine tar are the insect repelling ingredients. Castor oil is the base and the amount of this oil used should equal the total amount of the repellants.

Chicago.—[To the Editor.]—Will you kindly tell me where there is a good place for bass and pike fishing in Wisconsin within 300 or 400 miles of Chicago? JAMES MCCARY.

ANSWER.—Why not try the Lac du Flambeau region? For pike, you can fish in Fence, Sand, and other good lakes on the reservation. Fence is especially noted for walleye fishing. For bass there are dozens of lakes, including Stearns, Swamp, sometimes called the best bass lake in Wisconsin, and many others.

KAISER WINNER AS HOOSIER NET TOURNEY OPENS

A. R. Kaiser had little difficulty in smacking the ball past P. L. Krauel of the Standard Oil club of Whiting in the first round matches of the northern Indiana tennis tourney at Whiting yesterday afternoon. He won, 6—0, 6—1.

George Lott Jr. is not to play in the tourney, as previously announced. Instead he will practice on grass courts for the national junior meet next week.

H. E. Messick put a fellow Chicagoan, John Gregson, out of the running, 6—2, 6—0, while his son, Mead Messick, took a match from H. T. Warren of Gary by default. Rain halted the initial play, and games will be resumed today. George O'Connell, defending champion, will meet C. P. Brown at 2 o'clock, and other Chicagoans, including Leo Lunn, Wilbur Brandt, and Hank Raeder of Evanston, will get into action. Summaries of other matches:

First round, men's singles—D. G. Eppley, of Whiting defeated Arnold Exton Porter, Whiting, 6—0, 7—5; Milton Leventerg, Gary, defeated George Toscas, Gary, 6—1, 6—3; Claude Whiteman, Whiting, 6—1, 7—5.

CANUCK PRINTERS WIN FROM CINCINNATI, 6-4

Although the second game of the scheduled double attraction in the International Printers' championship baseball tournament at Cub park was rained out yesterday Hamilton and Cincinnati made up for the abbreviated program by furnishing the best contest yet played in the tourney. The Canadians were on the long end of a 6 to 4 count, which meant the elimination of the Cincinnati aggregation.

The other half of the afternoon's entertainment—the game between Cleveland and St. Louis—was called off after a deluge that threatened to halt the first contest in the ninth inning. In spite of the downpour the full nine innings of the initial battle were played. Score:

THIEVES PICK ON POOR SCRIBES AT GRAND PRIX RACE

LYONS, France, Aug. 4.—While a number of French sporting writers and automobile editors watched the Grand Prix of Europe yesterday thieves made a clean sweep of their camp, getting away with money and jewelry worth more than 60,000 francs.

Frantz Reichel, general secretary of the French Olympic committee, lost all his money and papers, together with a gold watch and gold and platinum chain.

CULVER CLOSING DOORS TO DEFEAT IN TRIB REGATTA

That Commander Fowler, crew coach at Culver Military academy, will bend every effort to develop an eight which will defeat Lincoln Park Boat club in the feature of THE TRIBUNE's third annual water carnival in the Lincoln park lagoon on Aug. 17, is shown by the fact that the cadets will transport their own shell to the regatta.

Last year Commander Fowler brought along the Culver shell and his eight defeated the local crew after an interesting race. The Culver coach claims it means much to the boys to row in a shell which they have been accustomed to using. The Culver lads will be on the water every afternoon until they depart for Chicago on either Aug. 15 or 16.

Wise Move by Culver.

As another precaution against defeat, Culver will bring their own oars for the cutter race in which they will engage the crew from Great Lakes Naval Training Station. As the gob outfit is restricted this year as to length of time in service of the crew and age, the race should be far more interesting than the one of a year ago when Great Lakes was an easy victor.

Jack Corbett, crew coach at Lincoln park, had his men on the lagoon last night. Jack, who is one of the best known oarsmen in the country, has practically decided upon using the lightweight eight against Culver. This crew won in its class at the central states regatta held recently in St. Louis and the coach believes it is good enough to defeat Culver.

Canoe Lads Get Busy.

Lincoln park canoeists are preparing for a strenuous training campaign for the canoe events to be held in connection with the carnival. There will be a single, tandem and club fours open to all canoeists in the west and a trophy will be given the club whose representatives score the greatest number of points on a basis of 5, 3 and 1 for first, second and third places, respectively. Entries for this competition close with Capt. Vincent Smith of the Lincoln Park Boat club on Aug. 13.

In addition to the boating events there will be swimming and diving exhibitions by some of the world's greatest performers.

The two remaining singles matches will be played tomorrow.

Tilden Heads East; Will Play in Kansas City Meet

SANOLA CROWNS HERSELF QUEEN OF HAWTHORNE

BY FRENCH LANE.

The queen of Hawthorne is the Kentucky three year old filly Sanola. If she doesn't win a race between now and the time the Chicago racing season ends, she will still be the queen and almost the champion of the far West Side course.

Her seventh Hawthorne triumph was tolled up yesterday afternoon. She beat the in and outer Pindar Peel, turned The Runt back, after he had won five races here and otherwise deported herself just as a title holder should.

The crowd at Hawthorne hardly gave her a tumble in that triumph yesterday, Pindar Peel getting the bulk of the support. It had rained for thirty minutes before post time and a lot of the punters also flocked to The Runt, for they thought it was his kind of weather and his kind of a track. The far westerner, Quince Garden, also had his following, as did Brunswick, another Kentuckian that had done things at Hawthorne.

The Runt Takes Lead.

It was The Runt that leaped into the lead at the barrier, with the favorite Pindar Peel running second and Quince Garden third. Sanola was back in fourth place, but going in her best stride. Then came a stirring rush by Brunswick which carried him into the lead on the turn with The Runt still second, but Fronk had rushed Sanola past Quince Garden into third place. The stretch battle started with the field in that order, but half a furlong down Sanola swerved to the outside, then came on to win almost as she pleased, with Brunswick second, and The Runt getting the slim end of the purse. Sanola's margin was but half a length, but she was running fastest under the wire.

The Hawthorne course was fast. Rains which had visited nearly every part of Chicago during the night, going wide when they reached the Stickney track and only a sprinkle fell there. Most Chicagoans thought they would be greeted by a typical Hawthorne gooey track, but the good footing that greeted them made it one of the most lively days of the meeting for the oralizers.

Good Things Bowled Over.

One good thing after another was handed out, but for the most part they were bowled over. Favorites also had their troubles, outsiders stepping out to win more than their share of the events. The crowd was a bumper for blue Monday, many new arrivals having checked in from Ashland in Kentucky, and from the tracks in Canada.

It was the colored trainer, William Perkins of Kentucky, that unbottled the hottest thing of the afternoon when his first time starter Pacier won the opening dash of five and a half furlongs for maiden two year olds. Nearly everybody at the track had picked up the tip and when he pulled out to win handily in the stretch, he was welcomed by the noisiest round of applause of the afternoon.

Willie Fronk came through on the rail with Boo Boo to snatch the place away from Bad Luck. Pacier is a likely looking colt and was much the best, winning by four lengths in the fairly good time of 1:07 3-5.

Mary Ellen O., a long shot, accounted for the second, jumping into the lead at the start and staying there throughout the mile and a sixteenth trip. It was a cheap field and every starter had a following. Gee was the biggest disappointer, as he had been handed out in many quarters during the early afternoon. Citizen, another one at a fancy figure, came with a powerful rush in the stretch to finish second, while Devil Girl got the show.

Outsider Wins Third.

Tableau d'Honnuer just walked home in the third and he had also been quoted at fairly tall figures. He was much the best of the band he faced. A Chicago filly, Sequel, had been backed into favoritism. She ran in a forward position early, but had nothing left for the stretch struggle, Jack Frost poking his nose into second place, beating out Sunny Ducrow at the wire.

Chicago owned Margaret Ware won the fifth and, while considered an outsider in many places, was heavily played by her loyal Chicago supporters and won easily, with Pud trailing her in second place and Soggarth Aroon third.

Another good thing went over in the sixth, when Bench Manager, after getting away to a good start, won all the way, with Westwood second and Yorick third. It was one of the most lively races of the day and, while rain had fallen at times during the afternoon, the track was still fast when the curtain dropped.

MORE BIG MEN PUSH RACES AT HOMEWOOD

Harry W. Ridings, well known in local theatrical and sporting circles, has accepted duties as general chairman of the membership drive for the new Washington Park race course now building at Homewood.

Ridings will head some twenty or more committees made up of various business groups in the city.

Delmar Stevens Joins Up.

Another prominent Chicagoan who yesterday signified his willingness to assist in the promotion of the Homewood project is Delmar A. Stevens of Charles A. Stevens & Bros., State street merchants, according to the promoters. Mr. Stevens heads the life membership committee.

Chairmen of other committees as given out by the promoters are:

Railroad group, J. V. Lanigan, general passenger agent, Illinois Central R. R. Co.; City and county, Robert M. Sweitzer, county clerk; Clubs, H. H. Parks of Hamilton club; Federal building, John T. McGrath, first assistant postmaster; Insurance group, Alfon E. Bahr, president Spur and Saddle club; Hotels, John M. Burke, managing director Congress hotel; Board of Trade, E. Newman, of E. Newman & Co.; Printers, James S. Arcus of James S. Arcus & Co.

Track Work Progresses.

Work on the new track is proceeding rapidly, according to officials of the club. Nearly three miles of fences have been completed, the first stable has been given its finishing touch, and others are rapidly springing up. The oval, it is expected, will be ready during the next fortnight, most of the grading having already been done.

A meeting of the board of directors and various committee chairmen will be held at the Congress hotel Thursday evening.

FIRPO, HOG FAT, TRAINS ON SHAVE PLUS A HAIRCUT

BY HARRY NEWMAN.

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., Aug. 4.—[Special.]—At the rate Luis Angel Firpo is moving in his training camp at Tom Luther's place at White Sulphur, he ought to weigh not less than an even ton when he faces Harry Wills in their fifteen round bout at Jersey City on Sept. 11.

The giant Argentinian who hopes to knock the colored battler silly stripped for action today for the first time since his arrival here, and what he showed was plenty. Rolls of fat hung from his neck down to his waistline and he sure has plenty of hard work ahead of him if he ever expects to get anywhere in that quarrel with Wills.

Couldn't Be Worse.

Firpo is probably in the worst condition he ever showed at the start of a training campaign. There does not appear to be any pep about him and he seems to think that all he needs is a close shave and a haircut to fit himself for the Wills bout. Firpo must soon get started with plenty of road work and boxing.

The big fellow today confined his workout to a round or two of rope skipping together with some shadow boxing and calisthenics—during which the fat jellied up and down his massive frame. There hasn't been a round of boxing since Firpo struck his camp.

Road Work to Meals.

Firpo's road work today was comprised of a series of parades to the dining room, with Luis heading every procession. Promptly at every meal hour Firpo steps out from his cottage with the other members of the awkward squad taking up the rear, well back of Firpo, who takes the spot until they hit the private chow parlor.

AMATEUR BOUTS.

TAYLOR GROOMS HIS LEFT HOOK TO CLOUT SARMIENTO IN BOUT

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

When Bud Taylor, the Terre Haute, Ind., bantamweight, and Peter Sarmiento, the Filipino, meet in the star attraction of Jim Mullen's boxing show at Aurora on Friday night, Taylor will depend mostly upon a left hook to keep his opponent at a safe distance.

That Taylor intends to use his left to hook and jab was shown in yesterday's workout at the Mullen gym. Bud put in an appearance late in the afternoon but lost no time to swing into training action. He boxed four rounds but did not take any chances with his injured right shoulder which will receive special attention from a local physician for the remainder of the week. Outside of the lame shoulder, Taylor asserted he is feeling fine and is confident he will take the measure of the Filipino.

Sarmiento will arrive in Chicago this morning and will make his headquarters at the Plaza hotel on the north side. The Filipino would have been here yesterday had he known Taylor's shoulder was not injured sufficiently to prevent the go. The Filipino will do road work in Lincoln park and box in the afternoons at Mullen's gymnasium. Manager Frank Churchill will be here on Thursday according to the promoter.

With both fighters on the ground preparing for the contest, which has been hanging fire ever since last winter when both appeared in Milwaukee, there is a brisk demand for tickets. The promoter expects his first sellout of the season.

Owing to a lame back, Jimmy Anderson has been compelled to cancel his engagement with Joe McCabe in one of the preliminaries. Promoter Mullen has substituted Johnny Murphy of Pullman, who is expected to put up a better fight than Anderson. No other changes have been made in the original card and all boxers are training at the local gymnasiums.

Motorists Want to Know

"Is it not a fact that gasoline prices vary more throughout the United States than do the prices of any other product?"

The answer is quoted from the Oil and Gas Journal issue of June 12, 1924:

"Gasoline prices are more uniform than most of the widely utilized commodities. Thirty-five states have gasoline taxes varying in amounts from 1 to 4 cents. This fact would necessitate a difference in retail prices of as great as 4 cents in some states. Crude oil is found in a comparatively small area of the United States and this fact also necessitates variances in the retail prices due largely to the difference in transportation costs from the crude producing fields and the refineries to the gasoline consuming areas. The price differences, however, are not as great as in many other products. For instance, a recent monthly survey made by the United States Bureau of Labor covering twenty-nine cities scattered throughout the United States showed the following high and low range in prices in several commodities: Sirlion steak, 26 to 61.5 cents per lb.; sugar, 9.6 to 12.7 cents per lb.; bituminous coal, $4.50 to $17.40 per ton; flour, 3.3 to 5.5 cents per lb., and oranges, 27.9 to 49.5 cents per dozen. The low in gasoline prices for the same cities was 12.8 cents and the high 20 cents. The survey was made last December when gasoline prices were lower than they are at the present although the same price range is in effect."

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) serves the automobiling public by maintaining at convenient intervals throughout the Middle West, an efficient chain of service stations, which sell gasoline and oils of uniform high quality, at prices as nearly uniform as freight rates and tax laws permit.

The price of gasoline sold by this Company is subject only to the uncertainties of economic laws, which no commodities may avoid.

This highly trained organization of 27,000 men and women is straining every nerve and fibre that you may have gasoline when and where you want it—of highest quality and at a price which is fair, equitable and low at all times.

BY JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

New York, Aug. 4.—[Special.]—By getting an even break today in a double header against the Giants, Mr. Killefer's juvenile team found out that the champions are not invincible but are just human like the other fellows in the game. The Giants won the opener, 5 to 1, and kids romped home victors in the second, 5 to 2.

The impressive stunt of the day was the pitching in the second game of Young Jack Blake, whose fine speed and curves completely baffled the big champions. They got five hits all told, and three of the five were infield scratches that no one could be proud of.

Jack has started in only two other games this season. He beat the Cardinals in St. Louis early last month and he was beaten by the Giants in Chicago when the McGraw men were on a rampage and knocked everybody flat who faced them.

Big Boy Invincible.

Today the big fellow from West Virginia would have turned any of them back. He had control and was able to cut loose. The champs got a lot of fouls but little else. It happened that two of their schatch hits were bunched with one regular blow in the second inning, which accounted for their two tallies. From then on they were absolutely helpless.

It fell to the lot of Claude Jonnard to oppose the husky Chicago hurler. Claude has spent most of the last two years in the bullpen for the Giants and only recently has come out as a regular. The Killefer kids took delight in swatting his fast ones for which he has gained some fame. They got only seven hits, but they bunched three of them in the third with an error by Jackson, and the net result was three runs.

Along in the seventh they salted the game down when Arnold Statz poked a home run into the right field stand with one man on the bases. Jonnard gave way to a pinch hitter in the eighth and rosy Bill Ryan finished.

Keen Loses in Opener.

Vic Keen was the Cub hurler in the opening game but he was unable to stop the champs, though the story might have been different if Barney Friberg hadn't gone to pieces in the second inning.

Barney started them off to a three run rumpus in that frame by making a wild heave of Kelly's roller. Jackson followed with a hit that sent Big Kel to third and Groh swatted one that scored Kel and sent Jackson to third. Then Snyder rolled one down to Barney and he messed it, Jackson scoring when he should have been shot dead at home. Bentley, the big southpaw hurler who can hit 'em drove a long fly to right and Groh slipped to third after the catch from where he counted on O'Connel's sacrifice fly. Three were in when there should not have been a durned one of them there.

Giants Earn Some Runs.

In the sixth, the Giants really earned a couple of runs when they socked out four singles. The only run the Kids could get off Mr. Bentley's hooks came in the eighth when Leo Cotter got hold of one and poled it into the right stand for a homer.

Boss Killefer did a bit more shaking up today, removing young Barrett from first base to the bench where he is likely to stick until he gets a lot more fielding practice around the bag. Cotter went back on the job.

Charley Hollocher was excused from service for both games, as he was somewhat under the weather, though he was out in uniform ready to perform if it became necessary. Grantham went to his old stand at second and Adams did the shortstopping. The combination did good business.

In the Wake of the News

ROGERS HORNSBY.

ROGERS HORNSBY of the St. Louis Cardinals is headed toward his fifth consecutive National league batting championship. Unless an unexpected slump wipes out his now apparently safe lead, he will establish a new record. Hans Wagner is the only other National league slugger who ever held the title four years in succession.

Hornsby's figures for his period of ascendency are higher than those of Wagner from 1906 to 1909, inclusive. The comparison:

It is not possible, in our opinion, to compare averages of players in two different periods and arrive at a conclusion solely therefrom. The present livelier ball naturally gives Rogers an advantage over the mighty Honus.

Even if Hornsby does dispossess Wagner of sequential honors, he will still have Hans' record of seven times first in nine years—from 1903 to 1911—to shoot at. Hornsby, however, has a flock of other league records, including the home run record of 42, 102 extra long hits, most extra bases, and most runs batted in, all in 1922.

To The Wake, an interesting sidelight on Hornsby's efforts is that many persons thought his work might slump when offers by the New York Giants for his purchase failed several years ago, for ball players naturally prefer to go where the world's series coin abides. When the deal failed Hornsby admited he would like to join New York, but said he would give his best to St. Louis. How well he kept his promise is shown by the averages.

A Regular Pal.

Now my idea of a regular pal
Would be a sensible long haired gal;
One who would sit all day in a boat
As hither and yon we'd idly float;
A pal who isn't afraid of a worm,
Who doesn't squeal at every squirm;
Who never sees the setting sun,
Do you think I could trade, perchance, for one?

A young married lady of the north shore, whose name is Jessie, has a wire haired terrier named Peter. When asked his name over the back fence by the lady next door, Mrs. Jessie replied, "Peter." Her neighbor remonstrated, "I don't think you should give a biblical name to a dog. Besides that's the name of our little boy." "Can't help it. That's his name," replied Mrs. J.

Later the family next door bought a pet chicken as a playmate for the human Peter. When Mrs. J. asked the chicken's name, the neighbor replied, "We've decided to call her Jessie."

RAIN STOPS SOX AND MACKS; 2 TILTS TODAY

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Before the White Sox and Athletics could reach a decision on yesterday's spoils at Comiskey park rain came along and wiped out the program, the result of which will be a bargain bill starting at 1:30 this afternoon.

The rain horned in on the show just as the Mackmen had finished scoring two runs in the fifth inning. These were the only tallies registered and as the elements would not permit of the Sox getting their fifth time at bat the contest didn't reach the legal limit and the few base hits that were uncorked will not get into the averages.

Before the game Pitcher Ted Blankenship, indefinitely suspended by the Sox over a month ago, had a hearing before Commissioner Landis at the park. The "court" called in about a half dozen of the Sox players to get both sides of the case and at the conclusion announced that the club's action had been upheld. Landis, however informed Blankenship that he would give him another hearing and it is likely that, if the pitcher shows a desire to pitch and gets into condition, he will be reinstated.

Blanknship was suspended because he threatened to take a punch at Manager Evers when the latter attempted to lecture him. The suspension would have been lifted immediately if the pitcher had offered an apology but he refused. Instead he went to his home in Oklahoma.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 4.—New York went back into first place in the American league today, when the Yankees defeated Detroit, 9 to 8, in eleven innings. After Detroit got a four run lead with five hits in the first inning and added a single score in the third, fourth, and seventh New York scored one in the fourth and Ruth hit a home run with two on in the fifth. It was Ruth's thirty-fourth home run of the season.

In the eighth inning New York forged ahead, making four runs. Detroit tied the score in the ninth, but Witt's double and Yankee Meusel's single scored the winning run in the eleventh. Score:

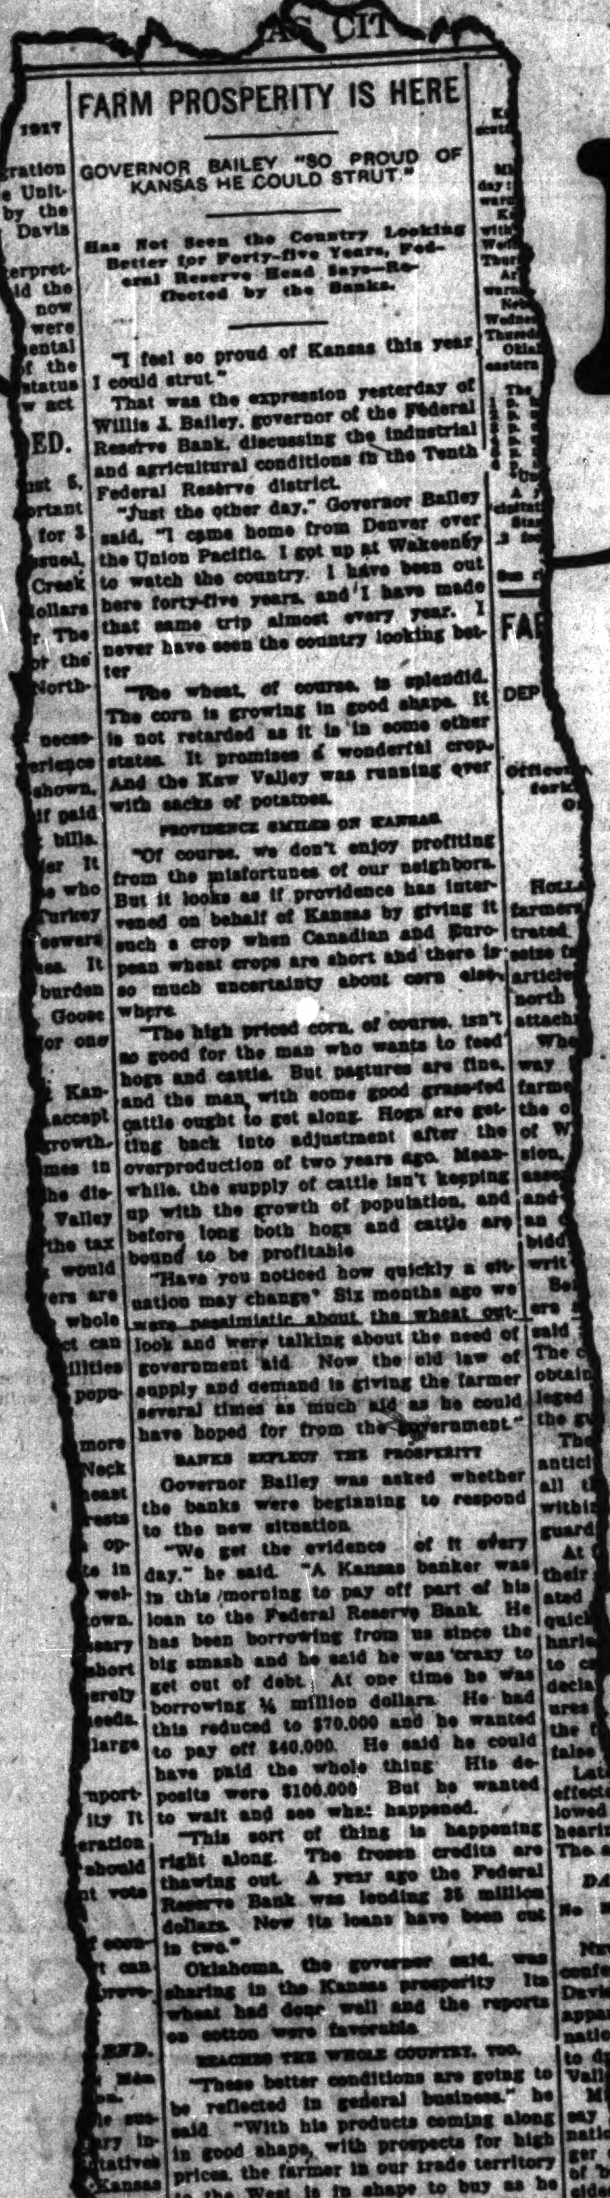
Prosperity has Come to KANSAS!



FARM PROSPERITY IS HERE

GOVERNOR BAILEY "SO PROUD OF KANSAS HE COULD STRUT."

Has Not Seen the Country Looking Better for Forty-five Years, Federal Reserve Head Says—Reflected by the Banks.

"I feel so proud of Kansas this year I could strut."

That was the expression yesterday of Willis J. Bailey, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, discussing the industrial and agricultural conditions in the Tenth Federal Reserve district.

"Just the other day," Governor Bailey said, "I came home from Denver over the Union Pacific. I got up at Wakeeney to watch the country. I have been out here forty-five years, and I have made that same trip almost every year. I never have seen the country looking better.

"The wheat, of course, is splendid. The corn is growing in good shape. It is not retarded as it is in some other states. It promises a wonderful crop. And the Kaw Valley was running over with sacks of potatoes.

PROVIDENCE SMILES ON KANSAS.

"Of course, we don't enjoy profiting from the misfortunes of our neighbors. But it looks as if providence has intervened on behalf of Kansas by giving it such a crop when Canadian and European wheat crops are short and there is so much uncertainty about corn elsewhere.

"The high priced corn, of course, isn't so good for the man who wants to feed hogs and cattle. But pastures are fine, and the man with some good grass-fed cattle ought to get along. Hogs are getting back into adjustment after the overproduction of two years ago. Meanwhile, the supply of cattle isn't keeping up with the growth of population, and before long both hogs and cattle are bound to be profitable.

"Have you noticed how quickly a situation may change? Six months ago we were pessimistic about the wheat outlook and were talking about the need of government aid. Now the old law of supply and demand is giving the farmer several times as much aid as he could have hoped for from the government."

BANKS REFLECT THE PROSPERITY.

Governor Bailey was asked whether the banks were beginning to respond to the new situation.

"We get the evidence of it every day," he said. "A Kansas banker was in this morning to pay off part of his loan to the Federal Reserve Bank. He has been borrowing from us since the big smash and he said he was crazy to get out of debt. At one time he was borrowing ¼ million dollars. He had this reduced to $70,000 and he wanted to pay off $40,000. He said he could have paid the whole thing. His deposits were $100,000. But he wanted to wait and see what happened.

"This sort of thing is happening right along. The frozen credits are thawing out. A year ago the Federal Reserve Bank was lending 35 million dollars. Now its loans have been cut in two."

Oklahoma, the governor said, was sharing in the Kansas prosperity. Its wheat had done well and the reports on cotton were favorable.

REACHES THE WHOLE COUNTRY, TOO.

"These better conditions are going to be reflected in general business," he said. "With his products coming along in good shape, with prospects for high prices, the farmer in our trade territory to the West is in shape to buy as he hasn't been since the deflation. He is going to share his prosperity with the whole country.

"After such years as the last three, the farmer certainly had something coming to him. He needed a prosperous season and needed it bad.

"Well, he's getting it."

"KING BEN" DECISION TODAY.

With Bumper Crops of Wheat and Corn at Highest Prices in Years

KANSAS Now Offers a Golden Market to Manufacturers of All Commodities

Prosperity in bountiful measure has come to Kansas. A wheat crop of more than 150 million bushels has been harvested. A corn crop that gives every indication of bettering the 122-million bushel mark is in the offing—practically "made" by the late July rains. The oats crop is a record-breaker, threshing 40 to 60 bushels to the acre. Pasture lands are green and luxuriant. Straight down the crop list—all over the state—nature has outdone herself this year.

Grain prices are the highest in years—and going up—up—up! Wheat is already above the dollar mark. Every one cent advance in wheat puts $1,300,000 in the pockets of Kansas farmers! At present prices of wheat, corn and oats, the farm income of Kansas for these three crops alone will be over $300,000,000—one-half greater than last year.

Farmers are jubilant. Good times are back again. Bankers are "chock-full" of enthusiasm and optimism. Kansas folk are paying old debts; they're preparing to buy everything used by intelligent, prosperous people.

Not for years has the Sunflower State offered such a prosperous, eager-to-buy market. Right now is the time to enter it. This vast area of prosperity can be thoroughly covered at minimum cost by 24 newspapers which are members of the Kansas Daily Newspaper Advertising Association. These daily newspapers are in 20 jobbing centers located so as to most effectively and economically serve the needs of the entire state.

The Man in the Shadow

Blue Ribbon Fiction

By ROY VICKERS

SYNOPSIS.

Derek Slakeham is sentenced to prison for the Pendall murder, his trial and conviction a tragic mistake. He had been on his way home from Cape Town, South Africa, when he met and fell in love with Cecily Pendall. As Cecily had been about to disembark for Paris, Derek asked her to marry him on her return to London. Cecily's father went on to London with Derek. A few days later Pendall was murdered, and Derek, under the name of Smith, tried and sentenced for the crime. He had not notified his family of his return to England, so had not been recognized as Lord Slakeham. Derek knew the murderers were two former associates of Pendall's known as Dickson and Carside.

Cecily went to England after her father's death but her fiance had disappeared.

Slakeham, in prison, is recognized by one of the warders, a young chap who served with him during the war. Warder Stedding promises to help Slakeham, and at great risk to both of them he exchanges places with the prisoner and Slakeham walks out of the prison a free man for the period of Stedding's forty-eight hour leave. Derek meets Dickson in London and convinces the latter he is not Lord Slakeham. Derek learns of Cecily's address and, ridding himself of Dickson, he finds her and takes her to the home of his aunt, Lady Maoul.

INSTALLMENT XXVI.

THE SPIRIT OF YOUTH.

An hour sped past on wings. It seemed to the lovers but five minutes later that a sound at the door caused them to start apart. A servant entered with the tea equipage, and presently Lady Maoul came in and dispensed tea.

"Cecily, dear, I've been taking the liberty of admiring the gowns Kerr is altering for you. They're charming—so simple but distinctive. And I want you to accept something to wear with them—a little wedding gift. Open it, my dear."

With unsteady fingers Cecily opened the case Lady Maoul had dropped into her lap. On a dark velvet bed lay a string of pearls, perfect in shape, but small enough to be worn on the most informal occasions.

"O, Lady Maoul. I—I can't——"

"I don't know what to say," faltered Cecily.

"Say nothing, dearest child, but wear them tomorrow. That will please me, because there are many other jewels waiting for you, but you will have worn my little pearls first. Derek, in your wild haste you have probably not given Cecily anything at all! I notice she wears no engagement ring. I only hope you have remembered to buy her wedding ring."

"I saw to it as soon as I'd got the license," returned Slakeham. "But I forgot all about the present of the bridegroom to the bride. I'm awfully sorry, darling!" he added to Cecily.

"I'm glad, for I have nothing to give you," said Cecily, her eyes misty.

"You had better exchange some kind of tokens, however, simple," said Lady Maoul. "I'm old-fashioned enough to believe in the power of a troth that is sealed with a gift." She peered affectionately at Derek. "Are all the shops shut, dear boy? If they are, I must give you something to give her. What about that photograph of you? You can send me another."

"To Cecily."

"O, Derek, I'd love that!"

Laughingly, Slakeham agreed. The photograph was taken from its silver frame and he consented to write across a corner, "To Cecily," and the date. In return, Cecily took a plain gold pin from the laces at her breast and pinned it into the end of his tie.

"Now everything will be all right," said Lady Maoul, satisfied, and again she patted her nephew's shoulder.

Slakeham did not carry out Lady Maoul's suggestion of taking Cecily to a theater; the risk of meeting acquaintances was one that was not worth taking—and there was the ever-present menace of Dickson and Carside.

After an enchanted evening spent alone with her Slakeham returned to his own house. At once his mind returned to Dickson. What was the worst Dickson could do now? Find out that the marriage was due to take place tomorrow and stop it! Cecily was under age. Slakeham swung into his smoking room, calling energetically for Duffield.

"Yes, my lord? I trust, my lord, that everything has gone well?"

"Everything's going splendidly, Duffer. No hitch so far, and with a little foresight there needn't be one. Do you think you could get hold of that nephew of yours who overhauled the Reindert for me when I was home last year? I forget his name."

"Richards, my lord. Yes, my lord, I could get hold of him early tomorrow morning; or even tonight if required."

"Early tomorrow would do. . . . He struck me as a bright young man who would accept a tenner for doing exactly what he was told and asking no questions."

"I'm sure he would, my lord."

"Good! Then listen, Duffer. . . ."

It was Carside who took charge of the campaign on the following day. He had obtained the services of a private driver who owned a converted racing car. The Reindert failed to get away from it—it seemed to make nothing in the nature of a spirited attempt to get away—and was followed at a safe distance to its stopping place outside a block of flats in Kensington.

"You find nothing to grumble at because you don't know anything about cars," said Carside. "What a lot of trouble you are saved in this life by your gift of invariably missing the point! I very much doubt whether he made any attempt to shake us off. And you can bet your bottom dollar that he knows he's being followed."

"Well, if he knows he's being followed—he knows I can stop the wedding," said Dickson.

Carside said nothing. For half an hour the men waited in the closed car, then Carside got out to stretch his legs. Another half hour passed.

"Tune up," said Carside to the driver. "They're coming out. They'll be off in a couple of minutes. Creep up to the corner. They're heading the other way. If you see he's going to turn you can back out of sight."

"Right you are, sir," grinned the driver, who had been promised a ten pound note above his charges if he kept in touch with the car. "She's not backing," he called over his shoulder through the open window between the driver's seat and the interior.

"Good lord, what are the police doing?" came in a nervous growl from Dickson, as the car accelerated to some forty miles an hour. They slowed and turned into the park, then into Bayswater, then across the Edgeware road.

"I believe he's taking us round the houses," said Dickson. "Well, he isn't likely to shake us off. Good lord, I've never been in a car like this before. I should think she could do sixty."

The next instant there was a crash and the wind screen splintered. A small black car coming in the opposite direction had collided with them.

"What's happened?" cried Dickson.

"Axle broken!" snapped the driver and jumped from his seat. Then, through the open window came the sound of his voice in violent abuse of the man who had run into him.

"Luck! I'll bet my life that's a man of Slakeham's!" said Carside. "You've missed the point again! That fellow waited for us. He got close, then jammed down his accelerator and smashed into our front wheels sideways so as to break the axle. It's a clever 'accident'—no risk to life or limb and the dead certainty of crocking our car. Come on!"

They were out of the car. A policeman had appeared.

"It's all right. I'll own up it's my fault," the driver of the small black car was saying. "It's the first time I've been out and I must have lost my head. I'm willing to pay if I've done any damage."

"Leave them do it," said Carside. "You heard what that chap said? Of course he's willing to pay! Our one chance now is to get back to that flat and find out from the servant where they've gone. Hi! Taxi!"

They were consulting the indicator.

"Lady Maoul—Out."

"That's probably it," said Carside. "Number Seven. Second floor."

Good Morning!

(Rudy and I thought we'd come back.)

Notice the crowds on the west side of State street between Washington and Randolph yesterday? Wonder where and what the accident was? No accident at all, my darlings! Just the town turned out to welcome back to the silversheet, after an absence of two years, his matinee-idol-majesty Mr. Rudolph Valentino.

Not only was the sighing sisterhood of his feminine adorers there. Not by a long shot! Tramp, tramp, tramp, the BOYS came marching! One hundred thousand strong? Well—maybe not that strong but I reckon it would be safe to say that Mr. Valentino's optiences yesterday numbered about one male of the species to every three women present. So girls, if the one you hold most dear was among the missing yesterday; if when he showed up—he showed off—do a little Sherlock-Holmes-ing. Of course he'll never admit he's been sitting at the feet of Rudolph—but you may get a quiet chuckle out of the way he swoops from the waist to pick up your handkerchief.

But O, "Monsieur Beaucaire" is a lovely thing! The photography is so exquisite that you never lose the illusion that, somehow or other, the action has been worked out against the sheen of satin. One rare scene melts into another even more breath-takingly beautiful. Jewels glisten. Fountains tinkle—flinging out a lace of spray that you veritably feel against your face.

And the gorgeous creatures enacting Booth Tarkington's story, which is of a certain gallant gentleman who loved, fought, adventured and won fair ladies in the day when Louis XV was king, are your childhood's golden dreams visualized.

The perfect lover in a perfect picture! THAT is Rudolph Valentino in "Monsieur Beaucaire." There is not one flaw in his work. Just as surely as he never misses an opportunity to put a bit of pantomime across, so, he never overplays. And in his sure, graceful, magnetic interpretation he is buoyed along by such support on the part of the other players as a star rarely receives. You're good if you can find one place in the entire production where anybody falls down.

The Dude de Chartres of the tale is a relative of Louis V. and a great favorite of the king, whose two passions are Madame Pompadour and the theater. The Duke, having a pretty wit, besides being able to fiddle and make love most beautifully—is His Majesty's pet actor. All the ladies of the court adore him. There comes one, however, who looks upon him with eyes of scorn and whose scorn is responsible for the further adventures of the Duke, who—for a reason—flies to England, where he is known as Monsieur Beaucaire.

Have I gushed? Well, do you know, I believe I've meant to. Certainly with all my heart I urge you to see "Monsieur Beaucaire, confident in the knowledge that you'll enjoy every minute of it. (And it wouldn't hurt you to drop a line to the producers telling them how much you've enjoyed it. Let 'em know that when they turn out a work of art—you get 'em, Stephen.)

See you tomorrow!

CLOSEUPS

Sid Grauman, who has a big theater in Los Angeles and is the originator of the motion picture prologue, has gone to Europe. In the back of his little head, head, head, is the idea that maybe, conditions proving promising, he'll build him movie palaces from Hollywood to Rome.

Stuart Holmes, report has it, is having the time of his life shooting flying fish. He stands on the stern of a boat, his press agent says, and "picks off the fish as they jump from the water." This by way of relaxation between scenes while making "In Every Woman's Life"—a new United production.

The Question.

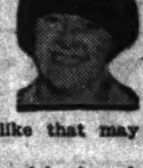
Where Asked.

Criminal Court building.

The Answers.

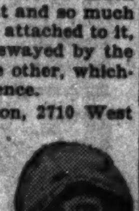


Miss Winne Meske, 2013 Howe street, bookkeeper. — Yes I would, in a way. I wouldn't like the passing sentence part of it, especially if it became clear that they should be hanged; at the same time I would like to see that justice is done to them so that things like that may never happen again.

Henry Weil, 4520 Drexel boulevard, real estate.—I wouldn't want to be the judge in this case. No matter what verdict is rendered the judge will be criticized. Seems to me the judge who has to decide the fate of these two boys holds the most difficult position in the world.

Miss Mary Blackwell, 7518 Emerald avenue, clerk. — Can't say I'd like to be the judge, but I believe society realizes its debt of responsibility to the Franks boy, that his taking away was not by insane minds, but by responsible youths who should be made to pay for their crime.

Fred L. Seaberg, 1918 Belle Plaine avenue, newspaper man.—I say no. Bert Williams' famous song voices my sentiment, "It's a good job for somebody else, not me." There's so much sentiment and so much publicity attached to it, that one is likely to be swayed by the one and criticized by the other, whichever way you pass sentence.



Miss Gertrude Anderson, 2710 West 24th street, clerk. — To tell the truth, I wouldn't like to be the judge—not in this case. It is too serious a matter to have on one's mind throughout life. I sure have a high regard for the judge who has shouldered this responsibility.

THEATERS

"Easy Street" is definitely booked for the uneasy avenue, Mr. Kettering having obtained a Broadway theater for it. The engagement will start a week from Thursday, with the cast as it is in the Woods. . . . The play has been on view here since May 11, and is believed to have done well on the basis of a mezzo-prezzo attraction, if you'll excuse our Milanese.

Miss Hope Hampton, who no longer ago than yesterday was announced as the star of Lehar's operetta called "Clo-Clo," is today named as the star of "Madame Pompadour," which the elegant Mr. Dillingham is to produce in partnership with Martin Beck, once the overlord of the two-a-day from Chicago west to where the Pacific washes the estate of William Randolph Hearst. . . . The announcement is all the more interesting for the fact that the title-rôle of the Pompadour piece (which is from the Continent, and has been a success in London) has been assigned by gossip to more than fourteen and fewer than ninety-three prominent singers, including Miss Geraldine Farrar and Miss Maggie Teyte.

Even if "No! No, Nanette!" be taken out of the Harris at the end of the month, it will not immediately be followed by "Rain," for Miss Jeanne Eagels, returning from Europe, is to act in the piece in New York for at least four weeks, starting Sept. 1.

"The Werewolf" is to be performed this month in New York; and, although the critic of THE TRIBUNE was definite in saying that its failure to click Chicago was due to the unsuitability of the players other than Miss Laura Hope Crews, the management is going right ahead with the same cast . . . That's what a fellow gets for being a critic.

Miss Adrienne Morrison, who is Mrs. Richard Bennett out of the theater, is in the Grand-Street Follies, said to be the best of all the revues in New York, where it is on view in a theater operated by settlement-workers. . . . And she is the only well-known professional in the cast, which speaks well for professionals when it comes to the art of acting revue.

O. P. Heggie is to head the cast of "Old Man Minnick," which Miss Edna Ferber and George S. Kaufman have written on a basis of the former's like-named story . . . This would seem to mean that the play about Whistler, in which Mr. Heggie acted for a time, is no good at the crevice through which seats are exchanged for wampum . . . Miss Phyllis Povah, Miss Antoinette Perry, Miss Beatrice Moreland, Frederick Burt, Sydney Booth and Ralph Bunker are well-knowns in the company. F. D.

Tommy Meighan Stops for Visit and a Few Smiles

Small boys pressed a little closer, flappers leaned forward eagerly, and even grown people smiled in appreciation yesterday as a tall, good-looking man dashed through the gates just in time for the 20th century. Crinkly eyes and a sudden smile—yes, it was "Tommy" Meighan!

"Every one loves Tommy!" said Blanche Ring, his sister-in-law, proudly. "He came to our show last night—'No, No, Nanette!'—and it nearly broke up when I introduced him all around."

The Meighan party, which includes Blanche's sister, now Mrs. Meighan, and Cyril Ring, also of the movies, stopped in Chicago for one day en route to New York from Hollywood. Mr. Meighan will start work at once on "Tongues of Flame," Peter MacFarlane's last story. And after that—well, George Ade motored up from his farm at Brook, Ind., to talk over an idea that may duplicate their past successes.

Mah Jongg Is a Friend of Poor Children

Bridge and mah jongg have played important parts this year in the lives of the children at Camp Algonquin.

At frequent intervals contributions are received as the result of such parties. In some instances the hostess gives the party for the benefit of THE TRIBUNE funds. Others invite their guests to contribute what they will.

Contributions from those sources received yesterday by THE TRIBUNE for the Free Ice fund and the Camp Algonquin fund amounted to $115.

That means happiness for many needy families. Some will get free ice, others will be sent to Camp Algonquin to rest and recover their health.

One bridge and mah jongg party recently held at the Drake hotel netted $100 for the two funds. The party was given by Mrs. Albert Anis, 1434 Lunt avenue. Mrs. Anis turned over the money to the funds yesterday.

Meanwhile The Tribune camp on the Fox river must carry on. More children must be cared for. Many are sick and in need of the benefits of the camp.

There must be fresh, pure food, clean bedding, special diets, and attendants to give the kind of relief the mothers and children need.

Their stay is not long, and much must be accomplished while they are there. All this takes money.

Next to the camp, the ice fund is the greatest relief that can be provided for poor families in these hot, sultry days. Contribute now. Either fund will welcome your donations. The children and mothers will thank you.

SENTENCE SERMONS—By the REV. ROY L. SMITH

Happiness Is Well Worth—

—The effort necessary to master a sharp tongue.
—The sacrifices that love makes necessary.
—The exactions of an uncompromising ideal.

Titled Son-in-Law Dream of Too Many American Mammas

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Here are columns devoted to the social triumph, so 'tis called, of an American widow who gathered unto herself two titled sons-in-law. The matrimonial prize is handed her on all sides because her two daughters bagged two earls.

Now, I ask you, in a land of democracy, why this hallucination that a count, duke, earl, or lord is more of a matrimonial prize than one of our own home grown princes?

It is proudly boasted for this particular American woman that her two earl trophies were won with less than half a million dollars in campaign funds. A feat, it is said by rival and envious mothers, to be almost without parallel.

Perhaps in this instance they were love matches. The girls are young and reported charming. The earls are young and wealthy, and we have no reason for supposing them anything but perfectly nice boys. Cupid may have been mamma's right hand man in this instance.

But—there are innumerable instances of international marriage where the title is the only thing that counts. Love is so completely regulated out of the scheme in the beginning that when it is needed most for the sake of children born of the alliance it cannot be drafted into service.

Several hundred of these mammas yearly succeed in attaining a count or a duke or some kind of title to drag home and show off to the neighbors' But what to do with the darned thing after it has been introduced to Jerseyville?

In all probability it will want to go back to its own country where the husband and wife standard is full of advantages for him—where the wife's place is in the home, the husband's wherever his wife's checkbook allows him to spend his time; where moral standards differ widely from American and where the husband is vested with authority and money responsibility.

I am told by one who has studied the situation that there are American mothers among the traveling set so keen upon introducing their daughters as the Princess So-and-So they send their cards unsolicited to young noblemen who happen to be stopping at the same hotel or dining in the same restaurant.

There are a few outstanding exceptions in international marriages that turn out happily for the American girl. Most of them are the reverse. The former are likely to include girls who have been educated abroad, or who are of half-foreign parentage. For the rest, the beauty of the crest on the stationery cannot be seen for the smarting sense of failure and injustice that blinds their eyes with bitter tears.

At the present moment Europe is overrun with titled men who need nothing so much as an American girl with a check book. There are so many of them that in their own country they are without distinction, which the girl will discover later to her sorrow, if it is social prestige that leads her on. Worse than that, she may discover the title is a counterfeit. Thousands of them are spurious. There is nothing to prevent a foreigner from telling a rich American girl he is a son of a duke or an earl, if he sets out to get his money easily.

Even though the title be genuine, does it make a more eligible man of him than Bill Jones back home, who will not shut up his wife in a worm eaten old castle with a horde of indigent in-laws to feed and clothe?

DORIS BLAKE ANSWERS

Better Not, Skeezix.

"Dear Miss Blake—I am 19. I worked in an office with a nice young man who paid quite a lot of attention to me, although he has never asked me for a date. Since leaving that office I can't forget him. Please tell me if it would be proper for me to ask him to attend a banquet and dance with me.

"SKEEZIX."

If the young man had never invited you to go anywhere, dear, I don't believe it would be wise to invite him to be your escort on the occasion you mention. A girl may extend such invitations but only after the man has shown eagerness to be in her company on more than a single occasion.

Too Old for You.

"Dear Miss Blake: Recently we had a party where I met a young lady about ten years my senior. She told me she liked me. My friends say she is too old for me, but I can't give her up for I love her dearly. Do you think I should give her up because she is older than I? Don't you think it would be right to call on her some time and ask her to go to a show or some place of amusement with me?

"ARNOLD."

"I think your friends are right, Arnold. You would have more in common with a young lady your own age or perhaps a little younger, as with this difference in age there would necessarily be a difference in the things you enjoyed and the pleasures you would seek. It is the natural order of things and you would soon come to appreciate it, I am sure.

In With the Cook.

I went up to my boss' apartment to take dictation from his wife, and in leaving I went out the front door, and, knowing the cook, went through a side door into the kitchen, where she gave me a piece of apple pie and a cup of tea. When about half finished I happened to glance around to see my boss' wife standing in the butler's pantry watching me! I didn't finish eating the pie.

M. C.

Yes and No.

It happened during the holiday season of my first year in the business world. I was a young and unsophisticated stenographer.

The day before Christmas one of the men came over and spun a gold coin on my desk, saying, "Do you know what that is?"

You can imagine my embarrassment when he said, "No, it's a five dollar piece."

Bright Sayings of the Children

The Tribune will pay $1 for each childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Please write on one side of the paper. Address Bright Sayings to Aunty Bee, Tribune, Chicago.

A toy of which Donald was fond was broken, and after some time grandpa mended it. Before Donald could take it, his baby sister snatched it. He is not allowed to take things from her, and so he watched her enjoy the toy, his hands fairly twitching with longing. At last he burst out, "Well, I want all you peoples to tell Santa Claus if he brings me anything to bring two of it, or I'll never have a chance at it!"

M. E. D.

"How did Bobby get so sick, did he eat something that caused it?" I asked Benton, who had told me of Bobby's illness.

"Why, no," he said in much surprise at my ignorance, "he just catched this sick."

"Well," said Howard, hopefully, "I was just thinkin' if I had the penny I lost I'd have two pennies now."

A FRIEND IN NEED

Invalid Asks Books.

"If some one has books to give away, I would greatly appreciate them, and refund postage. I am in the tuberculosis ward and wish something good for a young man to read. Thank you in advance.

F. W."

Won't you search through your attic and bookcases for forgotten books that will be put into service and eagerly received by a young invalid?

Who Wants Some Kittens?

"I have a mother cat and four kittens, two tiger and one almost white (female) and one Maltese (male) I should like to find homes for. They are six weeks old. If homes cannot be found they will have to be sent to the Anti-Cruelty society, who painlessly end their nine lives and they are so playful and such company. I have their big brother and he is so well behaved.

"MISS B. D."

If you wish one or all of these kittens, kindly make immediate application.

Looking Ahead.

"Would you please try to get me a heater and some blankets and some feathers to make a few pillows? I would be thankful to you.

MRS. P. G."

This mother is evidently looking ahead to next winter. Can you assist her in her plans for preparedness?

BEAUTY ANSWERS

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

ALICE: IT IS NOT ADVISABLE for a person of your age to attempt to have teeth straightened. This work is done most effectively when one is young and the jaws not so firmly set. Do not feel bad that your teeth are not perfect in shape. Be careful to keep them in good condition and always white.

JANE R.: YOU ARE TWENTY pounds overweight—according to standard tables. At 40, 5 feet 7, you should weight only 150 pounds. I'll furnish a remedy for this, if you will furnish a stamped, addressed envelope.

FACING THE LIGHT

When you are reading books

You never ought to face the

The lamp should be behind

Some children have been

But they are Goops, and won't obey.

Society Braves Rain to Follow Golfers in Onwentsia Tourney

BY PANDORA.

Sloshing around in the rain and the mud they went yesterday, the brave band of women golfers gathered at Onwentsia this week for the Women's Western Golf association meet. The weather certainly dimmed the brightness of all but a few gay costumes, but it didn't hurt the spirit of the day a whit. Even the large gallery sent a few unquenchable souls out to follow the players, although most of them sat on the terrace in slickers or under "en tout cas"—the umbrella that works in rain or shine, and is still ornamental—or inside the clubhouse about bridge and mah jongg tables.

In spite of the difficulties which the terrific storm of Sunday night left in its drenching wake, Edith Cummings, national titleholder and popular member of Lake Forest's younger set, came in with an 84, three under par. She is to assume the rôle of hostess this afternoon at a tea to which all the players are invited.

Lake Forest was well represented among the players and watchers. Mrs. G. D. McLaughlin, scheduled to play yesterday, and her daughter, Harriett, were in the group of get-there-early-and-stay-laters, unmindful of the general dampness. Mrs. William E. Casselberry Jr. strolled over to watch the proceedings, and the lovely Ginevra Mitchell (Mrs. William H. Mitchell) and Mrs. L. R. Ordway, both of them hatless, started for the first tee together. The Slason Thompsons' daughter, "Peggy," who likes golf as much as she does tennis, dashed hither and yon to learn whether her match was likely to come off before today.

Mrs. F. C. Letts and Mrs. Lee Mida tied for third place, the slim Bernice Wall of Oshkosh stealing second from them. Mrs. Dave Gaut of Memphis was next in point of low scoring.

One of the most attractive visitors at the meet is Mrs. Frank Jaffray of Minneapolis, who comes to us from the city of lakes with determination in her eye.

We noticed among the throng who played and lunched or looked and lunched the three Klotz enthusiasts, Mrs. C. A. Klotz and her two daughters, Dorothy and Mrs. Robert Bennett, Mrs. Melvin Jones, Mrs. Perry Fiske, Miriam Burns, Mrs. J. S. Pritchard, Mrs. Frank Green and her two guests, Mrs. L. A. Jenkins and Miss Hildegarde Miller, Mrs. T. C. Dennehy, Dorothy Higbie, Mrs. S. L. Reinhart, the two Virginias, Wilson and Gittins, who are such promising young players, Gloria Chandler and Miss Carrie Kuhnert.

Style Points for Her from Eight to Twelve

by Corinne Lowe

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—"Go in and out the windows!" If children played this delightfully foolish game with its accompanying minor song the length of 5th avenue, they would be at their wits end to choose the prettiest frock before which to kneel. It might, indeed, involve no risk to let their mothers choose for them. For even if the most sensible garments are selected, they turn out to be delicious in color and disguised as to their essential quality by touches of applique or embroidery.

Aside from the onerous necessity of changing the clothes frequently, a little girl of today rivals her mother in range of costumes. Linen in the morning, for instance; a crêpe de chine frock for sports; voile or dotted swiss for appearance at tea; and chiffon for parties. Each of these fabrics offers all the colors of the flower bed from which to choose.

Like your mother, however, you must weigh with some seriousness the question of coloring and that other one of line. If your silhouette resembles that of your pet pigeon, you had better take heed as to where you place your waist line. Short waisted effects are said to be coming in. Beltless frocks are only exceeded in number by those which place the belt low. Little skirts have adapted the godet mode to vary the monotony of straight lines or omnipresent pleats.

Today's model is designed for a little girl between 8 and 12 years. The plaited skirt is of serge and the tunic of crepe—both of navy blue. A panel front and smart fence collar distinguish the tunic. And the tunic, by the way, is in high favor and promises further exploitation in the fall. Such a frock as this is excellent for travel. Moreover, it is especially suitable for coming school days—but sh!—one mustn't mention such things in vacation.

TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

BY JANE EDDINGTON.

Creamy Chocolate Icings.

Chocolate icings are something of a perplexity because there are so many ways of making them. A creamy icing, much like a chocolate fudge but uncooked, may be made with one egg white, two tablespoons of cold water, two cups of sifted confectioners' sugar, and two ounces of melted chocolate. Whisk the sugar into the egg white and water, a little at a time, and finally, when it is all in, beat in melted chocolate.

Since the chocolate will thicken the icing a bit, the foundation must not be too thick before it is added, not quite thick enough to spread on a cake without running off. There is chance here for considerable difference in the final thickness, according to the consistency of the icing before the chocolate is added. A thick layer of this on a small cup cake turns it into a real bonbon.

A lighter shade of icing, but creamy, may be made as follows. Put an orange of chocolate, thre tablespoons of sugar, and a tablespoon of water in a warm place to melt. When the chocolate is melted enough to mix with the sugar and water, put it directly over a hot fire and stir until it is smooth and bright, then stir it into an icing made of egg white and sugar beaten together until it is thick enough to spread without running off a cake. Flavor with vanilla or to suit. This will be milk chocolate shade.

Another way is to beat an egg yolk, add one-half of cream whipped, then two ounces of melted chocolate, and finally two cups of confectioners' sugar, a little at a time. Should it seem too dry (from the chocolate) set into bowl of hot water, and beat thoroughly.

My Skin

Is due to a super-clay

By Edna Wallace Hopper

After 40 years in the limelight—after 35 years as a stage star—I still look a girl of 19. The thousands who see me daily know that, and wonder how this came about.

Edna Wallace Hopper Photo 1923

The chief reason lies in a new-type clay. I started years ago with the old-type clays, crude and muddy, which so many still employ. They brought me amazing results. But I have kept in touch with scientific progress, and in 20 years it has brought me a clay which gives multiplied results.

Today I have what experts call the last word in facial clay. It is white, refined and dainty. And it embodies many new discoveries. Until I obtained this, I never knew one-tenth what clay could do.

Now I am supplying this clay to others. I call it my White Youth Clay. All druggists and toilet counters have it—exactly the clay I use. And I am stating its results to girls who want more beauty and to women who want youth.

My White Youth Clay purges the skin of all that clogs and mars it. It draws out the causes of blackheads and blemishes. It brings the blood to the skin to nourish and revive it. The result is a rosy afterglow which amazes and delights. Many women seem to drop ten years with one application.

It firms the skin, combats all lines and wrinkles, reduces enlarged pores. No girl or woman who once enjoys its results will ever go without it.

I want you to know what it does. My good fortune obtained it for me. I was famous as a beauty, so every expert sought to give me the greatest aids to beauty. Now I wish to bring like benefits to millions.

I will mail you a test of my White Youth Clay if you will send the coupon. Please, for your own sake, do it now. It will be a revelation.

MEN'S FASHIONS

BY C BY A. T. GALLICO.

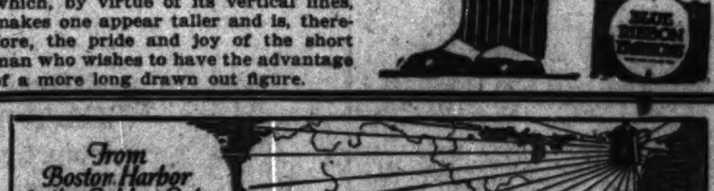
Stripes That Lengthen.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—The stripe's the thing this season. The only suitings not striped are the regular plain dark blues that are always a staple, the oxford gray staple, and various and sundry mixtures. Accepting the striped suit as the important event in the fall suit season, it remains for us to reconcile this style with the requirements in line and proportion of the tall, lanky man, whom we have formerly warned to avoid stripes.

What is this tall man going to do, if, when he enters a store to procure himself a new suit, he is confronted with countless striped suits, many of which he would like to wear, but dare not, remembering our words of warning, and is offered only a small choice outside of the striped field?

Here is the solution: There are two kinds of stripes, the strong, prominent stripes, such as a white stripe on a black or dark blue or brown background, or another equally light colored and pronounced stripe on a dark background, and the stripe which is so blended into the suit color that unless one is near one does not realize there is a stripe present. This latter stripe is not one that adds height to the man who wears it, thus the tall man may wear it without fear of adding an inch or so to his figure.

Also, such a suit is as popular and as much in the running as the one with the more pronounced stripe which, by virtue of its vertical lines, makes one appear taller and is, therefore, the pride and joy of the short man who wishes to have the advantage of a more long drawn out figure.



A nation's cup of coffee

CHASE & SANBORN'S Seal Brand Coffee is one brand that is bought from coast to coast in competition with local brands. It is a tribute to Chase & Sanborn's sixty years' experience that this one brand of coffee suits the tastes of so many people—so many kinds of people.

It is a safe deduction that your first sip of Seal Brand will win you, as it has others. The flavor is not only delightful, but it is always the same—meal after meal. That's Seal Brand, in the sealed tin.

Must Have Coon Coat This Winter, Girls, if You Heed Dame Style

BY MAUREEN M'KERNAN.

If you're young and carefree—and if you particularly want that "collegiate" look, there's nothing to do about it but buy a raccoon coat. There's a chance for a girl's ankles to show, but a man may wear hip boots or smoking slippers—either one—for all they'll show beneath his coat.

That seems to be the edict for next winter regarding fur coats. It was pronounced yesterday afternoon at the opening of the fur show at the Chicago theater given by the Associated Fur Industries of Chicago. Of course, there's summer ermine and caracul, broadtail and even beaver and Hudson seal, so long so scarce, but always, just as you had forgotten it, across the picture came a swaggering miss or a swaggering man, in the big, shaggy, bear like raccoon coat.

The newest note is a tube shaped coat, of maple toned [that's another fancy light brown] broadtail [and that's a shorn baby lamb] that comes just to the new short hem line, from L. Perlson. The most gorgeous was a white ermine cape, reversible, with one side covered with 3,000 ermine tails, designed by L. Friedman, who has won prizes in years before for his designs.

The most expensive is a $35,000 sable coat.

There are many jackettes shown, one or two coats of an interesting short length, longer than the jackette. One is of a soft brown fur with the smartest of high necked waistcoats of white ermine for "country club wear." A few coats are made up of contrasting furs, but the most effective cling to one tone, though two furs are usually used.

The Fashion Art League furnishes the dresses the models wear, in the afternoon and evening acts. The most effective dress in the whole show, in the eye of the woman of ordinary circumstances, is a black satin street dress, long of sleeve, tubular shaped, with tiered skirt that does not break the outline, and a long scarf of white, designed by Dorothy Stephenson, one of the youngest members of the league.

There's an attempt to show some wigs on the models, one of whom wears a bizarre gold ribbon wig—which one can but hope gets no further than the fur fashion show. There's another pretty young thing who willingly allows herself to be decked out in some sort of colored wig—leaving her fur coats only worth gazing upon.

The models are pretty, they convince you that short skirts are back again, and the coats offer enough styles and colors to suit anyone. It's soothing to see through the maze of sable and ermine, the humble musk rat given a good place and the return of that old reliable Hudson seal.

Fine Time in Store for Sally's Guests at the Aurora Fair

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Why would you like to visit Aurora and the Central States fair?

Well, boys and girls, are you the busy bees, working on your letters to win invitations to my splendid all day outing at the Central States Fair, Friday, Aug. 15?

Remember that the one hundred invitations go to the boys and girls who, I feel, will enjoy the outing most. So think what a great day it will be, how you'll enjoy all the treats I've told you about and tell me in your letters.

To help you, I'll tell you about some more of the fun we have in store for you.

In the huge stock show, we'll see three hundred horses and cattle so big they will remind you of elephants. And washed, shined and polished, cleaner than you ever thought animals could be, there'll be pigs and sheep, a dog show—well, just all kinds of fine animals.

We'll see them in barns as big as the coliseum and they will be paraded for us. They come from all parts of the United States, to compete for prizes, and they are among the finest animals known.

And, of course, there'll be all sorts of other shows—more than I can tell you about by far. There are roller coasters, side shows, a farm circus. Clowns—everything you ever found at a county fair. And there's the wonderful ride out along the Lincoln highway in motor busses to the fair grounds.

I pick the lucky one hundred Thursday morning. It means that you have today and tomorrow to get your letters in the mail, so start them right away.

Ravinia winners—your invitations were mailed yesterday afternoon, so you should have them today. If you don't, please telephone me tomorrow at THE TRIBUNE, as I don't want one of you to miss out on this glorious afternoon at Ravinia.

The New York Times.

New York, Aug. 4.—At a moment when so many causes of a favorable character were simultaneously at work—low money rates, high grain prices, and Europe's agreement on the Dawes plan of reparations payments—it is not easy to fix the determining influence on today's financial markets.

It was within the bounds of easy possibility that stock market prices and foreign exchange rates would even have declined on realizing sales by speculators who had anticipated the week-end diplomatic settlement at London. For a time there was evidence of something of the kind on the stock exchange, but it did not last, perhaps because the new spirit of hopefulness had become too strong.

Stocks Move Upward.

In the stock market prices moved in the end forward again. Many issues established new high records for the current year to date, while some issues established new highs for all time. Around noon a heavy demand developed for Steel common, which forced that stock up to 110, a new high record for the current year. General Electric at 281 established a new high record for all time.

The rapid rise in Steel imparted strength in other sections of the list and this firmness continued until the closing hour, when another period of irregularity developed. But while net changes were irregular at the close, the averages ended the day higher. This was due to the gain in the industrial section offsetting the general reaction in the railroad group.

Exchange Rates Higher.

Exchange on the European cities rose further. What was more immediately to the point, the dollar loans of England, France, and Belgium advanced to the highest prices in their history, except for the brief period in the spring of 1922, when American capital, released by home trade reaction, had its first spell of enthusiasm over sound foreign investments.

The United Kingdom 5½s got within ½ point of the highest price ever reached; the Belgian and French loans were only 1 to 4 points below their previous best record. Somewhat by way of contrast, even today's advance in exchange on London, Paris, and Brussels left the rates still far below the highest of 1923 and 1922. But this merely served for proof that the European exchange market was by no means wholly governed by political misgivings in its long downward reaction after 1922.

The way to protection in the broad and active sugar market

THE fluctuations of the sugar market are swift and acute, as every wholesale grocer has cause to know. A jobber must sell sugar at the market, not at what he paid for it. His sugar is worth exactly what somebody will pay at the time the jobber sells, and no more. He cannot base his selling price on cost.

The need for protection is obvious. The way to protection is now equally obvious to a large and increasing number of jobbers and manufacturers of sweets who day by day are trading in sugar futures. The volume of daily transactions on the Sugar Exchange is a real protection to those who use it. May we send you our booklet, "Sugar Futures," which gives all important details?

Even Short Want Ads Sell Quickly!

Real estate buyers are constant readers of The Tribune Want Ad columns. The response from these readers is prompt, and a sufficient number of interested prospects usually respond to even the barest statement. If the Want Advertiser will word his Want Ad in such a manner that it will carry a real message, the search for a buyer will be greatly shortened, for any reader will know at once whether he wishes to follow up that particular offer. If the property offered for sale is what he wants, he will respond more quickly, in order to be on the ground first.

Mrs. J. Zebor ran this Want Ad for two weeks, and found a buyer for her house. It was cancelled June 4th.

CORN CONTINUES ITS UPWARD TURN; WHEAT IS EASIER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Corn values continue on the upgrade with all deliveries and also cash grain at a new high for the season. At one time a few scattered buying orders came into the pit and found practically nothing for sale and put the price up more than 2c in less than a minute with December touching $1.07½, or 13c over the low of last week. While the bulge brought in realizing sales the finish was 1⅞@2c higher for the new crop futures, with September up ⅛c. Wheat had a range of 1¼@1⅝c, the smallest in several weeks, and closed easy with net losses of ⅜@⅝c. Oats were ⅝@1c higher, and rye unchanged.

With United Kingdom markets closed there was no aggressive export buying, and the market felt the effect of hedging pressure and profit taking which more than offset the reports of black rust damage from Manitoba and parts of North Dakota.

Murray's report estimating the domestic wheat crop at 807,000,000 bu, or 67,000,000 bu more than a month ago, and 21,000,000 bu more than last year, was construed as bearish, while Le Count's estimate of 225,000,000 bu for the three Canadian provinces, or half of last year's, led to some buying.

Statistics Are Bearish.

Statistics were moderately bearish, the visible increasing 5,278,000 bu for the week, including 1,526,000 bu at Wichita, which was included in the statement for the first time. With a big movement under way, the visible is expected to gain steadily for some months. Local arrivals were 903 cars, of which more than half were applied on previous contracts. Sentiment throughout the day was decidedly mixed. September here closed at $1.31⅝@1.31½. December at $1.35⅝@1.35⅝, and May at $1.40⅝@1.40⅝.

Erratic Market in Corn.

Corn market was decidedly unsettled, with actual prices in the pit 1c or more out of line with blackboard quotations at times, so fast were the fluctuations. The general trade was not as large as of late, and the market easily influenced. Prices had a range of 2⅝@4⅝c, with the finish at intermediate figures. September closed at $1.14⅝@1.15, December at $1.05⅝@1.05⅝, and May at 1.06⅝@1.06⅝.

There was nothing in the general run of news to attract attention, but many of the local traders who were out in the country over Sunday came back impressed with the decided lateness of the new crop and were on the buying side early. Murray estimated the crop at 2,635,000,000 bu, or 120,000,000 bu more than a month ago, and 411,000,000 bu less than last year's harvest. Receipts were 254 cars.

Expect Big Oats Crop.

Strength in corn was responsible for the upturn in oats, as Murray's report estimated the yield at 1,413,000,000 bu, the highest figures put out so far, and 113,000,000 bu in excess of last year. Rains over part of the belt have checked harvest and threshing.

Houses with eastern connections were fair buyers of rye, while selling was largely in the way of profit taking. Export sales of around 100,000 bu were reported from the seaboard.

Provisions Close Higher.

Trade in provisions was somewhat less active, but the upturn in hogs led to scattered investment buying of lard, which more than offset selling by smaller packers. Closing trades were 7½@17½c higher on lard, 15@30c up on ribs, and 20c higher on bellies. Cash trade fair. Prices follow:

CASH·GRAIN NEWS

Export business in grain was restricted by the holiday in the United Kingdom, but sales were finally estimated at 300,000 to 400,000 bu wheat and 50,000 to 100,000 bu rye, Germany taking some wheat and rye. At the gulf there was a sale of hard winters for first half September at 7½c over Chicago September, with No. 2 Manitoba c. i. f. Montreal at 12⅝c over Winnipeg October, and No. 3 Manitoba en route Montreal at 10⅝c over.

Chicago handlers sold 15,000 bu wheat, 110,000 bu corn, and 80,000 bu oats to the domestic trade with 25,000 bu wheat to store. Charters were for 220,000 bu corn at 1½c to Buffalo.

Basis on cash wheat here was easier at September price to ½c over for No. 2 hard while No. 2 red was ½@1½c over. Receipts were 903 cars. Liberal receipts are expected today, as 350 cars of all grain arrived too late for inspection in time for yesterday's market. St. Louis and Omaha were unchanged to 1c lower, and Kansas City unchanged to 1c higher.

Cash corn prices here were ½@1c higher, but the basis was easier at 1½@2½c over September for No. 2 yellow with No. 3 mixed ¼@1½c over and white 1½@2c over the future. Receipts were 254 cars. Outside markets were generally unchanged to 1c higher.

New oats are commencing to move with 4 cars in from Illinois. One car of No. 2 white tested 34 lbs and sold at 55c. Basis on No. 2 white was 4@4½c over and No. 3 white 2¼@3c over September. Receipts were 65 cars.

WORLD'S·GRAIN MARKET·NEWS

That the wheat market should continue to absorb the millions of bushels of combined hedging and profit taking sales and values hold so well is the surprising feature of the market. Where the wheat has gone to is the mystery. It is a good deal the same with corn, prices advancing to new high levels for the season and holding fairly well. Caution is needed in buying only on sharp breaks.

To have December corn jump 4c in the face of the sharp bulge on Saturday making 8c from the close on Friday, is the most difficult thing to understand that the corn traders have had. The real reason is probably due to the fact that there is no hedging sales, hence all sales are short sales and those making them are afraid to stand short when the price goes up and rush to cover. It is largely a case of one short buying from another.

"It is almost impossible to believe the poorness of the corn crop says Herbert J. Blum, who motored from Indianapolis to Richmond and then to Fort Wayne, Ind. on Sunday. In a distance of 100 miles from Richmond to Fort Wayne, he failed to see a good field.

Arrivals of all grains at Chicago on Monday were 1,588 cars, including more than 350 cars that were not inspected. The run was the largest of the year. There were 1,812 cars of all grains on track and 982 cars at elevators yesterday morning, a total of 3,794.

A crop expert who has been over Indiana says corn prospects on the bottom lands never were poorer, owing to floods during June and early July preventing planting. Those planted since have little chance of making a crop.

"The rise in corn prices has intensified the sentiment of farmers to sell their crop," says an Abilene, Kas., message to Thomson & McKinnon. "With the heavy yield of wheat bringing around $1.10 per bu and expected to go higher, the marketing of corn, now in as fine condition as ever known at this date, would mean an influx of bank deposits and an early increase in the buying power."

TWO WOMEN PAY $787,000 FOR CHICAGO FLATS

BY AL CHASE.

Ida Kramer yesterday bought the Spanish Manor apartments at 1032-46 Sheridan road from Abe Goldstein and Rissman & Hirschfield for a reported $612,000, subject to $350000. The lot is 120x253 and the building contains seventy-three flats and four shops in the basement. It was recently completed, being about 75 per cent rented. Miss Kramer gave in part payment the thirty flats at 2812 Cambridge at $275,000, subject to $168,500. Liepold & Hicks, managers of the real estate department of George M. Forman & Co., were brokers.

Nathan Schiff of Cincinnati sold the thirty-six flats at the northwest corner of Blackstone and 50th to Sylvia Morris for a reported $175,000. Isador Ferguson & Co., managers of the property, and Friedman Brothers were brokers for the seller and Ludwig Nathan & Co. represented the buyer.

War Veteran Hospital Sold.

The U. S. Veteran hospital No. 30 annex, at 7531 Stony Island, leased to the government until July 1, has been sold by the Jackson Park Hospital association to Dr. Frank Deacon, president of the Chicago hospital, for a reported $225,000, subject to $70,000. The building will be refurnished and operated as a modern hospital with more than a hundred beds. The lot is 180x110. Jenson & Wolff were brokers.

The Congress hotel has bought twenty-six feet of frontage on Michigan avenue, sixty-two feet south of Congress, from the Marshall Field estate for an indicated $100,000. The Congress now owns all but two small parcels of land under the hotel.

George Lapin & Co. represented H. S. Caplan in the sale of his southwest corner of 22d and Austin, reported in this department on Saturday. THE TRIBUNE doesn't wish to become involved in an argument between brokers and merely prints this because Mr. Lapin states that one of the brokerage firms mentioned Saturday had nothing to do with the sale; in fact, he says he never heard of the firm. Neither have we.

Start on Woodlawn "Coöp."

Work has started on a thirty apartment "coöp" at 6134 Kimbark from plans by Kocher & Larson, under the direction of Fred M. Lorish. It will have four, five and six room flats, some of which will have sun parlors thirty-eight feet across. A clubroom, playrooms and a banquet hall are planned for the basement.

The 134x166 site was bought from William S. Sparrow and Charles H. Spencer, pioneer settlers in Woodlawn, who have lived on the property for forty years. The building will be called the Illini, commemorating the tribe of Indians that in the early days made trails through Woodlawn. It will be completed March 1, 1925. W. K. Young & Bro. will have charge of the sale of the apartments.

NEWS OF THE CROPS

Nat C. Murray's report, as compiled by Clement, Curtis & Co., showed material increases in the prospective grain crops during the last month. Condition of corn is 72.3. Part of the improvement in the corn crop in central states is offset by reduction in southern states. Crop generally has good color, but stand is poor and much is tasseling below normal height. Comparisons follow, last three ciphers omitted:

A total wheat crop for the three Canadian provinces of 225,000,000 bu is estimated by George M. Le Count, the Stein, Alstrin & Co. crop expert. He gives Alberta 40,000,000 bu, Saskatchewan 135,000,000 bu, and Manitoba 50,000,000 bu. Last year's final returns were 450,000,000 bu.

Oklahoma corn condition is officially estimated at 81, indicating a yield of 74,313,000 bu, compared with 56,723,000 bu a month ago, and 37,536,000 bu last year.

"Rust is the real thing here, but coming too late to cause heavy damage in this section," wired Burton Hungerford to Logan & Bryan from New Rockford, N. D. "However, I am afraid far west and northwest counties will be hard hit."

Twenty Year 6% External Loan Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated August 1, 1924 — Due August 1, 1944

Interest payable February 1 and August 1. Coupon bonds in denomination of $1,000, registerable as to principal only. Principal and interest payable in New York City in United States gold coin of the present standard of weight and fineness at The National City Bank of New York, the Fiscal Agent of the loan, without deduction for any present or future Norwegian taxes, in time of war as well as in time of peace, irrespective of the nationality of the holders.

Non-redeemable except for Sinking Fund

Norway agrees to redeem the entire loan through a cumulative sinking fund payable semi-annually commencing February 1, 1930. The Government may itself purchase bonds for the sinking fund or shall redeem the requisite amount of bonds by lot semi-annually at par.

These bonds are the direct obligation of the Kingdom of Norway, which agrees that if, in the future, it shall sell, offer for public subscription or in any manner dispose of any bonds or loan secured by lien on any revenue or asset of the Kingdom, the bonds of this loan shall be secured equally and ratably therewith.

The thrifty character of the Norwegian people, their excellent record for meeting their obligations promptly and the conservative financial policy of their government justifies the high credit standing of the nation.

The Norwegian 6% Sterling Loan of £4,000,000 (approximately $20,000,000) due in 1961, issued in London in 1921, was quoted on August 1, 1924, at 103, a basis of 5.84%. The five Norwegian issues listed on the London Stock Exchange were quoted August 1, 1924, at prices giving an average yield of 5.78%. It is officially stated that no default of principal or interest has ever taken place on a Norwegian National Government loan.

The total debt of Norway, June 30, 1924, was $423,383,720. Against this debt, the state owns properties, mostly revenue-producing, valued at $335,000,000. The total national wealth of Norway was authoritatively estimated in 1920 at $3,350,000,000. The proceeds of the present loan will be used to fund short term indebtedness and to create dollar balances.

Application will be made to list these bonds on the New York Stock Exchange

We offer these bonds if, as and when issued and received by us, subject to approval of counsel. Delivery in temporary form is expected on or about August 14, 1924.

The Significance of the 'Pittsburg Plus' Decision

Number 1 of a Series on the Economic Soundness of Middle West Industry from the Standpoint of Investment Capital

By John Burnham & Co., Inc.

The recent decision of the Federal Trade Commission against the 'Pittsburg Plus' price system will have a far-reaching effect, not only upon the steel industry of the Chicago area, but also upon the whole economic structure of the Middle West.

* * * *

Since 1894 the United States has been the world's foremost consumer and, what is more important, the foremost producer of iron and steel. Twenty years ago our per capita consumption was 300 pounds—in 1923 it had increased to 900 pounds. No other nation has experienced such a growth in home consumption. During the past five years our output of steel amounted to 55% to 63% of the world's total production. And as yet the industry is comparatively young.

* * * *

The Pittsburg district, carried along by the momentum of an early start, held the supremacy for many years as the dominating steel center of America. But the movement westward in the geographical location of numerous large mills became more pronounced year by year. The period from 1913 to 1923 brought an increase in the producing capacity of all mills of eighteen million tons—and 50% of this tremendous increase represented capacity installed west of the State of Pennsylvania, chiefly in the Chicago area. We have been witnessing, in consequence, a gradual decentralization of the industry.

* * * *

Despite trade practices which retarded temporarily, to a certain extent, the steel producing development of the Middle West, the irresistible forces of natural advantages and economic conditions have been working to make this the most important steel base and, inevitably, the chief manufacturing and commercial region of the continent.

* * * *

The abandonment of the 'Pittsburg Plus' method of determining prices on many steel products, according to the majority report of the Federal Trade Commission, will return to steel users the natural advantages of the location deprived them by the system, will result in lower prices for finished steel products, will reduce the cost of farm implements, building and road construction costs, will save the farmers of eleven Middle Western states $30,000,000 annually, and the farmers of Illinois alone $3,000,000.

* * * *

Once the order goes into effect it is reasonable to forecast a more rapid gravitation of steel plants to the Chicago area, which will become the permanent base of the nation's industry. Large capital expenditures will be made for mill extensions, new mills, and steel fabricating industries. A conservative estimate of this outlay within the next few years is placed at $250,000,000.

* * * *

The further prosperity of this basic industry in the Chicago area means the prosperity of business in its entirety. Concurrently there should be augmented production in many diversified lines, with a much greater demand for building materials, machinery, power and labor.

* * * *

The large scale development now taking place in Middle West industry has a direct bearing upon the subject of safe and profitable investment. The ultimate benefit to the investor will lie in a decided gain in the elements of security underlying invested capital, with a resultant enhancement in the value of sound Preferred and Common stocks.

RAILROADS READY TO HELP FARMER CASH IN ON GRAIN

BY O. A. MATHER.

With prosperity smiling on the American farmer through good crops and high prices, the much maligned railroads are making every effort to help the farmer "cash in" this year. True, the carriers are looking out for themselves through increased traffic and earnings but the vast outlay in equipment, etc., of the last three years will redound to the general benefit.

The railroads now have in the neighborhood of 300,000 surplus freight cars available for service and, despite the increasing movement of grain, there are no indications of a shortage. The American Railway association has sent out a letter to all members of the regional advisory boards calling attention to the necessity of maintaining an adequate car supply in the west and southwest.

Able to Handle Grain.

"The roads will be able to handle every bushel of grain that is offered without delay," Robert C. Ross, general chairman of the midwest regional advisory board, stated yesterday. "They have distributed their surplus equipment in those sections most likely to need it. On July 15 they had 47,000 cars designed for grain shipments assembled and stored in the grain producing territory. The roads placed 70,874 new freight cars in service in the first six months of this year."

On July 1 box cars on western roads were equal to 96 per cent of ownership. These roads held 19,173 more cars than a year ago, and 75,737 more system cars on home lines. Eastern and southern roads had 39 per cent fewer western box cars in their possession than last year.

Discuss Foreign Loans.

With the European reparations tangle on the high road to speedy settlement and a plethora of investment funds in this country, a movement of American capital to Europe was discussed yesterday by bankers. It was predicted that about $100,000,000, or half of the forthcoming German loan, will be offered in the United States. It was guessed that the loan will carry a 7 per cent coupon and be sold at an attractive discount, as was the Austrian financing last year.

Flotation of a $25,000,000 loan for Norway was announced last night by an American banking syndicate. The bonds will run twenty years, bear 6 per cent, and will be offered today at 97½. The loan supplants a series of short term credits and the proceeds will be used to retire maturing notes and create dollar balances in this country.

Improvement in Steel Trade.

Several indications of betterment in the iron and steel industry appeared yesterday. Increased sales of pig iron in the east were reported, the total for last week being nearly double that of the preceding week. The seven mills of the Duquesne Steel company, one of the largest units of the Steel corporation, and which furnishes export material for the Ford and General Motors companies, resumed capacity operations, compared with a 50 per cent schedule in recent weeks.

The big Homestead plant of the Steel corporation also increased its operating ratio. The Bethlehem Steel corporation started another blast furnace at its Bethlehem plant, while the bar mill at the Lackawanna plant will change from a single turn to a double turn basis this week.

Illinois Power and Light.

C. J., Jacksonville, Ill.: The Illinois Power and Light corporation owns and operates or controls electric power and light, gas, heat and city railway properties rendering service to over 300 municipalities. It is issuing $5,000,000 of 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock, making a total of $21,350,800 of this stock now outstanding. The company's properties are appraised at $124,106,359, which, after proper deductions, leaves net assets applicable to the 7 per cent preferred stock equal to over $219 per share of this stock now outstanding. The net income available for bond discount, depreciation and dividends for the twelve months ended March 31, 1924, was $4,832,582. After providing for depreciation and bond discount, the balance available for preferred stock dividends was equal to over 2.70 times the annual dividend requirements on the present outstanding 7 per cent preferred stock. About 70 per cent of the net earnings is derived from electric light and power, gas and miscellaneous sources other than transportation. This is a rather high grade preferred stock.

Brief Answers.

J. G., Muskegon, Mich.: Associated Simmons Hardware companies 6½ per cent secured notes of 1933 are not of the highest grade. They represent a stock risk, being secured solely by pledge of stock collateral. They are a suitable investment for a business man's spare funds, but not for savings.

Otherwise net changes were confined to fractions. Wahl, Hupp and Carbide were higher but Swift International, Wrigley, Hurley and Montgomery Ward were lower. Stewart-Warner, Boone Woolen and Yellow Manufacturing held about steady.

W. A. Wieboldt & Co.

First Mortgage 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds

Dated August 1, 1924 — Due August 1, 1939

Authorized $5,000,000; to be presently outstanding $2,500,000

Principal and semi-annual interest (August 1 and February 1), payable at the office of A. G. Becker & Co., in Chicago or New York. Bonds in coupon form in interchangeable denominations of $1000, $500, and $100, registerable as to principal only. Redeemable at the option of the Company in whole or in part on sixty days' notice at 103 and accrued interest to August 1, 1927, premium thereafter decreasing ¼ of 1% for each year or part of year thereafter. Illinois Merchants Trust Company, Chicago, Trustee.

History and Business: W. A. Wieboldt & Co., owns and operates two large department stores in important outlying retail sections of Chicago and a third store is now under construction. The business, which was incorporated in 1907, was established in 1883 in a store twenty-four by sixty feet. Sales for the first year were $17,000; in 1923 they were over $15,000,000. Popular priced merchandise is featured, and about 90% of sales are made for cash.

Upon completion of its third store, the Company will occupy approximately twenty-three acres of floor space in three of the most important retail sections of the city.

Property: The Company owns in fee simple all the land and buildings occupied by it with the exception of a small structure 48 x 100 feet which is under a very favorable long term lease having about twenty-five years to run.

The West Town Store buildings, with an adjoining warehouse, have a total area of approximately 338,000 square feet. The North Town Store, which is principally a seven-story and basement brick and concrete building, has a total area of approximately 225,000 square feet. A two-story and basement reinforced fireproof addition is now being built to this store.

The Mid-West Store, now under construction, will be a five-story and basement steel and concrete fireproof building over the major portion of a site fronting 400 feet on Ashland Boulevard, 154 feet on Monroe Street, 147 feet on Ogden Avenue and 90 feet on Adams Street. It will have a total area of about 368,000 square feet.

Sinking Fund: The mortgage securing these bonds will provide for a sinking fund beginning August 1, 1927, into which the Company will pay $62,500 annually to be used for the purchase of bonds at or below the redemption price, or under conditions specified in the Trust Deed for their redemption if not available in the open market.

Earnings: Net earnings, after all charges including interest paid, but before Federal Taxes, for the five years ended January 31, 1924, as certified to by Messrs. Ernst & Ernst, certified public accountants, averaged $780,805, or over 5.6 times the maximum annual interest requirement of $137,500 on this issue. For the twelve months ended January 31, 1924, such earnings were equivalent to over ten times this annual requirement.

The business has earned a net profit in every one of the forty-one years since it was established. In every one of the last twenty-five years, although the second store has been in operation for only six years, net earnings exceeded the maximum annual interest requirement on this issue of bonds.

Security: These First Mortgage 5½% Sinking Fund Gold Bonds will be a direct obligation of the Company and will be secured, in opinion of counsel, by an absolute first mortgage on all the fixed property of the Company now owned (with the exception of several small pieces of realty not being used by the Company, the aforementioned leasehold, and delivery equipment in the total amount of $340,871.38), on the North Town Store addition and Mid-West Store now in process of construction, and on all hereafter acquired property to be used or operated in connection with any of the property now mortgaged. The value of the property covered directly by the first mortgage securing this issue, according to an independent appraisal as of May 1, 1924, plus the proceeds of this financing which are being applied to the completion of present construction, is $8,699,516, equivalent to $3,479 for each $1,000 bond of this issue. The balance sheet of the Company, audited as of January 31, 1924, but after giving effect to this financing, shows net assets, after deduction of all liabilities and reserves, applicable to the payment of these bonds, of $11,179,960, equal to $4,471 for each $1,000 bond of this issue

The Chicago Title & Trust Company will issue its Mortgage Guarantee Policy for $2,500,000, the amount of this issue, insuring the Company's title to the mortgaged property.

These bonds are offered subject to prior sale, when, as and if issued and received by us and subject to approval of counsel. All legal details in connection with this issue will be approved by Herbert A. Friedlich, Esq., Chicago, as counsel for the Bankers. Temporary bonds will be deliverable in the first instance.

ANTI-CAPITALISM BREAKS DOWN IN WAR AFTERMATH

BY SCRUTATOR.

The fresh crop of war reviews called forth by the tenth anniversary of the conflict, as a rule, sum up the cost to humanity in stupendous sums.

By way of mitigation, not defense, it is perhaps permissible to call attention to another aspect.

In the estimates of economic losses and the depletion of the national wealth of the European countries two things appear to be overlooked.

1. Most "wealth," not immediately consumed, has to be replaced in ten years anyhow.

2. The very magnitude of the war losses was the result of the unprecedented productive capacity of modern industrialism, which created so much wealth to be destroyed. But that is also reassurance of the speedy replacement of the vanished wealth, if mankind will heed the one clear lesson of the war's aftermath. That is a revindication of the classical economics, a factual demonstration of the superiority of free enterprise over other systems of economic effort.

The real collapse revealed in the red decade is the collapse of the collectivist theories of production, wherever put into practice. The economics of the anti-capitalist cults have broken down at the very time when these wishful theories have been making immense strides as quasi-religious creeds and codes—captivating popular imagination, directing political action, coloring all literary and artistic output, invading the schools and intriguing the clergy.

The facts stand out—nations have recovered from their war losses in the measure in which they have preserved private initiative in business, except where they were dependent upon trade with other peoples shackled by socialism.

We are about to witness again one of history's staple sketches, the crash of a millenial wave upon the hard rocks of reality—the facts of life against which all such cults constitute a psychic revolt.

But is not capitalism itself responsible for the war? To dispute such a fantastic perversion of history is a waste of effort because the mind that can seriously entertain it is not open to appeals based on the disinterested contemplation of disagreeable facts. As well say, however, that capitalism is responsible for the canine teeth in human jaws.

Capitalism can be blamed for the immense loss of life in so far as the productive energies of capitalism were responsible for the existence of such dense populations. For capitalism produced cannon fodder as well as wealth to be destroyed.

Capitalism may also be held responsible for scientific warfare to some extent, but in relation to the numbers mobilized the casualties of scientific warfare probably do not match the murderous scrimmages and forays of precapitalistic eras.

Who can minimize the biological losses of the war? No man in his right mind. The snuffing out of so many valuable life strains was a major human disaster. But the war only accelerated a cycle that our civilization has already entered, caused by the expanding differential of the birth rates of the more and the less capable. There are conditions and social policies of peace destructive to valuable life strains as well as war. The pacifist is usually precluded by the doctrine of estoppel from pleading the biological cost of war, because he or she is nearly always an advocate of social policies that burden the capable and foster the incompetent.

Alleged moral decadence since the war and symptoms of mental illness are probably for the most part due to the processes mentioned above. Most human problems are a matter of "just folks" and if folks are actually worse now than formerly, it is probably because folks are different, there are more of one kind and less of the other than before.

DRY GOODS AND GARMENT NEWS

[Copyright: 1924: Fairchild News Service.]

NEW YORK.—Gray goods trading was quieter than for some time and there was a slightly easier tone The 60x64, 5.35 yards to the pound, sold on the spot for 9⅛ cents and at 9¾ cents for late contracts. The same was true for the 68x72, 4.75 yards, at 10½c and 10¾c, while the 72x76, 4.25 yards, sold at 12c even and at 12⅛c. The 80x80 4.00 yards to the pound, sold at 13½c.

NEW YORK.—Following Saturday's complete shutdown in the burlap market, due to reports from Calcutta of severe floods in the jute district, trading was resumed with drastic advances on all grades. Whereas spots were available Friday at 6.50@6.60c, holders were asking 7.05c and the spot 10½s were up to 10.15c August shipments were 6.90c for 8s, an advance of 30 points, and 9.40c for 10½s, an advance of 40 points.

BOSTON.—Wool trading gave every indication that the strong market conditions of the last three weeks would continue well into August, if not indefinitely. Manufacturers were still in the market, although their purchases were smaller than last week, due to reluctancy to pay high prices and the reluctance of some dealers to sell. Although asking prices have advanced since a week ago, actual sales are being made at about the same levels.

Hogs recovered 15@50c of last week's decline, bringing top light butchers to $10.40 and average price to $9.35, against $9.90 and $9.05 respectively last Saturday. Packing grades showed least of the advance, with best 140@240 lb averages up sharpest, causing another widening of the price range. Active competition between shippers and small local packers raised values unevenly at the start, and with many of the 16,000 carried over being held off the market, little of the first gain was erased after mid-session, despite the bearish attitude of larger houses at noon. Pigs advanced 25@50c.

Unfavorable dressed meat markets, caused by bearish influences of Jewish holidays late this week, lowered beef cattle values on hoof mostly 10@25c, all but best grades sharing the reduction. Trading moved slowly, a big share of the supply selling after midsession. Prime 1,366 lb steers topped at $11.75, with best 1,023 lb yearlings at $11.00. Few cattle passed $11.50, the latter price getting 1,539 pounders, with bulk of sales at $9.00 @11.40. Butcher stock was uneven. Calves slumped 25c.

Sheep Receipts Large.

Sheep receipts at 27,000 were second largest since last January and nearly double offerings previous Monday. However, despite this fact, prices lowered only 10@15c, with top western range stock down 10c at $13.90. Natives topped to packers at $13.25, with odd lots to city butchers at $13.35. Aged killing sheep and feeding lambs held firm, the latter bringing upwards to $12.75 for 60 lb Idahos, while fat range ewes brought $7.75. Feeding ewes sold at $5.75, with breeders at $8.25. Range yearling breeders were quoted at $11.25.

Seven western markets received 85,000 cattle, 83,000 hogs and 57,000 sheep, against 73,000 cattle, 92,000 hogs and 44,000 sheep the previous Monday and 84,000 cattle, 107,000 hogs and 38,000 sheep a year ago.

Receipts at Chicago for today are estimated at 8,000 cattle, 18,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep, against 9,307 cattle, 21,114 hogs and 11,854 sheep the corresponding Tuesday a year ago.

FINANCIAL NOTES

The stock market yesterday entered on the ninth successive week of rising prices. Sales exceeded the million share mark for the fifteenth consecutive full session. Bullish sentiment was encouraged by favorable trade reports, Secretary Hughes' prediction of success for the Dawes plan, and the departure from Berlin of the German envoys to the London reparations conference.

Twenty-one stocks established new high records for the year. They included American Can, Colorado Fuel and Iron, Union Tank Car, American Radiator, United States Cast Iron Pipe, Chino Copper, Schulte Stores, Associated Dry Goods, Famous Players, United Fruit, Mack Truck, American International, Chesapeake and Ohio, Pere Marquette preferred, and Pittsburgh and West Virginia. General Electric jumped nearly 11 points to 281, a record high for all time, and then slipped back to 277.

Speculative interest in the railroad group was confined largely to the so-called Van Sweringen stocks. Pittsburgh and West Virginia sold as high as 62⅞, but later reacted two points from its high. Oils and motors again came in for considerable speculative attention. Motor truck stocks were strong on the theory that the revival of prosperity in the agricultural region would stimulate sales. Oils, with few exceptions, showed fractional changes.

Commercial Solvent issues broke about 7 points each in further reflection of a closing of the company's plants. The "A" stock recovered half of its loss and the "B" closed only a point under Saturday's final quotation. Heaviness cropped out in Atlantic Coast Line, National Lead, Pullman, United Railways Investment common, American Agricultural Chemical, Air Reduction, and Pan-American "B," off 1½ to 3 points. S. S. Kresge broke 13 points on two sales.

Stock prices displayed a strong tone in the curb market, which was featured by a series of bullish demonstrations in the oil, motor, and radio shares. Gains of 1 to 2 points were recorded by Standard Oils of Kentucky, Kansas, Nebraska, and Ohio, Prairie Pipe, and Cities Service. General Motors new stock crossed 60 for the first time. Dubilier Radio was up 2⅝ on the day, and Ware Radio closed nearly 2 points higher. Glen Alden Coal advanced 2 points. Other strong spots in the industrial group were Ginter & Co., Midvale Steel, Singer Manufacturing, and American Light and Traction, up 1 to 3½ points.

Establishment of new high records by several foreign and United States government obligations imparted a generally firmer tone to bond prices, although the volume of trading declined. French and Belgian issues sold at the year's highest levels, with other continental loans scoring substantial gains. Price changes in the Liberty bond group were small, but were sufficient to carry the first and fourth 4¼s to 1924 top prices. Increased institutional buying was reported.

Two explanations were forthcoming for the recent strength of General Electric stock, which has advanced 80 points since the first of the year and about 40 in the last month. One is that last December the company carried on its balance sheet the item "stocks, bonds and other securities" at $77,684,402. These securities are said to consist largely of stocks of public utility companies with which the General Electric does business, and their present market value is estimated at close to $150,000,000. The other is that during the war the company wrote off its investment in Germany, but with the reparations question settled it is considered likely that the company stands a good chance to recover at least part of its German property.

Automobile dealers sustained losses estimated at $6,327,475 on sales of used cars in the second quarter of 1924 as against $6,049,600 in the first quarter, according to the National Automobile Dealers' association. The average number of used cars in dealers' hands at the end of the second quarter showed an increase of 12.11 per cent per dealer. Sales of used cars in the first half of the year totaled 3,091,440.

HERE IS THE KIND OF JOB ANY MAN WOULD BE HAPPY IN.

I know what you are looking for; I know how hard it is for a man to find just what he wants in the way of a selling position—and the kind of pay that he wants to go with it. The position that I want to tell you about has everything that is necessary to make a man perfectly comfortable and happy. The pay is big and the position is highly dignified. The nature of the work is tremendously appealing, and we count our prospects by the thousands. You will command a handsome income, which, of course, you will require if you consider yourself even a fairly good salesman. The firm you will be connected with is very large, doing millions in volume annually. The position is not mechanical. You have plenty of freedom, and you are practically your own boss. Lack of experience in our line will not disqualify you for the position if you can show that you have had general business experience. The man who owns this business is a wealthy Chicagoan. He has a reputation for being a live-wire and is a good man to work for. He spends money to make money. He will spend money on you if you have anything tangible and worth while to offer as a trustworthy and qualified salesman. Come and see me and I will arrange an appointment so that you will see the right man. F. G. MORPHETT, Room 1101, 116 S. Michigan.

SALESMANSHIP
8:00 p. m., 630 N. Rush-st.

Corner of Rush and Ontario-st.

The greatest occupation today is selling. Just glance through the help wanted column and note the demand. And this demand for salesmen is constantly increasing—BUT THE REAL OPPORTUNITIES ARE FOR THE TRAINED SALESMAN. Come and hear about our GUARANTEED SYSTEM OF TRAINING FOR SUCCESSFUL SELLING. The only practical method of its kind.

HARRY GROVER RUCH

and other well known authorities
Will speak on the Practice of Salesmanship.

Modern salesmanship is a practical subject. You cannot learn it through theory alone. BUT THE RIGHT PRINCIPLES APPLIED THROUGH CONSTANT PRACTICE WILL MAKE FOR SUCCESS IN SALESMANSHIP—and most men would succeed if they were willing to pay the price of training.

The old saw, that "salesmen are born, not made," has long been disproved. It is true that some are partially successful because of an inborn aptitude for selling, but they are certainly few in number as compared with the tremendous demand. A far greater number can—and do—succeed through study and practice. Our motto is "PRACTICE, PRACTICE—AND MORE PRACTICE."

REAL OPPORTUNITY IN SELLING FOR THE TRAINED SALESMAN.

A good selling position is waiting for you. Do you want it? Previous selling experience is unnecessary. We will show you how you can make from $2,000 to $10,000 per year by our practical, direct method, with actual sales demonstrations and plenty of practice.
